Catholic Welfare Comm. Told of Spiritual Side In Social Agency Work

Community Chests Praised As Vital Factors In Democracy

The annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee was held on Sunday afternoon in the hall of Our Lady's High School. Charles C. Dasey, president of the committee was in charge of the meeting. He referred to the development of good will between the Catholic Welfare Committee and the other elements in the welfare and social activities of this city. Mr. Dasey informed the gathering that Lyscom Bruce, executive director of the Community Chest could not be present, because he was attending the funeral of the late Frederick J. Fawcett. The gathering paid tribute to Mr. Fawcett by standing in prayer for a brief interval.

John J. Cahill, Financial Secretary of the Committee, presented the annual report. He said that no worthy case which had been called to the attention of the committee had failed to receive attention during 1939. He stated that the 61 men comprising the workers in the St. Vincent de Paul Societies of the Catholic parishes in Newton, and the Aid Society of St. Bernard's Parish had made 6306 visits during 1939 to the 395 families which were given aid. The average of 125 families on the roles were visited at least once a week. The 61 workers all are men who have their own daily tasks to perform. Although $22,202 were disbursed through the committee during 1939, the operating expenses were only $117.86. The committee received from the Newton Community Chest $17,784.84. Among its major expenditures were $8537 for food, $2475 for milk for undernourished children and invalids, $3554 for clothing, and $4161 for fuel. Mr. Cahill commented on bad housing conditions at Nonantum, and said that a majority of our citizens would not believe that such conditions exist in this city.

Mr. Dasey then presented Rev. John A. S. Sheridan, executive secretary of the Catholic Welfare Committee, and stated that the committee is largely dependent on Father Sheridan's knowledge of social work and efforts. Father Sheridan's address is printed elsewhere in the GRAPHIC.

Frank L. Richardson, executive vice-president of the Newton Trust Company was introduced by Mr. Dasey as one of Newton's outstanding, public-spirited citizens, and President of the Board of Trustees of Newton Hospital. Mr. Richardson told of the efforts of the trustees and officials of the hospital to improve public relations. Arrangements for admittance of patients have been changed so now there is no delay after a patient's physician has made proper application. Telephone pay stations have been installed on each floor at all the buildings so that visitors can phone to patients' homes easily. Starting in 1938 questionnaires have been sent to all persons who have been patients, after they have been discharged from the hospital asking for criticisms or suggestions. In connection with the Newton police department, arrangements have been made to provide emergency service in case of accidents or drownings. A committee was organized to improve coordination between the trustees, the superintendent and the medical staff of the hospital, appointmnts to the staff are made on the basis of fair treatment to all, regardless of race or creed, and the endeavor is being made to foster economy at the hospital.

The last speaker of the day was Monsignor Robert A. Barry, archdiocesan director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, and a vice-president of the Boston Community Federation. Monsignor Barry, a former Newton boy, told of having been the first employee of the Newton Playground Department, and of having been the first supervisor at the Waban and Newton Highlands playgrounds. Monsignor Barry said that Community Chests and federations are breaking down social barriers and tending toward the creation of a real democrary. He said that the Newton Community Chest has achieved real success, and that Boston, through its community drives has raised more money for social work than any city in the world. In some cities community drives have failed because of lack of organization, because people were not acquainted with the work done by agencies involved, and because the personnel of the chest workers was not truly representative. He said that persons in the lower income brackets must be urged to contribute, and not depend on the more wealthy to do most of the giving.

Monsignor Barry said it is encouraging to observe that men who have been active working for the welfare of others in Boston community fund drives are now leaders in politics. He mentioned Governor Saltonstall and Sheriff Sullivan as examples. He referred to Cincinnati as a city which had been purged of corrupt politics through the medium of a community federation of social workers. He contended that it is not salutary for the government to take over the care of one group needing relief and private agencies another group. The Government is giving subsistence, but is not taking moral or spiritual care of those on relief. Visits of volunteer social workers of private agencies have tremendous effect because of their spirit of friendliness, and because they give persons in adverse circumstances a chance to get off

Mrs. Scott Held For Grand Jury

Mrs. Ethel Scott, 39, of 38 Troy lane, Waban, was arraigned in the Newton court yesterday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and she was ordered held for the Grand Jury under $1000 bonds. On the night of January 13, the woman fired the revolver of her husband, Patrolman John Scott of the Newton police, through the bathroom door at their home and wounded him in the left side. Lieut. Crowley and Serg. Sheridan of the Newton police testified that after the shooting they questioned Mrs. Scott and she told them that her husband had been drinking that day, and that about 10 o'clock that night he and she got into an argument over a pint of liquor. She said that she hit him on his left arm with his police billy and he threatened her. According to her story, Scott then got his revolver, she took the weapon away from him, he went into the bathroom and she aimed the weapon at the floor. Lieut. Crowley said he then interviewed Scott at the Newton Hospital and his story quite disagreed with that of the wife. Serg. Sheridan testified that when he went to Scott's home after the shooting, the wounded policeman claimed that he and his wife were fooling with the revolver and it accidentally went off. Dr. Denton Nutter said he had treated Scott at the hospital after the shooting and there was no evidence that Scott had been drinking.

Military Ball of Newton V. F. W.

Eugene Daley Post, V. F. W., of Newton will conduct a military ball at Masonic Hall, Newtonville, on March 29. In announcing this ball, Commander Charles Marden states that his purpose is:

"First, it is to assure our friends that this affair is being conducted as advertised and the proceeds of the campaign will be used for the welfare of our unfortunate buddies throughout the year. And secondly, to ask your loyal support in our undertaking by a willing response to the ticket committee who will contact you in the near future."

Ladies Night Of Central Club

The annual Ladies' Night of the Central Club of Newtonville will be held on Monday evening, February 5, at Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Guests will include Governor and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, Mayor and Mrs. Paul Goddard, General and Mrs. Daniel Needham and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Floyd. Following the banquet there will be a musical program. Participating will be Dorothy George, contralto; Eleanor Greer, pianist; and William Bilodeau, violinist. Dancing will conclude the evening's entertainment.

Judge Revokes Order Barring Newton Lawyer

William E. Ginsberg of 46 Alderwood rd., Newton Centre, a former assistant district attorney of Middlesex County, was barred from practice for one year by Judge Fosdick in Middlesex Court on last Friday, because he had allegedly attempted to intimidate Miss M. Louise Higginbotham, a probation officer at the Cambridge court. In 1938 when Ginsberg was an assistant to District Attorney Warren Bishop, he handled a statutory case involving a Cambridge man and Hyde Park woman. The woman was placed on probation for two years. According to the story told to Judge Fosdick by Miss Higginbotham, Ginsberg recently came to see her, apparently in the interest of the wife of the man involved in the case, and alleged that he and the woman were again consorting. The probation officer investigated and found the complaint unfounded. Ginsberg again called to see her and when an argument ensued, Miss Higginbotham testified that Ginsberg told her—"I will make this bad for you; I will speak to Mr. Smith (the chief probation officer)." Ginsberg denied that he made the threat, but Judge Fosdick ruled that the lawyer was not telling the truth, and temporarily disbarred him.

On Tuesday of this week Judge Fosdick revoked Ginsberg's suspension, saying in part—"It, appearing to the court that said Ginsberg has now been sufficiently disciplined for his misbehaviour, it is ordered that the order of suspension from practice made against him January 26, be, and it is, hereby revoked."

Mayor To Submit Budget Feb. 19

Mayor Goddard announced on Monday that he will submit the 1940 budget to the Board of Aldermen on February 19. He has received estimates from department heads and is now studying them and preparing to make whatever changes he may deem warranted. The Board of Aldermen cannot increase the Mayor's recommendations, but can decrease them.

Dedicate New Chestnut Hill P.O.

The new $70,000 Chestnut Hill postoffice was formally dedicated last night when several hundred residents of the district served by the postoffice gathered at the recently completed Federal owned structure. Dr. John C. Brennan who has been in charge of the postoffice since 1901 officiated as chairman and the speakers included Mayor Goddard, Selectman William Hickey of Brookline, Postmaster Peter Tague, Otho Rogers of the Postoffice Department, and Col. Daniel Tyler, Jr., representing Governor Saltonstall. The postoffice serves the Chestnut Hill section of Newton and part of Brookline.

The new postoffice at Chestnut Hill will be open for public inspection on next Sunday, February 4, between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m.

WPA Drain and Sewer Project

A WPA project on which 50 men will be employed for about four months, started at Newton Highlands last week. The project will include the construction of a concrete conduit, 4 feet square, through which Dickerman Brook will run for 600 feet; a sewer which will parallel the conduit, and a drain pipe, 12 inches in diameter which will run a few hundred feet from the incinerator off Eliot st., to the conduit. The Street Department has been dumping burned tin cans and other debris from the incinerator onto the low area through which this section of the brook flows, and the conduit will prevent the brook from becoming clogged. The city has appropriated $5500 for materials and trucking in connection with this project.

J. L. Ellenwood Is Speaker at Forum

James Lee Ellenwood, State Secretary of the State Executive Committee of the YMCA's of New York State, is the speaker at the Newton Community Forum on Sunday, Feb. 4th, at 3:30 p. m. He has chosen as his topic, "The Changing Family in a Changing World."

Mr. Ellenwood is especially qualified to discuss "the ever changing family" inasmuch as his life from his school days reads similar to Horatio Alger's. He has been a clerk at a soda fountain, a newsstand vendor at the same place, a boy's companion and tutor. He has worked in a department store, and on a newspaper. He has been an active minister for twelve years, and during the World War, he was a Navy chaplain.

Now with offices at 2 West 45th st., and State Executive Secretary for the YMCA's of New York State, he has talked at many conventions and banquets using his topic, "The Changing Family in a Changing World." Mr. Ellenwood is not planning to make his life work with the YMCA, but through it he is looking to the future. He states that his diversification of jobs illustrates definitely that no matter how carefully one plans his career, life has a way of upsetting it.

Mr. Ellenwood is an inspirational speaker, and unquestionably will answer the complex question about, "The Changing Family in a Changing World."

Pomroy House To Be Remodeled

The former Pomroy Home for Orphan Girls on Hovey st., Newton, which closed its career as a home last year, and is to become a community centre, is to have extensive alterations, the cost of which is estimated at $10,500. The changes will include interior remodelling, installation of new heating and plumbing equipment, and painting inside and outside. The building will be used by the Stearns School Centre. The home was started over 50 years ago by Rebecca Pomroy who had been a nurse in the Civil War. For many years an average of about 15 young girls resided there, but in late years few applications were made for admission of children to the home.

Larkin and Dogs Still In Trouble

Henry J. Larkin formerly of Dedham st., Oak Hill, who was haled into the Newton court several times because of his refusal to restrain or dispose of two big St. Bernard dogs, and who subsequently served 30 days in jail for his failure to obey an order of the Superior Court regarding the dogs, was in the Natick court on Wednesday because of these same dogs. He has been living in Natick the past couple of years and has had similar experience with the Natick police regarding his pets that he had with the Newton police. He was given a 15 days suspended jail sentence, placed on probation for 6 months, and ordered to properly restrain the dogs. The huge St. Bernards have not bitten persons, but their size and menacing manner frighten persons. Larkin certainly loves those St. Bernards.

Boys Charged With Numerous Breaks

A series of recent burglaries at West Newton were solved through the efforts of Sergeant Bannon and Patrolmen Hanlon and Walsh the past week. As a result two West Newton boys, one 15 and the other 16, will appear in the Newton court today, the former charged with nine burglaries, and the latter with two. They took about $60 in money and merchandise from places they entered. The burglaries include two at Corcoran's Market, two at Tomlinson's Hardware Company, two at Harrison's Hardware Store, two at the West Newton library, two at the Davis School, and one at the Sinclair Oil Company.

New Resident Made Assistant Clerk Of Newton Court

The appointment of David C. Lombard as assistant clerk of the Newton District Court was announced on Monday by Clerk of Court James P. Gallagher. He will succeed Mrs. Grace Bostwick who died recently following a long illness. Lombard, who is a brother-in-law of Judge Donald Mayberry of the Newton court, was born at Provincetown 33 years ago. He attended Winchester High School for two years, and Burdett Business College for one year. He was employed for several years by the insurance firm of John C. Page & Company and has more recently been employed by the Pilgrim Trust Company as a certification teller. Slightly over a week ago Mr. Lombard moved to 44 Harvard st., Newtonville. Prior to that he was for a number of years a resident of Wollaston.

Mayor Does Not Want New Boilers At High School

Mayor Goddard stated on Monday that he will not recommend the installation of new boilers at the heating and power plant of Newton High School. The latter part of last year Mayor Childs recommended that $6000 be appropriated for an engineering survey and specifications for new boilers at the school. The boilers now there have seen many years of service and are not strong enough to stand the pressure required for power purposes. It was estimated that it would cost $110,000 to replace the boilers and make other changes. Mayor Goddard favors using the boilers for heating only, reducing the pressure in them, and installing a Diesel engine for power and lighting purposes.

Slayer of Newton Woman Gets Life

In the Middlesex Superior Court on Wednesday William H. Plummer, 58, of 1034 Pleasant st., Belmont, was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment at State Prison. His attorney, William Scharton, pleaded with Judge Fosdick that he could offer no defense other than insanity for Plummer, who killed Mrs. Margareta Clish, 44, of 55 Lincoln rd., Newton, on the night of Oct. 30, 1939. District Attorney Bradford agreed to this disposition of the case.

Plummer, the father of eight children, had been friendly for about a year with the Clish woman, who was the mother of eight children. He went to her home on the night of Oct. 30, found her playing cards in the kitchen of her home with another woman and a man, called her into another room, fired two bullets into her body, and one into his right side. He was not critically wounded.

Rev. John Sheridan Tells of Work and Aims of Agencies

Stresses Need of Spiritual Side — Praises Case Conferences

"In these dark days when the world seems on the brink of disaster, when some are so disturbed as to foresee the end of the world, there is only one hope, save God Himself, the spirit of brotherly love. Thank God it still lives in America. If ever there was a proof of it, it is the existence in our own beloved city and in so many cities and towns of America of active and successful Community Chests and Councils. The Community Chest is more than a dispurser of relief, in this tragic time, it perpetuates the spark of all that is best in mankind.

"What a blessed thing it is to live in a land where rich and poor, Protestant, Catholic and Jew unite in one common purpose, such as the Community Chest. I know of no other undertaking which so breaks down the artificial barriers that divide men, that so sincerely brings men together as brothers.

"As private citizens, we must always support the service rendering agencies of our community, no matter how far the national or local governments may expand their aid. Government generosity cannot eliminate the need of neighborly benevolence. The task of government is to make life possible. Our task, through our Community Chest and our personal giving, is to make life worth-while.

"The Government can and must keep its people fed and clothed, but it can never really be a good neighbor. It is too vast, too impersonal—it is restrained by necessary red tape. There is a limit to the obligations that the government can assume. Beyond that borderline, there are many services on which depend happiness, health, the training of better young men and women and even the safety of our communities.

"We of the Catholic Welfare Committee are proud of our Newton Community Chest and we pledge the loyal support of all our members and their families and friends to every effort made by this great charitable and character-building organization.

"It is not my privilege to meet, personally, all of the members of this splendid group of workers, except at this Annual Meeting, and I feel that I ought to take the opportunity to say a few things about our work and the manner in which it should be conducted.

"As individual Social Workers and collectively, as Social Agencies, we have clear-cut duties and responsibilities toward our clients, toward the other agencies, and toward the Community. These duties and responsibilities are well known to us all. In our every day job, however,—due to the frailty of human nature—some of the finer ideals of service lose their distinctness, and need to be brought out more sharply.

"Our clients come to us for many reasons—ill health, poverty, mental disorder, unemployment—but whatever be the cause of their coming, they expect and have a right to find the requisite amount of knowledge to deal with their problems, and a kindly sympathy on our part, towards themselves. In plain words, we ought to know what to do for them, and how to do it. This is no easy matter; but it is our job.

"We are not interested in the question of whether the Social Worker giving this service is volunteer or paid. The complexity of life in a great city, with its multiplicity of social disabilities demands expertly trained service if one is to lift the social burdens from the backs of those who are least able to bear them. But training, after all, does not consist entirely of what we learn in schools or what we read in books. Experience is a most valuable school, and often gives remarkable expertness in handling difficult problems. Workers who have had the advantage of technical training ought never to lose sight of this fact.

"Our Lord was asked on one occasion, 'Master which is the great commandment of the Law?' He replied, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God' and the second is like to this, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Since He spoke in this way of the love of neighbor, those of us who concern ourselves specifically with the welfare of our neighbor, held a high place in the sphere of human endeavor. The science of loving our neighbor, the science of charity, the science of social work, is the science of human relations, and Social Workers, individually and as a class, should bring to their task a spirit akin to religious consecration. Hence the dignity of the Social Worker's Vocation.

"We cannot plan for any individual until we have a sympathetic understanding of his family, of his racial traditions, and the religious beliefs which shape his conduct and fix his ideals. His habits and traditions may be far different from ours, but they are his, and we cannot close our eyes to them or run counter to them. We must reverence the things that are sacred to him.

"So much about our responsibilities as individuals and now a word about Social Agencies. A Social Agency, today, cannot sit upon a hill like a Medieval Castle, with a moat around it.

"Its work is influenced, and its success conditioned on a thorough understanding of its own field of action and that of kindred fields. The true test of its worth to the Community is its thorough-going co-operation with all other agencies in the field.

"There are certain obstacles in the way of co-operation and among the more important I may mention the following:

"First: A lack of clear understanding of the aims and principles of other organizations.

"Second: A steadfast adherence of our own policies to the utter exclusion of any others.

Third: A failure to revive and foster the religious heritage of our clients.

"First: Lack of clear understanding of the aims and principles of other organizations. Too often, Social Agencies run along, year after year, in blissful ignorance of the accomplishments and policies of their brothers in the fields. In some instances, they are not only ignorant of the aims, purposes, and accomplishments of other organizations, but they have absolutely wrong notions, and make very little effort to correct them.

"Second: A steadfast adherence to our own policies to the utter exclusion of any others. How often this is the case! Let us examine our conscience on this point. We will probably have black marks against ourselves for offences of this nature. The word co-operation means 'to work together.' Some people and some Agencies are co-operative as long as they can command the situation, but when it comes to working out the problem, that is not the kind of co operation they care to give. In other words, they are interested, not so much in working out a program of mutual helpfulness as in dominating the situation.

"Thank God, we now have a Case Conference in Newton which will enable us to learn these lessons—to avoid these pitfalls—and to keep our feet on the straight and narrow path. I trust that everyone of you who is free to do so will attend the Conference Meeting from 11 to 12 o'clock in Newtonville Library the third Wednesday of each month.

"Third: A failure to revive and foster the religious heritage of our clients. I think it would be well for us to recall the fact that all social work began with the church, whether that church was Jewish, Catholic, or Protestant. When, however, social work was divorced from the church and became a specialized profession, the social work leaders were afraid to stress religion in their work lest they should be accused of proselytizing. From that time onward the emphasis was placed on the material side and the spiritual side was lost sight of. At the present time, there is a new feeling rapidly arising among social workers, that if they are to accomplish the best work, they must endeavor to get their clients back to the practice, not of the social workers' religion but of the religious background of their forebears, in other words, we must endeavor to tie the family up with the church to which they belong.

"The results of a recent survey in the city of Lynn, from which I came to Newton, have just been made public. The survey was made by a group of ministers and Y. M. C. A. workers. The result was startling; it developed that 41 per cent of all persons 13 years of age or over are without church affiliations. Despite these figures, Lynn regards this as a favorable report because of the fact that in the United States at the present moment, 48 per cent of the people are unchurched — this includes 10 million young people under 21 years of age.

"For many years before his recent death, Dr. Cabot, the famous sociologist of Harvard College, was almost alone in bringing to the notice of the various conferences of social work, national and state, that the spiritual side of social work was being lost sight of.

"President Calvin Coolidge was one of the first to place emphasis on the necessity of religion in social service work; Cheney Jones of Boston revived this same teaching at the recent Child Welfare Conference at Washington, D. C., and President Roosevelt, in his message to the conference and to the world over the radio, was particularly insistent that religion should be much more closely allied with social service work. For us, members of the Catholic Welfare Committee of the city of Newton, there is no great difficulty in following the advice that has been given by these social leaders. The rules of our St. Vincent de Paul Conference demand that he shall render assistance not only in bettering the material and economic conditions of our people but in a particular manner, their moral and spiritual conditions, as well. If we are faithful to these rules, we will accomplish much for the welfare of the whole man and the whole woman, for the soul as well as the body.

"And now a word as to the relations between Social Agencies and the Community in general, which are becoming increasingly important year by year. Few of us can realize the immensity of the social problems that confront a city like ours. There is hardly a department of our city government but that touches the lives of the citizens intimately. It is well for us to bring home to ourselves, from time to time, the great truth that this is our government, that we are a part of it and that all these departments of the city are working for us. We cannot afford to be carpingly critical — our contributions should be constructive.

"It is in this spirit that we launched our Council of Social Agencies — a Round Table—where the executives of the private agencies and the heads of the public departments may sit down together to talk over their problems—and to learn, to their surprise, not how far apart they are, but to learn how close they are together, and how much a little cooperation would effect for the benefit of their mutual clientele.

"While we cannot take great pride in the cooperation existing between our private and our public agencies in the past, we can say this, that we are far away and ahead of other cities in this regard.

"Some one has said, 'There are only two classes of people who never make mistakes—the dead and the unborn.' Mistakes are the growing pains of wisdom, the assessments we pay on our stock of experience. Life is given to man to learn how to live, and mistakes are part of the learning. If we cultivate a right attitude toward our shortcomings it will result in much wholesome thinking, and we will be enabled to rise with freshened courage to the task that lies before us.

"Our task, here, will not be complete, until every last one of the 66,000 people of Newton is understandingly, sympathetically, and whole-heartedly playing his and her part in the great work to which we have dedicated our lives—'The practice of the Cardinal virtues—Faith, Hope and Charity—and the greatest of these is Charity.'"

EDWARD H. Powers' Paragraphs

In recent years there has been much ado over the serious increase in crimes of violence, including murder and banditry by youths. It has been contended that inability to obtain employment has been a large factor in driving boys and youths to crime. But it has been proved that a big percentage of those who had been involved in serious crimes, such as burglaries, hold-ups and murders, had been spending the loot obtained in gambling, at night-spots and on molls. For the most part, they are not youths anxious to work, and driven to desperation because they cannot obtain employment. And this applies to young thugs who accost women on lonely streets at night, knock them down and steal their handbags.

Any charitable, reasonable person does not want to see a youth sent to prison for his first offence. But, when youths commit one crime after another, including crimes of violence, repeated suspended sentences and probation, causes too many of them to continue in careers of crime, and encourages other boys and youths to imitate them. Every once in awhile when some youth climaxes his career of crime by commiting a murder, the newspapers print a list of the number of times he had been arraigned in courts, given suspended sentences or placed on probation. We again agree with the contention of James Ramsay, formerly chief probation officer of Middlesex County, that what this country needs to curb crimes of violence by youthful offenders is not more prisons or so-called "Houses of Correction," not more parlor penologists, but the old-fashioned whipping-post such as is used in England. This method of inflicting physical punishment on those who inflict physical suffering on others in the commission of crime, has proved much more efficient overseas in preventing banditry and murders, than have prisons. It is also far less expensive to taxpayers.

Have you been keeping track of the number of divisions of the Russian army allegedly wiped-out or decimated by the Finns? If the slaughter of Soviet soldiers reported in despatches from overseas has not been greatly exaggerated, several hundred thousand Russian soldiers already have been killed or frozen to death. Frankly, we are somewhat sceptical.

One of the most interesting buildings in Newton is the big, stone barn located at Cliff rd. and Oak st., Newton Upper Falls, of which there is a photograph in this issue. This solid, stone structure with massive walls, was erected in 1857 by Otis Pettee, who then owned the machine shops, cotton mill, other industries and many dwellings at Upper Falls. The fact that there was a serious depression that year, did not deter Mr. Pettee from proceeding with the erection of the building. Farmers from miles around hauled the stone in ox-carts for very modest remuneration. The building was uniquely and cleverly designed. Situated on a sloping lot wagons could be driven into it at two levels, and backed up to loading platforms at two more levels. No elevator was needed in that building. Although the building has been used mostly as a warehouse, many years ago Otis Pettee conceived another use for it. The roof of the building was very steep and plentifully supplied with windows. Thousands o silk-worms were placed there and fed mulberry leaves. Mr. Pettee, however, was not successful in his attempt to raise silk in Newton and the experiment was abandoned.

We received a letter from "Bob" Sproat who was in Augusta, Georgia, last Saturday. It contained a newspaper clipping showing a photograph of a gang of negro convicts shoveling snow off the streets there with the temperature at 10 degrees above zero. The convicts were clad only in their thin, cotton garments, without overcoats or gloves. Probably by now, there are many cases of pneumonia in Georgia prisons.

Newton is an outstanding community in many respects. It is an unusually attractive residential community, and has the reputation of possessing a fine community spirit. One of the most recent manifestations of this spirit is the establishing of "The Thrift Center" under the auspices of the Newton Community Council. Its purpose is to collect clothing and household articles for distribution to needy Newton families. The slogan of "The Thrift Center" is—"Save It For Newton." We highly approve of this slogan and believe it could be copied to a considerable degree in something besides the distribution of clothing to needy Newton families. For years we have contended that public offices in Newton and public employment should be given whenever possible to Newton residents. In a number of instances in past years employment in the service of the city has been given to non-residents of Newton when there were men and women in this city capable of competently filling those positions. Quite recently the head of a certain city department hired an assistant who was not a resident of Newton, but who "was coming to reside in Newton after she had obtained the job." A few years ago the woman probation officer of the Newton district court resigned. There were women in Newton with sufficient education, ability and maturity of judgment to succeed her, but the office was given to a young woman from Arlington. A few weeks ago the assistant clerk of the Newton District Court died. There are many young women and men in Newton who have the requisite intelligence and character to fill this office which pays $2100 or more per year. There are some young lawyers in this city who would have been glad to get the job. But the position was given to a young man who did not reside in Newton until several days before his appointment was announced. We have a school system in Newton reputedly one of the best in the country. We have thousands of young college graduates in Newton. The ordinary community gives its public jobs to home town folks; products of its local schools. It's about time that Newton people demanded "Give It To Newton," as well as "Save It For Newton."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic.
Dear Sir:

Another year has passed and some kind friend reminded the ladies of the Stone Institute that January was the month when they would receive the interest money from the Spear estate and true enough it came on Miss Spear's birthday and was equally divided among the ladies in the Home.

We all have likes and dislikes and all enjoy the good things of life so in a short time if the snow does not fall too thick and fast, we shall hie to the Newton stores. For what good is money if we cannot spend it and could anything be more fitting at this time than to wish that each lady could personally thank Miss Spear for her spirit of generosity and her thoughtful remembrances to us all.

Newton Graphic, January 24, 1885

One of the worst kept sidewalks in this part of Newton is in front of a piece of city property—the old Channing Church on Washington st.

The annual public declamation by the first class of the Newton High School will take place at the school building, Newtonville, Friday, January 30, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The snowfall of last week was followed by a slight thaw and a freeze-up, packing down the few inches of snow left and making a splendid foundation for sleighing.

The widow of Doctor Teulon petitions the city for damages, claiming that the doctor's fatal fall was caused by the slippery condition of Channing alley, due to negligence of the city.

The first coasting accident of the winter befell a party on Church st. Tuesday night. Two double-runners collided and Mabel Wood, daughter of George F. Wood had a leg broken. She was attended by Dr. Stone.

The ice is 6 inches thick at Bullough's Pond and Howard Brothers will soon begin cutting their first crop. The mild weather has been a drawback to them so far and their new houses at Howard Pond, Watertown, which are now finished, are still empty.

There were 293 deaths in this city last year. Of the causes, consumption (T. B.) lead with 42 victims, pneumonia killed 23, 15 died of old age, 14 each from apoplexy, cholera infantum and heart disease, 13 from meningitis, 11 from scarlet-fever and 9 from typhoid. There were only 3 fatal cases of diphtheria. There were 6 deaths from drownings.

The Cambridge railroad has taken off half their Newton and Watertown cars for the winter. Cars leave Newton for Boston hourly from 7:50 a. m. to 9:50 p. m. The cars now wait 40 minutes at Newton between trips, the horses and drivers passing their time at Daniels' stables.

The new chapel and parish house at Grace Episcopal Church was formally opened on Thursday night, a few days over 6 months from the time the ground was broken. In spite of the intensely cold weather the rooms were full to overflowing. 350 persons being present. A choice collation was provided by Paxton. The chapel cost $13,000 and is wholly paid for with a small surplus on hand.

Since there is no prospect of the adoption of any permanent system for the disposal of sewage, some plan for temporary relief should be adopted at once. City authorities have forbidden owners to clean out cesspools, compelling them to employ licensed collectors, who may charge extravagant prices. The authorities should go the rest of the way and establish a reasonable method of removing the contents, as they now remove ashes. The city should own one or more odorless excavators and charge no more than the actual cost of operating them.

Newton Graphic, Jan. 24, 1890

The total number of marriages in Newton in 1889 was 235, and the number of deaths 323. So far this month there have been 50 deaths in this city, 11 of them from pneumonia.

The introduction of a police signal system in this city will necessitate the construction of a police stable and wagon house. A site on Cherry st., adjoining City Hall, has been purchased for $2000. P. A. MacVicar of Auburndale will build the patrol wagon.

The committee on the new Y. M. C. A. building has met to report progress. It may be regarded as settled that the building will be erected in the near future. The work of preparing a canvass for the needed funds is now going on, and it is planned to raise about $50,000 for the land and building. The building will contain two stores on the first floor, and a wide central entrance to the second story where the rooms, library, gymnasium and lecture hall will be located, and a large hall on the third floor. (The Y. M. C. A. building was not erected until years later.—Ed.)

Anyone desiring to render immediate assistance to Belgian refugees can do so by sending clothes, food, etc., to William Firth's warehouse, 15 Columbia st., Boston. All kinds of clothing will be accepted and materials suitable for hospital work are badly needed.

Petitions are now in circulation asking the Public Service Commission to order the Boston Elevated Railway Company to restore the through service from Newton to Cambridge. Anyone interested in having his or her names added to the petitions may send a postal card to Arthur Kendrick, 45 Hunnewell ave., Newton.

Winfield Scott Slocum, for many years City Solicitor of Newton died this morning at his home on Walnut st., Newtonville.

Kiwanis Club

Thirteen members of the Newton Kiwanis Club attended the reception given New England District Governor Fred Mitchell at the Hotel Touraine last Saturday night.

Following the regular meeting of the club held at the Charles River Country Club Tuesday noon, the Officers and Board of Directors met at a business meeting. Plans for several important club functions were discussed and committees appointed.

A dinner meeting with the ladies is being arranged for the month of February under the direction of the Club's Entertainment Committee. Those serving on the Entertainment Committee are: Wilfred Chagnon, chairman, George Van Buskirk, Archie Bellinger, Clarence Hutchins, Robert H. Wilcox, Edward Welch.

The speaker of the day was Mr. Faye Roope, a Newton resident and a member of the West Newton Players Association. He is a former professional actor, who played an important part in the Broadway show "What Price Glory" which ran for many weeks on Broadway.

Mr. Roope described the ways in which acting is made use of in every day life by salesmen and business men. He outlined the financial risk which producers of plays take today, and also the fact that actors and actresses are, in general, well paid at the present time.

He emphasized the importance of the teaching of dramatics in the public schools today, stating that in many cases young people were given confidence and the ability to succeed in life through their dramatic teaching.

Mr. Roope states that it was his hope that some day there could be a theatre in Newton where it would be possible for local organizations and local actors to put on plays. He felt that a great deal of talent existed in Newton which should be used.

Dr. Norton, chairman of the Program Committee, announced that a moving picture would be shown at the next meeting, showing the work of the textile industry in New England. The next meeting of the Club will be held Tuesday noon, February 6, at the Charles River Country Club.

ONE THING and ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Light on the Neighbors

One thing about these dark Winter mornings: they give us some idea of the getting-up habits of the neighbors. Incidentally the neighbors get a line on us. It really makes no difference to anybody but the electric light company. Putting these facts together proves it's the lights shining in bedroom windows around 7 a. m. that tell the story.

Of course if people are inquisitive they have found out long ago what time the Crosstheway family has breakfast. If there are children to go to school the hour is readily determined without questioning. But a family of adults can best be observed by the switching on of the current.

I do not say that Newton people spy upon each other but I insist that if you have awakened and gone over to shut down the window you must observe any light shining in your neighbor's house. If the dining room is lighted they are probably at the orange juice. But to trace the progress of early rising effectively, one must keep an eye on the lights as they appear, first in one place and then another.

Such little items of gossip as, "The Nextdoors left the cellar light burning all night," or, "Somebody must have been sick at the Overtheres last night, I saw a light burning from 2 o'clock on," are gleaned with interest. It couldn't happen in the Summer.

Results Good Anyway

Once in a while an industrious citizen of Newton is seen supervising a rubbish fire on the snow-covered surface of his own land. Of course he wouldn't do it without the necessary permit so this is written of those who firmly believe in law and order. If you should ask my private opinion it would be that this person has not only courage to perform a task in the cold, but a sense of the fitness of things.

I was going to suggest public recognition for those who pick up every old bit of waste, twig and whatever may be lying around and pile it on the blaze. But perhaps they are getting a little fun out of it. In fact, the more I think of it the more I am convinced that there are men and women presiding over bonfires in back lots who are receiving a real thrill. I recall more than one who seems to have plenty of time to frequently start a small blaze. It may be a mild form of pyromania but if it is then unsightly rubbish has been removed and the landscape made more attractive—a source of public satisfaction.

Glad to be Helpful

A letter from E. F. C. says: "You certainly showed how much assistance the column can give when you told about the many things found between the pages of library books returned by borrowers. It reminded me of the loss of a five-dollar bill which I once used as a bookmark and forgot to remove. I do not contend that it should have been displayed in the collection exhibited in a glass case at the main library. Nor do I insinuate that anybody at the library even saw it. No doubt it dropped from the volume before it had been taken out of my house. But again I wish to thank you. Your article has taught me not to use five dollar bills for bookmarks. One dollar bills serve the purpose fully as well and I have more of them."

Would Rally Rhododendron

Ever since news came from the South of the unexpected snow and freezing temperatures I shudder each time I pass a rhododendron. To me this shrub, when blooming, is a majestic feature of the garden. When it has succumbed to the ravages of Winter weather it is the most forlorn plant in view. As I have observed, it required the freakish weather in Dixie to arouse my sympathy for rhododendron. I have studied them closely for a week or more and they all look dejected. Even those for which a thoughtful owner has provided a wooden canopy seem to have collapsed in hopelessness. Every now and then we hear of some discovery of inestimable value to plant life. Won't some genius concentrate on the rhododendron that it may look more cheerful on these cold days.

Club Holds First Honors With 60th Year

To the West Newton Women's Educational Club belong the honors of holding first place as the oldest Woman's Club in the Newton district, and on Friday, February 9th, this Club will celebrate its Sixtieth Anniversary, in a gala program, and with a Presidents' Day, to which the presidents and a guest from every club in the Twelfth District are invited. Other guests of honor will be the president of the Massachusetts State Federation, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth; the Twelfth District director, Mrs. William F. Leach; and the president of the Newton Federation, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, who is also a past president of the Educational Club.

The meeting will be held in Second Church, at 2 p. m., with the president, Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan presiding. The Mayor of Newton, Hon. Paul M. Goddard will extend Greetings to the Club and guests. The Club History will be read by the Club's historian, Mrs. William D. Keefe. The Club will have the honor of having as guest speaker, Lieutenant Governor Horace T. Cahill, whose topic will be "Good Citizenship." The soloist will be Mrs. Seabury Short, soprano.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club was organized on July 28th, 1880, by a group of three pioneer clubwomen. Mrs. Electa N. L. Walton, its first president, was one of the delegates to the meeting in New York at which the General Federation of Women's Clubs was organized in April, 1890. In honor of Mrs. Walton, the Club established the Electa N. L. Walton Scholarship Fund, which since 1912 has given a scholarship each year to a Newton High School girl, this being the first Club to establish a Memorial Scholarship Fund. Another notable member of this Club, too, was Mrs. George G. Phipps, who founded the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs in 1895, of which also Mrs. Walton was the first president.

As the name of this Club implies, it is essentially an Educational Club, its object being to keep alive and to awaken a general interest in all good, social, intellectual, and moral, movements; its activities being broad in scope.

Those who will hear its History on February 9th will learn of these many accomplishments.

Tea will be served at the conclusion of the program by the Hospitality committee, with Mrs. E. M. Martines as chairman. The Club regrets that the courtesy which it has usually extended that membership cards of other clubs will admit to meetings cannot be extended for this occasion, due to lack of accommodations.

The monthly Supper of the International committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held at the Club House on Monday evening, February 5th, at 6:45 o'clock. At 7:45, Dr. Yuasa, a native of Japan, who received his higher education in America, will speak, giving his interpretation of the position of the Japanese Christian Community in this present conflict. Dr. Yuasa has been head of the Biology Department at the Imperial University in Tokio, and President of Doshisha University, the largest and most influential private university in Japan. His critical attitude toward the policy of his country in China made it necessary tor him to resign. He is a distinguished scientist, a Christian educator, and an interesting speaker. Reservations should be made by February 2nd with Mrs. Alden H. Speare. Club members and friends will be admitted to the lecture upon the payment of a small fee.

Professor S. Ralph Harlow, of Smith College, will speak on "America's Part in the Economic Causes of the Present War" at the regular monthly Club meeting on Friday afternoon, the 9th, through the courtesy of the Women's Advisory Council of the Newton Trust Company. Mrs. Harry Crocker and Mrs. Charles Chapin will be the hostesses during the coffee and social hour which will precede the business meeting and program.

The Civic and Legislative committee announces that its program scheduled for Thursday morning, the 8th, has been cancelled.

The Exhibition will remain open every afternoon, except Sundays, from 2 to 4:30 p. m., until February 17th.

The Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Frederick L. Legnard, 14 Foster st., Newtonville, on Tuesday, February 6th, at 2 o'clock.

The American Home Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Maxwell P. Gaddis, 24 Eliot ave., West Newton, on Wednesday, February 7th, at 12:30 o'clock. A representative from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company of Newton will give a Cooking Demonstration.

At the meeting of the Educational Club on Friday, January 26th, in the Second Church of West Newton, Miss Udall, from the Modern Art Institute, spoke about some of the work her School is endeavoring to do. Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan presided at the business meeting. The Penny Collection was taken to buy milk and cod liver oil for undernourished children of the West Newton Schools.

Mrs. Arvid Swenson sang "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," and "Mifanwy," accompanied by Agnes Olson. Mrs. Elsie Chamberlain, dean of Chamberlain School, gave a delightful talk on how to be "Pretty, Practical, and Patriotic."

Tea was served by the Hospitality committee, with Mr. D. Webster Anders and Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones as pourers, and Mrs. Harold G. Carter and Mrs. Frank J. Kelley as the hostesses.

Auburndale Review Club

Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, a former member of the Auburndale Review Club, will be the hostess for the meeting Tuesday morning, February 6, at her home on Wolcott st. This will be the Music Day which the Club holds once a year, regardless of what the rest of the year's program may include.

The first paper will be read by Mrs. Alfred Billings and will be a review of "The Paderewski Memoirs"; and one on "My Husband Gabrilowitch Clemens," which will be read by Miss Cora MacKenzie.

The remainder of the morning will be music, and it is expected that Mrs. Nelson Freeman, a Club member who has been ill for some time, will be present, and assist with the music.

Another program including Biographies of interesting personalities was given when the Review Club met Tuesday morning, January 23, with Mrs. Edmund I. Wilson at her home on Aspen ave.

Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, chairman of the Day, read her paper first, in which she read from Archibald Henderson's "Bernard Shaw, Playboy and Prophet." The author, to whom Shaw had been an idol from his college days, gave incidents during his early life, his beginnings as an author and playwright, his fads, including vegetarianism, and his activities as a Socialist and as a member of the Fabian Society.

"This Life I've Loved," the autobiography of Isobel Strong Field, was the subject of the second paper, and given by Mrs. Eldin Lynn. She told of the unhappy girlhood of Mrs. Field, who lacked the ability to make friends readily, and who was shunned by her classmates. Of her life as the wife of the artist, Joe Strong, little was said except that it later led to a divorce and to a second marriage. One of the interesting points made by Mrs. Lynn was the assistance which Isobel Strong was able to render to her step-father, Robert Louis Stevenson, whom she learned to respect and love in spite of her affection for her own father.

The third topic was "William Lyon Phelps," and Mrs. Amos R. Wells, who was responsible for this, had been ill and unable to prepare it, and so gave the Club members a rare treat by introducing in her place, the well-known book critic, Alice Dixon Bond.

Mrs. Bond explained that this autobiography which she had been asked to review, could not be treated chronologically if one took the chapters as they had been written, as the author would relate incidents which had happened during his middle life, then a childish adventure, and so on throughout the nearly a thousand pages. The book pictured Phelps as a man who could always see the sunny side of life, and who thoroughly enjoyed living. He was a great lover of animals, and one chapter was entirely devoted to cats. As a young man he had three different aims and was unable to choose from them. They were to be a teacher, a preacher, and a writer, and the book showed how he had excelled in all three branches. Mrs. Bond brought out many of the amusing anecdotes which abound throughout the book.

The meeting adjourned at noon, to meet on the following Tuesday morning, with Miss Alice Dike of Fern st., when subjects for the coming year would be chosen.

Behind the Scenes of Radio

Miss Marian Hertha Clarke, Radio commentator, will come Thursday, February 8, to the Newton Community Club. "Radio—Off the Record" should answer many questions of radio listeners about "Advertising on the Air" and "Programs," and should unveil much of what is behind the microphone.

Miss Clarke has been connected with radio since its infancy, being the first woman news commentator in New England, and she is an accomplished speaker with a great store of knowledge which she "gives" to her audience.

The many members of the Newton Community Club who were privileged to hear Miss Bhicoo Batlivala speak on "Women of India" at the Underwood School Hall, Thursday, January 25, found it an afternoon well spent.

Miss Batlivala's appearance and personality, and beautifully-modulated voice, combined with her store of statistics on all phases of the problems in India, made one wish that she would continue after her allotted time was up. She traced the history of India through the ages, pointing out how it had once been largely industrial, but by domination had become agricultural, and she said that Gandhi is insisting that it get back its birthright. She told also how the women of India are being awakened to their power for good in this vast country.

A free, united India, with a genuine partnership between it and Great Britain, is the hope of the great majority of people in India, according to Miss Batlivala.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Wallace Wales, the president, spoke of Guest Night which is to be on February 29th. Mrs. Ray Eusden announced a series of lectures to be given in the Lecture Room of the Newtonville Library on six Monday mornings at 10:30 a. m., from February 12th to March 18th, the subject being "Understanding Music."

Mrs. David Black called attention to the immediate dire need of several families, and asked for contributions, showing her own work of art, a cunning small boy's suit made from somebody's discarded warm dress.

Ice cream and cake were served by the Social committee, those assisting at the tea table being Mrs. LeRoy P. Guion, Mrs. George B. Ryan, Mrs. William W. Colton, and Mrs. Allan N. Kee. The tea table was decorated by Mrs. Porter L. Swift and Mrs. Edward J. Pease.

The Art chairman, Mrs. Gustaf A. Peterson, very appropriately had arranged an Exhibition of Shawls, most of which were Indian.

ZONTA CLUB

Lieut.-Gov. Cahill at Men's Club Meeting

Lieutenant-Governor Horace T. Cahill was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Claflin Men's Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church last Friday evening. Members of men's organizations of other Methodist churches in the city were also present. President Howard M. Selby presided. Carl S. Ell, president of Northeastern University of which Mr. Cahill is an alumnus, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Harry Yinger of Haverhill gave inspirational readings and dramatizations of several Bible stories.

Lieutenant Governor Cahill stated that although foreign isms have been the subject of considerable controversy the most important thing for this country is to look to the internal isms which are threatening the very foundations of our democracy. Many of our present troubles can be traced to the indifference of the people in refraining from exercising their right of franchise. Our elections have descended to the point where they have largely become popularity contests. He urged his audience to take an active interest in the promotion of good government throughout the entire year and not simply casting a vote on election day. There is a dire need for the entrance of competent, sincere, and willing citizens into the administration of our governmental affairs.

NEWTON FIVE WINS FROM RINDGE TECH

Chalks Up Seventh Straight League Win To Clinch Title

Newton high virtually clinched championship honors in the suburban basketball league on Tuesday by winning from Rindge Tech on the latter's floor by a one-point margin, 27 to 26. The victory was the seventh consecutive league triumph and the ninth in as many games this season keeping the locals undefeated record intact. As all other teams in the league have lost three games and as Newton has but three more league frays on its schedule, Coach Beverly Wilson's aggregation is assured of nothing worse than a tie for the league title even in the event that the orange and black quintet loses all of its remaining league games. The locals next test comes this afternoon on the home court in a return game with Arlington high. Next Tuesday afternoon the team travels to Waltham for a return engagement there. Newton topped Arlington at Arlington a few weeks ago by a narrow margin, 29 to 27, but in its home environment should turn back the Spy Ponders more handily. Next Tuesday will be one of Newton's most crucial games when the squad travels over to Waltham for a return meeting with the Watch City five. Two weeks ago the Waltham team came within a hair's breadth of knocking off Newton, leading until the last few minutes of play, only to have Newton come through with a couple of floor baskets and two all-important free tosses by Billy Betz to set up the winning digit.

In nosing out the Engineers on Tuesday the Newton five's superiority from the free-throw line spelled defeat for Rindge, together with the ability to stave off a furious last-period rally by the Cambridge five.

Newton led all the way with the score reading 15 to 9 at half time. In the third period fully five minutes went by without a score on either side, then Rindge began to come. The Newton lead was whittled down to 19-16 before Olivigni caged one to make it 21-16 as the period ended.

Early in the fourth period foul points by Bill Betz and Captain Johnny Flagg pushed the score to 25-18 and Rindge seemed to fade. Rallying again, however, three quick scores with Paglierani, Baniewicz and Allen, put Rindge right back into the game with the count reading 25-24 and only a minute and a half to go. Play waxed fast and furious with Flagg finally getting a close-up one-handed shot to seemingly clinch the verdict. Again Rindge fought back with Kardulas scoring just before the final gun.

Captain Flagg was the high scorer of the game with ten points. Puttura and Allen, Rindge forwards, each counted eight points, while Olivigni was Newton's second best with seven. Five successful efforts from the foul line against but two for Rindge spelled victory as Rindge outscored Newton in floor goals, 12 to 11.

FIFTH ANNUAL ICE CARNIVAL TOMORROW

The fifth annual ice carnival at Crystal Lake will be held on Saturday, Feb. 3rd, under the sponsorship of the Newton Recreation Department and the Newton Figure Skating Club. In case unfavorable weather forces postponement of the affair it will be held on Sunday, Feb. 4th. There will be races in the morning, exhibition figure skating in the afternoon and a Costume Ball on the ice in the evening.

HOCKEY TEAM WINS TO STAY IN RACE

Play Rindge Again Tomorrow While Melrose Faces Strong Arlington

Saturday afternoon Newton High returned to the win column turning back the Gray Ghosts from Arlington High 3-1. Co-capts. Walter Hurley and Bunny Dugan paced the orange and black to victory to keep Newton one-point behind the red and white from Melrose. Hurley scored two goals and an assist while the latter earned one assist. By scoring three points Hurley went into a first-place tie with his teammate, Dugan for the league leadership in scoring. Jim Gallagher was responsible for the third Newton goal. Arlington was unable to score until the last few minutes of the game. The gray and white's first line of Sanders, Burns and Blanchard were held in check by Joe Beatty and Tony Hines, Newton's two hard hitting defensemen. Newton was vastly improved over the previous week's game with Rindge Tech and by continuing to play winning hockey may yet come out on top of the G. B. I. Hockey League.

Tomorrow the orange and black takes on Rindge Tech, the team that knocked them out of a first-place tie two weeks ago with Melrose. Newton hopes for revenge although the Tech team has been improving and held the league leaders, 3-2 last Saturday. It may be another upset for the orange and black. Newton can land back in first place after next week's game if Melrose should lose to Arlington, but must top the Engineers tomorrow.

NEWTON DETHRONED AS SCHOOL TRACK CHAMPS

The Newton High track team was deposed from its long reign as track champions last Saturday in the annual Northeastern University Interscholastic meet at the Boston Garden as Lawrence High outdistanced all competitors with 17 points while Newton was tied for 10th position with Brockton High at 3 1-4 points.

Newton points were made by Bob Ross with a second place in the 600-yard run and Bob Edison in a four-place tie for fourth in the high jump. The most pessimistic of predictions had Newton scoring considerably more but as frequently happens nothing broke right for Coach Enoch's crew.

In the hurdles Alpert after winning his trial heat and placing second in a semi-final, faded after the second barrier in the final and failed to place. George Welch, Newton's second entry finished second in a trial heat. Neither Bill Hurley nor Ken Boegner qualified in the dash trials. Bob Cotton came within a stride of making the grade in a 300-yard trial but as only heat winners got into the final he missed out.

Ed Benson placed fourth in his heat in the 1000 but not in time fast enough to share in the point division. Paul Van Wort lost a shoe on the first bank when a rival stepped on his heel and although he made a game race on one bare foot the task was too great and he had to fall back in the closing laps.

Bob Ross made a gallant home-stretch bid to overtake Turner of Lawrence in their heat in the 600-yard run but Turner fought him off to win by six inches in the fastest heat of the event. In the final heat Capt. Fred Hall of Newton had almost no competition and his time was not fast enough to place.

Bill Boyer and Jerry Hickey were Newton's hopes in the shotput but a better than 47 foot put was needed to place.

Coach Enoch's lads raced the fast Mechanics Arts quartet in the final relay race of the day with Lew Watkins, colored flyer who had shattered Warren Wittens record in the 300 by .3s earlier in the day built up a lead over Gil Dobie which was increased by Desmond over Donn Ashley to an extent too great for Ross and Hall to cut down. Newton's relay time was just out of the point division.

Tonight the Newton team will meet Lowell high in a dual affair at Lowell. The meet, originally scheduled for Saturday night, was changed this week to tonight at the request of Lowell.

Gets Probation In Three Courts

John Powers, 17, of 10 Lorraine st., Brighton, a Brighton high school pupil, was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday on a charge of having stolen the automobile of John McNeil of 252 Franklin st., Newton. He was given a suspended sentence to the Shirley Industrial School, and placed on probation. Before being arraigned in the Newton court, Saturday morning, Powers had been tried in the Brighton court for the theft of another automobile, and on that case he was also placed on probation. Two days before he had been arraigned in the Roxbury court for the theft of a third automobile, given a suspended prison sentence of two years, and also placed on probation. Powers was a member of a gang charged with the thefts of several automobiles.

On Tuesday George Bennett, 17, of 41 Burbank st., Boston (formerly of Brighton) was arraigned in the Newton court. He was arrested by Boston police on the night of January 22nd together with Powers and Edgar DeAbre, 16, of 11 Colburn rd., Brighton. Bennett was charged with stealing an automobile in Newton, driving without a license, and snatching a handbag on the night of January 14 from Miss Annie Casey, as the girl was walking on lonely Chestnut Hill rd., opposite Governor Saltonstall's house. He and DeAbre admitted to Sergeant Bannon and Patrolman Dalton of the Newton police that they had stolen several automobiles in this city and elsewhere. On January 12 he stole a car owned by Dr. Frank Lahey of the Lahey Clinic and used it to ride about Newton and Brookline the following two nights and snatch handbags from several women, one of whom was knocked down. Bennett was fined $10 for driving without a license. On the robbery charge he was given a suspended sentence to Shirley School. On the auto theft charge he was also given a suspended sentence. Fanning Bros., 98 and 86, Active In Business

Two of Newton's oldest and most interesting residents are the Fanning brothers of Newton Upper Falls, Eugene and Frank. Eugene, who will be 98 years of age on March 17, was born in Jewett City, Conn., and came to Newton with his parents in 1853. Frank was born at Newton Upper Falls in 1854. They are the sons of Henry W. and Mary (Whaley) Fanning. Their father came to Newton Upper Falls to serve as overseer in charge of weaving at the Newton Cotton Mills, then located at the falls on the river. The site and buildings have for the past 60 years been used by the silk mill.

In 1861 Henry W. Fanning established a grocery business at Upper Falls in a store at the corner of Chestnut and Ellis sts., and his oldest son, Eugene, became associated with him. The younger sons, Henry and Frank, later went to work at the store. In 1890 the Fannings sold their grocery business. In 1876 Frank Fanning started the Fanning Printing Co., and in 1890 when Eugene gave up the grocery business, he became associated with his brother in the printing business. For many years the Fanning Printing Co. thrived, employing as many as twenty persons. It did all the printing work for the City of Newton, and among its clients over decades of years were the Silver Lake Cordage Co., Pettee Machine Shops and many other large corporations. The print shop now does but a small amount of business, but the two veterans, Eugene and Frank, arrive at the office there every week day morning at 8:30, rain or shine.

Eugene Fanning was a Ward Officer and Overseer of the Poor when Newton first became a city in 1874. He also served in the Newton Common Council. He was made a corporator of the Newton Savings Bank in 1891, a trustee of that institution in 1896, and a vice-president in 1928. He is very alert mentally and has distinct recollections of affairs in Newton for the past nearly 90 years. He was quite an inventor and at one time was the owner of several patents on check-books, candy-boxes and devices for manufacturing the latter. He was Superintendent of the Sunday School of the Second Baptist Church at Upper Falls for 20 years, and is now superintendent emeritus.

Frank Fanning, although in his 86th year, still engages regularly in his duties as a member of the security committee of the Merchants Co-operative Bank of Boston. These necessitate that he travel over much of Eastern Massachusetts appraising real estate. He has been a director of this bank for 56 years; since shortly after it was established. He has resided for the past 79 years in the old homestead at 6 Summer st., adjoining the printing shop. Eugene Fanning resides at 71 High st., nearly opposite the printing shop. The two old gentlemen are the last members of their family. Eugene's wife died in 1931, Frank's wife in 1932, and their brother, Henry, in 1936.

The Cooks BORROWED $200 to buy new dining room furniture

The Bakers SAVED $200 to refurnish their dining room

LOOK AT THE DIFFERENCE

$200 BORROWED (paid back in 12 equal monthly amounts)		$200 SAVED (deposited in 12 equal monthly amounts)
You receive	$200.00	You receive	$200.00
You pay in charges (14%)*	15.14	Plus interest (2%)†	2.19
You really get	$184.86	You really get	$202.19

Cash advantage to the one who saves is $17.33

*Figured at 14% — estimated average rate of cost of small loans and installment purchases — including such items as interest, investigation and insurance charges.
†Calculated at an annual dividend rate of 2% — the minimum paid by any Mutual Savings Bank in Massachusetts.

Think what these extra dollars would buy — another chair or perhaps something to add the crowning touch to the decorative scheme. When you save money each month to pay off a loan or installment payments, the other man gets the interest. But when you save money each month in the Savings Bank, you get the interest — extra cash that you can spend.

Under certain circumstances, of course, loans are essential and advisable. But in general, it is always wiser to be thrifty—to save before you spend. Open an account in your nearest Mutual Savings Bank today. Then make deposits regularly.

Newton Youth on "Flint" Loses Heart

Carl Ellis, 23, of 21 Mount Vernon ter., Newtonville, a junior officer on the steamship "City of Flint" did not lose his life on the exciting voyage of that ship which was captured by a Nazi battleship, sent to Murmansk, Russia and convoyed through dangerous mine fields back to Norway, and thence returning to its home country at Baltimore last Saturday. Ellis, however, did lose his heart. When the City of Flint reached Bergen, Norway, he went ashore on leave, met Ruth Engelsen, 22, of that city, and promptly fell in love with her. Ellis wrote his parents that he had become engaged to the Norwegian girl and expects her to come to the United States within a few months. He will visit his home next week.

Others on the committee include Robert Allyn, Albert Angier, Joseph Nowell, Edward Crabtree, Jack Jenness, Gordon Sleeper, David Waller and Tommy Swaim. A hockey game between Rivers School and Roxbury Latin will open the afternoon events. The hockey squad, captained by Robert Cleverdon, also includes Daniel Morrison, Ted Rugg, Lester Lamotte, Robert Danner, Lynn Wilkes, John Haffenreffer, Gordon Sleeper, David Waller, Arthur Clarke and Douglas Danner.

Following the hockey game there will be entertainment with vaudeville and a magician in the gymnasium, a supper at five o'clock for younger persons present and a six o'clock supper for others. The evening program will include ice games and exhibitions under the spotlights with Joan Tozzer, Bernard Fox and Betsy Nichols as feature artists.

At eight o'clock there will be dancing in the gymnasium with John Eusden's orchestra.

Breaks Leg In Skating Accident

The second skating accident within a week in Newton occurred last Thursday night when Helen Otochits, 18, of 96 Freeman st., Auburndale, fell on the ice at Ware's Cove, Auburndale, and broke her right leg. She was taken to the Newton Hospital. A few days previous Alfred Baker Lewis of Charlesbank rd., Newton, former Socialist leader, broke an ankle when he fell while skating at Bullough's Pond.

The many cracks in the ice at Bullough's Pond, Crystal Lake and the Charles River present hazards to skaters.

Cost of Relief In Newton Lower

The cost of "temporary relief" for persons in need in Newton took a slight drop in 1939 as compared with the 1938 cost. Last year the cost totalled $301,832.77, which was $7299 less than the 1938 total.

Ellenwood Talks Of Family Life

James Lee Ellenwood, state secretary of the executive committee of New York State Y. M. C. A.'s, was the speaker at the Newton Community Forum last Sunday. His subject was "The Changing Family in a Changing World." Boys' Glee Clubs from the several junior high schools in this city sang.

Ellenwood urged that the home be not parent-centered, but a place where all members of the family do things together. He said that when he goes home he wants to be treated as a person and not some one's dad, and to enjoy family life with his children. Ellenwood contended that in the past homes were interesting because things were accomplished there. Now, one of the worst things about modern homes is the boredom of them. Instead of having homely tasks to perform, work that gave pleasure and occupied time, people push buttons and machines and electrical equipment do the work. Instead of preparing food and delicacies, people go to the corner store and purchase them. He said that home can be made a little democracy with all sharing in the finance, the fun and the work.

Aldermen Hold up $45,289 Payment To Hospital

A recommendation from Mayor Goddard for an appropriation of $45,289 as Newton's assessment for the maintenance of Middlesex County T. B. Hospital at Waltham, was held up by the Finance Committee on Monday night. A survey recently made by members of the committee proved that Newton and some other places in the county have been paying far more than their share for this hospital, while their cities and towns have been paying far less. Assessments have been levied on a basis of wealth of the various units of the county, rather than on the cost of patients from these places. The Newton Finance Committee wants the cost per day for patients increased.

Appropriations made by the Aldermen on Monday night included—$2518 for the purchase of a tractor and compressor for the Street Department; $600 for 10 sewing machines for a WPA project; $112 for a temporary clerk at the WPA projects office; $1300 additional for a water main in Brookline street; $1100 for the salary of Dr. Norton, recently appointed Soldiers' Relief Department physician.

Ask Permit for Gas Station at L. Falls

Another hearing was held by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night on a petition from Joseph S. Cordingley for a permit to establish a gasoline station at 2300 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls. A similar petition was given a hearing late last year by the 1939 Board and referred to this year's Board. James P. Gallagher appeared as attorney for the petitioner. He said the locus is in a manufacturing zone, the lot has a frontage of 106 feet on Washington st. and contains three obsolete buildings. Pumps at the proposed station would be 15 feet back from the sidewalk and the attractive building to be erected on the lot would be 42 feet from the street. Mr. Gallagher said that Washington st. in front of the proposed station is 44 feet from curb, and wide enough for a four lane highway. He argued that the church whose pastor objects to the station is 230 feet distant, and that objections from competitors should not receive serious consideration.

Harold Buse, an attorney, who said he appeared for himself and some Lower Falls residents, objected to the petition. He said that he understands that the petitioner had been approached by some persons who want to buy the property to preserve the old structures on it. He argued that there is a bus stop in front of the proposed station site and that many school children get off and on buses there. Buse stated that Grove st., about opposite the locus, is narrow and has a sharp grade. He called attention to a petition against the granting of the permit, signed by over 40 Lower Falls residents. Howard Lewis, speaking as president of the Lower Falls Improvement Association, said that the executive committee of that association had voted to object to the petition for the station permit. The matter was referred to the Licenses Committee.

Mrs. Scott Freed By Grand Jury

Mrs. Ethel Scott of Troy lane, Waban, was freed of the charge of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon by action of the Middlesex County grand jury on Wednesday when a "no bill" was returned instead of an indictment. Newton police presented evidence in the form of statements made by Mrs. Scott and her husband, John W. Scott, a Newton policeman in which both admitted that the woman shot her husband in the left buttock on the night of January 13 following an altercation at their home. Scott refused to testify against his wife and had returned to live with her at their home, following his release from the Newton Hospital. Mrs. Scott was arraigned in the Newton court on February 1 and ordered held for the Grand Jury.

Newton Residents See Brother Made Ottawa Archbishop

Robert A. Vachon of 871 Beacon st., Newton Centre; Mrs. Louise Rochette of Warren ter., and Mrs. Grace Dean of Braeland ave. went to Ottawa, Ontario, last week to witness the consecration on Feb. 2nd of their brother, Monsignor Alexandre Vachon as coadjutor archbishop of the Ottawa diocese. Archbishop Vachon is a native of St. Raymond, Quebec, and was rector at Laval University.

Former Janitor Still Trying To Get Job Back

Hugh Harold, who was recently discharged from his job as janitor of the Davis School, West Newton, following a hearing by the School Committee, has filed a petition with the Newton District Court seeking to have the Newton School Committee compelled to reinstate him. A hearing will be held tomorrow at the Newton court. Harold's petition states that on November 28 he was informed by Supt. of Schools Warren that the School Committee had ordered him discharged because he had reported for work on several occasions with a noticeable odor of liquor on his breath, he had been in a condition as to be unable to perform his duties, and he had a long record of unsatisfactory service. Harold took an appeal from Warren's notice of his discharge and was given a hearing by the School Committee on the night of December 18. He was notified the following day that the committee had stood by its previous decision.

Harold contends that the evidence was not sufficient to justify his removal, and that the notice he received of his removal was not in accordance with the law.

Make Changes In Voting Precincts

Two new voting precincts were created by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night and a change was made in precinct lines in Ward 1. The new precincts are in Ward 5. Precinct 3 of that Ward is divided into two precincts by the Boston & Albany railroad tracks. The new precinct will be known as Precinct 6. Precinct 4 of that Ward was also divided into two precincts, the dividing line to be formed by Boylston, Walnut and Dedham sts. The new precinct so formed will be known as Precinct 5.

Ward 1 has a changed precinct line. Precinct 1, instead of extending to the West side of Jackson rd., now goes to the West side of Jewett st. It had been proposed to form a new precinct on the North side of the B. & A. tracks in this Ward from Jackson rd. easterly, but Alderman Lee contended that this additional expense could be saved by shifting the present lines.

A small area in Ward 7 containing the triangle at Newton Corner between Centre and Washington sts. and the B. & A. tracks was shifted from Precinct 2 to Precinct 1. A proposal to divide Precinct 2 of Ward 6 into two precincts was postponed until the next meeting of the Board. This division would extend along Cypress and Parker sts.

The woman had not been well mentally for many years and had recently been in a mental hospital. She fell about 40 feet, fractured her skull, and died within a few minutes. Miss Brown was born in this city, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brown. She leaves no immediate relatives. Her funeral service was held at Mary Immaculate Church, Upper Falls, on Wednesday and burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

Newton Telephone Offices To Be Designated Bigelow, Lasell, Decatur In the Future

DIAL SYSTEM NECESSITATES CHANGE FROM PRESENT LOCAL DESIGNATIONS

New Designations Were Selected From Over 1300 Names After Repeated Tests by Teams of Selected Operators

BIGelow, DECatur and LASell will be the names of the new Newton central offices when the 22,000 telephones in this city are changed to dial operation served by one exchange, Manager Eugene J. Campbell announced today. The change to the new service will be coincident with the distribution of the next directory for Boston and Vicinity during the month of November 1940.

The new designations were selected from a list of more than 1300 names, many of which had special significance in Newton. As a result of exhaustive tests and careful studies nearly all of these were eliminated for various reasons, and the three names chosen were selected from a list of only 20 that remained after the tests and studies were completed.

Each designation has been tested more than 1000 times by selected teams of telephone operators in various parts of Massachusetts, and each rates high in phonetic clearness and legibility when written on the tickets which Long Distance operators use to record the details of the calls they handle.

Two of the new designations have some significance in Newton. The name Bigelow is that of the late Dr. Henry F. Bigelow, who did much to establish Newton's school system on its basis of high standards. He died in 1866 at the age of 46 years. He was a physician, chairman of the Newton school committee, and the first trustee of the Newton cemetery.

Edward Lasell was well known as an educator, also. He came to Newton from Williams College, where he had been a professor of chemistry, and bought a tract of land on which he founded a seminary for young women.

The name of Decatur, which is that of the great American naval hero, Stephen Decatur, has no particular significance in the city of Newton, but was selected because of its high rating in tests conducted by telephone people.

Many factors determine the selection of names for new telephone exchanges. First of all the matter of conflict with existing exchange names must be considered.

For example, the name Adams is a significant one in Newton, but it was eliminated because it is dialed the same as the name BEAcon, which is already in use. Also, Adams is the name of a Massachusetts town and misunderstandings would result when calls were passed to or from an Adams exchange if there were two.

The names selected must be easily understood when they are repeated over the telephone, and must be legible when they are written. Suggested names are tested by having teams of operators in several parts of the state repeat the lists back and forth hundreds of times to determine whether they can be understood easily and quickly and written rapidly and accurately.

Each of the names chosen for the Newton exchanges rated better than 99 per cent. on these tests. Jackson, a name that has especial significance in Newton, also rated high, but it was eliminated because the same name had been abandoned recently in Lynn, when dial service became effective in that city.

Other names were eliminated because they conflicted with other names dialed by the same code combinations.

The original list of 1300 names was drawn up as the result of a study of quantities of literature about the city of Newton—names of early settlers and eminent citizens, names of parks and streets and schools, names found in histories and guide books and on maps, new and old, and names suggested by many interested men and women.

Although the entire city of Newton will be served by one exchange, located in the building on Washington st. in Newtonville sq., when the new service goes into operation, because of the size of the city and the number of telephones involved, the name NEWton could not be retained as the designation for all Newton numbers, and it was necessary to make plans for three central offices. The present designations NEWton North, WESt Newton and CENter Newton were eliminated because they are geographical designations which cannot be followed when dial service is inaugurated.

Numbers served by each of the new central offices will be scattered at random throughout the Newton exchange area, and the names will have no reference to geographical distribution of the telephones.

At the time of the change the 7000 telephones in Watertown will also receive the advantages of dial operation, and will be served from the new WATertown exchange, which will be located in the same building as the new Newton exchange.

Pointing out that Newton's rapid growth and future development have been accompanied by a corresponding development of telephone facilities to meet the present and future needs of the city for service, Manager Campbell said that according to present estimates it may be necessary to build additional equipment within two years to take care of the expected growth.

Since telephone service was first started in Newton many names have been used, all of which have included the name of the city. The names have been as follows: Newton, October 27, 1884, to January 18, 1905; Newton North, January 18, 1905 to date; Newtonville, 1885 to December 5, 1890; West Newton, December 5, 1890, to January 18, 1905; Newton West, January 18, 1905, to December 15, 1920; West Newton, December 15, 1920, to date; Newton Highlands, August 1892 to January 18, 1905; Newton South, January 18, 1905, to December 15, 1920; Center Newton, December 15, 1920, to date.

Hughes Running Police Department

The following statement was issued on Monday by Mayor Paul M. Goddard:

In order that there may be no misunderstanding relative to the Police Department, I want to again repeat that Chief Michael T. Hughes is in charge of the police department. The only orders he has had from the Mayor are—"to go ahead and run his department with complete jurisdiction in all matters pertaining to the police."

St. Mary's Parish House Again Scene Of Serious Fire

For the second time in about four months the parish house of St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Newton Lower Falls was badly damaged by fire early last Saturday morning. The fire was discovered about 1:25 a. m. by Mrs. Jennie Warren of 659 Grove st., who resides close to the rear of the parish house, and who was awakened by the glare of flames in the adjoining building. She aroused her daughter, Helen, and the latter telephoned an alarm to the fire department. An alarm was pulled from Box 513 at 1:29 followed by a second alarm at 1:34 and a third alarm at 1:36. When Engine 6, the first fire truck to reach the scene, arrived, flames were raging through the rear of the building and through the roof, and they had ignited the Warren house, which was only a few feet distant. The flames attacking the house were quickly extinguished. Like the fire at the building last October, the blaze started near the furnace in the basement, worked up into the assembly hall and kitchen, and destroyed the rear of the structure, in addition to gutting most of the interior. The damage is estimated at $15,000. The fire last October caused $7000 damage. Chief Randlett is conducting an investigation in an effort to determine the cause.

Rev. George Bennett of 82 Washington st., Wellesley, rector of the church, was notified of the fire, hurriedly dressed, rushed to the building, and entering the burning parish house, rescued a volume containing parish records. The firemen prevented the flames from reaching the old church building which was erected 126 years ago. An investigation is being conducted in an effort to determine the cause of the fire.

Appoint Buse To Planning Board

Harold B. Buse of Crehore drive, Newton Lower Falls, has been appointed a member of the Newton Planning Board by Mayor Goddard to succeed Robert Whidden of West Newton. Whidden was elected a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen at the December election. Herbert Kellaway, Nelson Vanderhoof and William A. Sproat were reappointed members of the Planning Board by Mayor Goddard. C. Adrian Sawyer, Jr., was reappointed a member of the Board of Appeal on Building Laws.

The names of three Newton residents were drawn at the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night to serve as jurors at criminal business sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court in March:—Timothy Herlihy, 49 Jerome ave., West Newton; Robert Codman, 646 Chestnut st., Waban; George Kiel, 1633 Washington st., Auburndale.

Talks On Guidance Of Adolescents

Sidonie Gruenberg was the speaker at the final meeting of the Parent Education Course at Newton High school auditorium on Monday night. The director of the Child Study Association of America took for her subject, "How Much Parental Guidance Do Adolescents Need? Can It Be Made Acceptable?" Mrs. Gruenberg stated that adolescence is a vital period of life because one's personality is born during that time. Three of the problems that concern parents while their children are adolescents are—the time they should come home at night, smoking and money. She contended that parents should exercise some restraint, but not too much. Mrs. Gruenberg commented that purse strings and not apron strings are now hung onto by adolescents, and that money should not be handed out, but given as an allowance for services rendered to the family.

THE NEW TELEPHONE NAMES

Announcement is made today of the selection of the three names for the new telephone exchanges of the city of Newton. At first thought these names may not seem to be too popular nor meet with the ready approval of Newton residents. We must admit we experienced a feeling of disappointment when we first heard the names. We also experienced the feeling that we could have chosen designations which would be more readily acceptable to the Newton public, as others will also feel.

A little reflection upon the names, however, convinces us that if it is impossible to use a true Newton designation that any name chosen would not find unanimous approval. And in the final analysis it seems to be largely a matter of getting accustomed to the name for the area in which one resides.

We do not recall having heard of vociferous objection being made, in other cities, to the designations applied in many instances where there is no ready connection with the city involved. A glance at the telephone book will show that there are numerous cities, Cambridge and Quincy, for example, where the telephone area designations are not akin.

Out of 1300 names tested the three which, to the telephone company, seem to be most efficient for Newton have been chosen. With highly technical questions involved Newton residents must accept the judgment of those who have tested many angles of the subject.

THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY

The month of February, although the shortest in the year, contains many significant days. Perhaps the two events of foremost importance to Americans were the births of two outstanding characters in the development of the nation. Abraham Lincoln, a President of the United States who contributed much to the nation, and George Washington, the Father of His Country, are the two we pause to honor and revere.

We observe the birthday of Abraham Lincoln on February 12th. The simplicity of his character, the humanity which exuded from his heart, and the honesty of his soul are three attributes which the country is in need of today to a far greater degree than most persons realize. We must agree that living today has become far more complex than in the early days of the nation and far more complex than in the days of the Civil War. Yet, fundamentally, the simple, humane, and honest rules of living that exemplified Lincoln's career could accomplish just as much today as in those earlier years. The country would be considerably better off if we followed those simple rules of life with the same genuineness which was Lincoln's.

BOY SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday the Boy Scouts of America observed the 30th anniversary of the founding of that organization. More than six million young Americans have become boy scouts during these thirty years, and at the present time many sons of former scouts are now following in their father's footsteps. The Boy Scout organization is one of which all real Americans can be proud. As one of foremost character-building agencies it has accomplished an immeasurable amount of good in training the youth of the nation toward high ideals and character to the end that they may become better citizens.

LODGES

Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge will hold their regular meeting next Monday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton. A home-cooked supper will be served at 6:30 preceding the meeting. At the close of the meeting moving pictures will be shown. Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley is chairman.

Severely Injured In Auto Accidents

Cars driven by Charles S. Collins of 21 Institution ave., Newton Centre, and Joseph Barry of Aberdeen st., Newton Highlands, collided at Beacon st. near Langley rd., Newton Centre, on Monday night about 11:15. Collins, an automobile dealer, was turning to drive into his garage at 718 Beacon st. when the collision occurred. His car was tipped over and he received a possible fracture of a neck vertebra. He was given first aid by Dr. D. G. Nutter and then taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Patrick Carroll, 41, of 16 Garland rd., Newton Centre, received a broken collarbone and fractured ribs about 2 p. m. on Monday when he was caught between a coal truck and a chute at the residence of Arthur Gooch, 69 Warren st., Newton Centre. The truck was owned by the Luther Paul Company and the driver, Patrick Shea of Clark st., Newton Centre, not knowing that Carroll was adjusting the chute, started to back the truck nearer to the house. Carroll was taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

More Burglaries In Newton Homes

Two burglaries occurred in this city Tuesday evening and night. Mrs. Harry Ball of 105 Athelstane rd., Newton Centre, left her home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and returned there at 9:20 to find it ransacked. The loot included two rings valued at $225 and a .25 calibre pistol. Entrance was made by an unlocked window on the first floor.

Albert Gear of 1303 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, returned to his home at 1 a. m. Wednesday to find that someone had entered the house by forcing a cellar window open. A .25 calibre pistol and $4.75 in cash had been taken.

Y. M. C. A.

At the Directors' Meeting held Tuesday evening at the Newton Y. M. C. A., General Secretary Bascom presented some interesting figures about membership and program for the year 1939. During the year 3,047 different members were registered.

Division of Group Activities: 48 groups were principally for boys, 16 for young men, 36 were principally for men, and 2 for women, making 102. 1,305 boys were enrolled, 609 young men, 377 men, 52 women, and 125 girls, totaling 2,468. There were 2,552 sessions with a total attendance of 47,454. These groups could be designated as Neighborhood Groups, Hi-Y and Tri-Hi, Employed Boys, Cadet Groups, Educational Classes, Physical Culture Classes, Representative Teams, Special Interest Groups and Committees.

Groups without definite enrollment numbered 36. These groups were interested in Educational Activities, Social Recreation, Religious Meetings, Swimming, Dramatics, Motion Pictures, Outings, Hikes, Sight-seeing, et cetera—163 sessions, with a total attendance of 5,326.

At Camp Frank A. Day last year there were 240 boys registered, 111 men, 132 women and girls, and 43 leaders. There was a total of 12,449 camper days.

The Women's Auxiliary, through gifts and service which was given by the members, have been very helpful during the past year.

A large number of directors were present to meet Mr. Kenneth S. Dale, General Secretary elect, who takes up his duties on March 1st.

One hundred and sixty attended the Father and Son Supper at the "Y" on February 2nd. Mr. F. S. Bacon, Vice President of the Association and a member of the Boys' Work Committee, acted as toastmaster. Reverend C. Gordon Brownville of Tremont Temple Baptist Church in Boston gave the invocation. Members of the Women's Auxiliary cooked and served the supper under the direction of Mrs. Arnold C. Barker, President. After supper the film "Touching All Bases" was shown through the courtesy of the American League Baseball Company and the Boston Park Department. This was followed by piano-accordion selections by Joseph DiDuca, a member of the Boys' Division. Games and bowling were enjoyed until a late hour.

On Tuesday evening a large number of High School boys met for their Father and Son Night. President Robert Ross of the Newton Hi-Y presided. Following a report of the Greater Hi-Y Council given by John Harris, a short business meeting was held. Brooks Heath, Chairman of the Program Committee, introduced Mayor Paul M. Goddard. He gave a most interesting and instructive talk to the group on the responsibilities to the government. The committee in charge of the arrangements were Herbert Callahan, Kitt Fisher and Robert Gallant.

On Tuesday evening, February 13th, the Newton Hi-Y Club will act as hosts to the Association Hi-Y and Tri-Hi Clubs of Newton. There are 180 High School students enrolled in all the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi Clubs from the Newton Y. M. C. A.

The officers have secured Jack Despres of Providence, Rhode Island, as their main speaker. Mr. Despres at the age of ten years lost the sight of both eyes through an explosion of dynamite. He attended Perkins Institute and graduated from the High School course at that school. He then entered Brown University and graduated. At the present time he is in the insurance business in Providence. He will bring with him his "seeing eye" dog, Gypsy who shows remarkable intelligence.

Mr. Richard H. Lee, Chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, will preside at the meeting and it is expected all Hi-Yi, Tri-Hi, Advisory Councils and Committemen will attend this meeting. Algert Shapalis, David Railsback, Edward Teschner and Robert Ross comprise the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mr. John F. O'Brien gave a very interesting talk before the members of the Discussion Club at the Newton Y. M. C. A., taking for his subject "Inside the CCC." Mr. O'Brien was District Educational Adviser of the 4th CCC District at Fort Adams, Rhode Island from 1934 to 1937. This was a well received address, and after its presentation there was a discussion concerning the future value of the CCC Camps in training the young men of this country. The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday, February 6th, and the discussion will be led by Mr. Louis DiLuzio of Belmont.

Red Cross Offers Gray Lady Course

There is charm in the title "Gray Ladies," which has become almost affectionately bestowed upon the women who through the Red Cross seek to offer their helpful services in times of peace to occupants of Veterans' Hospitals, and to other hospitals. Originally conferred by the men in military hospitals, this name has become the distinctive title for women who enlist in Volunteer Service of this organization which has for its impulse and aim the encouragement and welfare of all who need its ministrations.

The Gray Ladies, with the official sanction of the Red Cross and of those Hospitals which arrange for their services, perform many welcome "hostess" duties. One may imagine and understand the anticipation with which a war veteran in hospital, or a convalescent in some local hospital, sees a lovely "Gray Lady" approaching in the gray uniform and insignia of Red Cross on gown and cap, for to him it means that he will have a glimpse of the outside world, and be given his chance to get in touch with it and with his dear ones. For the Gray Lady reads to him the newspaper, books, letters; writes for him letters to those at home; and brings him comforts, clothing, cards, and gifts that lighten the weary days.

The Gray Lady too, is welcomed by the Hospital officials, for she assists them in many helpful ways; as hostess in the office; in the collection and arranging of flowers; in planning entertainment for the patients, such as concerts, plays, parties, picnics, and for special occasions such as Christmas, including assistance in making Christmas decorations and gifts that the veterans may send "home."

But these things no woman can do until she has taken the course to become a Gray Lady, and has earned her certificate by attending the lectures which will prepare her for this specialized mission; and has earned, too, the privilege of donning this coveted costume of service. Such a course is now being offered at the Newton Hospital, under the auspices of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross with Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., of 40 Windsor rd., Waban, chairman in charge. Mrs. Moore has served as a Gray Lady at the Veterans' Hospital at Bedford, since as far back as 1932, so that she is ably equipped to plan the course which will inform women upon their duties for this mission of helpfulness and mercy. There will be twelve lectures, on Mondays and Thursdays, from 11 to 12 o'clock, in the morning, at the Newton Hospital, with different speakers qualified to present ans' Hospital at Bedford, since as each phase of the subject. The first lecture was given last Monday, February 5th, when Mrs. Marcus Morton, a charter member of the Newton Chapter, formerly a member of the executive committee, and Chapter secretary for a number of years, described "The Origin, History and Organization of the Red Cross," as the foundation for the course. Miss Faye Crabbe, superintendent of nurses, also spoke on this program. On Thursday, February 8th, Mr. Donald Angier spoke on "The Local Chapter, and the Organization and Object of the Gray Lady Course." Next Monday, the 12th, Miss Bertha W. Allen will speak on "The History of the Hospital Movement."

There is still opportunity to join the course, and those interested should call Mrs. Moore, at Centre Newton 0344, or the Red Cross headquarters, Newton North 2717.

ENJOY PRIZE RADIO

Dear Mr. Brimblecom:

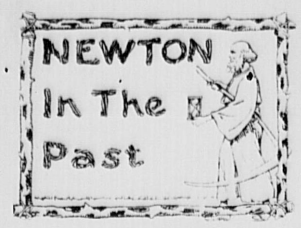

All the Hallidays are delighted with their new Victor radio and wish to thank you for it.

I had enjoyed every minute of my afternoon at cooking school and had not given prizes very much thought; however, I can assure you that I was thrilled to be the lucky person.

Thank you once more for the radio and putting on such a grand show.

Sincerely yours,
MINERVA L. HALLIDAY.

George Bridges is taking the annual census of new babies.

Four boys have been fined for throwing snowballs in the streets.

The decorations in the front window of H. B. Coffin's grocery store at Newton Corner caught fire Tuesday evening when the gas was lighted. The flames were quickly extinguished by Robert Brackett and Frank Holman who had their faces scorched, and the former had one hand badly burned.

Herbert, the 9 year old son of Expressman W. B. Beal shot himself on Saturday while playing with a revolver, dying Sunday morning. The revolver had been kept, unloaded, locked in a bureau drawer. The boy got hold of it and a few cartridges, loaded it himself and accidentally discharged it.

It is high time that the city government take steps toward giving us a Board of Health worthy of the name. The present system by which the Aldermen, ex-officio, are members of a board of health is almost worse than no system at all. Diseases caused by defective drainage are happily rare in this city, but when they do occur there is need for prompt and decisive action by someone in authority, to check the spread of disease and remedy the cause. Cases of diphtheria and scarlet-fever plainly traceable to bad drainage have been reported to the health agent, but he can order nothing done because he has nobody to back him up. The sessions of the Board of Health average about 10 minutes once a fortnight. We need an independent Board of Health with all the authority which the law confers.

A genuine blizzard swooped down on us Wednesday morning, resulting in snow which drifted two feet high. On Thursday morning it was 10 below zero.

The little pond at Farlow park is such a nice place for the little children to skate on, that it is a pity to have the ice there broken up by large boys every time it freezes over.

The Newton & Watertown Gas Company is putting an electric-light meter in Wellington Howes store to test it. So far electric light meters have not proved very successful.

There was a hearing before Aldermen Harbach and Coffin on Wednesday night on the petition of the Newton Street Railway to be allowed to use wooden instead of iron poles for the trolley wire on the new railway. The wooden poles are less dangerous and cheaper. (The company had to use the iron poles.—Ed.)

A new plan is being talked of to bring the electric cars to Newton, instead of the present terminal at Oak sq., Brighton. This plan would have a new street built to bring the cars around Hunnewell Hill, instead of using Washington st., leading to Hunnewell ave. The old plan was to bring the cars over Tremont st. to Park st., and it is surprising this has not been done, as it would pay from the start.

A conference of visitors of the Newton Associated Charities was held in the New Church parlors at Newtonville on Thursday afternoon. The interchange of thoughts and experiences at these conferences is interesting and helpful in attaining results to raise the needy above relief. The society has leased a room from Mr. Bradshaw at Newtonville and a sign "Associated Charities" will be placed above the door. It will be open on certain days to receive clothing, and to take the names of those seeking employment or those suffering.

Out of 52 cases of typhoid fever treated the past 6 months at the Newton Cottage Hospital, all were successfully treated and not one death resulted.

Twenty dwellings of the latest styles and conveniences will be started in Waban next Spring. The plans are gotten up by Boston architects.

Box 123 was pulled on Sunday noon for a fire in the garage of H. C. Hansen on Hunnewell ave., Newton; the cause was an automobile backfiring while being cranked. EDWARD H. Powers' Paragraphs

As a life-long resident and worker in Newton in occupations which have of necessity kept us in close touch with public and community affairs, as a former member of the Board of Aldermen, and because of having for 18 years attended almost all meetings of the Board held in that time, we should be somewhat better informed with what has transpired in this city, and what is transpiring, than most Newtonians. Without making pretensions to perspicacity, without posing as an expert, but, just as a person of ordinary intelligence, we know to a considerable degree who's who, and what's what, insofar as public affairs in this burg are concerned.

So it sometimes amuses and other times riles us to observe a few individuals whose interests in public matters in this city has been evidenced only quite recently, and whose experience in municipal government and activities is of similar short duration, rush repeatedly into print, publicly criticizing the conduct of our city government, and giving advice to its members and to department heads. It is the right of any citizen to reasonably criticize the conduct of city affairs now and then, and to offer suggestions. But, when any individual or group continually brags about being responsible for big improvements and efficiency in the conduct of municipal affairs, they will ballyhoo themselves into being ridiculed eventually.

Newton has been an exceptionally well governed city, because through the years it has had men of intelligence and integrity and actuated by civic pride, serving without compensation as members of its city government. These men gave freely of their time over periods of several or more years. Naturally, they acquire considerable knowledge of municipal problems in a practical way—through experience. They do not have to receive frequent advice from men who have had no experience in city affairs, and who base their criticisms or suggestions on plain figures, or theories of government. We would suggest that those who want to be of active assistance in running our city government become members of the Board of Aldermen; assuming that the voters of the city will elect them, even though they will have to sacrifice freely of their time in serving Newton gratuitously.

The United States Congress should hesitate before voting to have this country make a loan to Finland. No one has more admiration for the little Baltic country than the writer. It was the only borrower from this country which had sufficient honor to repay its debts, in striking contrast to Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and the rest of the welchers. Most Americans applaud the heroic fight Finland is making against the might and millions of the Soviets, and favor any reasonable assistance this country can give it. But, for the U. S. A. to officially make a loan to a belligerent country to enable that country to carrry on any phase of the European war now in progress, will be a long step forward in the involvement of this nation in the horrible, suicidal strife now threatening European civilization.

Most of the biographies of aspirants for Presidential nominations are so full of baloney and so mechanically written, that they do not greatly impress any discerning person.

The Newton Figure Skating Club is a valuable asset to this city, and one of the many reasons why Newton has won distinction as a wonderful community in which to live. The carnival at Crystal Lake last Saturday was made possible by excellent cooperation between the skating club and the Recreation Department of Newton. Both deserve credit. With the newspapers and radio disseminating information (and propaganda) of the terrible conditions overseas, one could not but help thinking how fortunate are those who can live here and enjoy such healthful recreation as did the participants in the carnival, ranging in age from 4 to 64. Fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, displayed their skill and agility on the ice, and afforded enjoyment to thousands of spectators, of whom the writer was one.

We did not participate in the carnival, but we had a one-ring circus all by ourself the preceding Monday on the ice at Charles River near Norumbega Park. It was the second time in about a dozen years that we had a pair of skates on, and the third time we had worn a pair of shoe-skates. Naturally we were out of practice. Our foot and leg muscles felt the strain, and we lacked confidence. Years ago when we skated frequently, we used a pair of racing skates; the old-fashioned type with long, wooden uppers that screwed into the leather heel of one's ordinary shoes. We haven't learned to balance ourself on the short blades of our shoe skates. So we lacked confidence and poise, and although we proceeded cautiously to avoid the cracks in the ice on the river, one of our skates slipped into a crack and we did an acrobatic stunt. Our feet went up into the air and we landed on our left hand to lessen our contact with the thick and unyielding ice. We thought our left wrist was broken and our left shoulder dislocated, and in addition we jolted our spinal column with enough force to knock the wind out of us. In our younger years such a fall would have bothered us slightly, but there is a difference between 135 pounds hitting the ice and 180 pounds. The only consolation we have is—that our bones must be still supple and our ligaments tough. Our wrist and arm were not even sprained, even though they were so wrenched that we had difficulty in using them for a week. The next time we go skating we may use our old skates, carry a hockey-stick for balance, or push an ice-scraper in lieu of a baby-walker.

cently been printed in the GRAPHIC on the matter of "no school" signal, interests many parents and advocates of both sides are numerous. With a school plant costing nearly $2000 for each school day, it is the obvious duty of the superintendent to make the most of the time at his disposal. On the other hand, he must also look out for the health of the thousands of children who attend our schools, and not subject them to the ills due to travelling to and from school in inclement weather.

Post Office Dept. Commemorating Famous Americans

The United States Postoffice Department has requested postmasters to solicit the cooperation of local educational units in planning programs and activities in the schools dealing with the life stories and accomplishments of the historic figures who are receiving recognition in a special series of postage stamps depicting thirty-five famous Americans. Boston was given the honor of the first day sale of a stamp commemorating Ralph Waldo Emerson, renowned author and philosopher, who was born in that city. The first block of stamps of this issue was given by Postmaster Tague in the Boston postoffice on last Monday to Edward Waldo Forbes, director of the Fogg Museum, Harvard College, and a grandson of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

It's the Early Bird that gets the Fun

The model illustrated is the BUICK SUPER *model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

ONE of these days the itch is going to hit you to get out and get in on the fun a Buick can be in the springtime.

You're going to feel an irrepressible yen to touch off that husky, sweet-singing Dynaflash power plant and swing out in gentle coil-spring comfort to take in the fresh spring landscape.

Maybe, like others we know of, you've even got the model picked out, and are just "waiting a few weeks" to do something definite about it.

But may we emphasize, in purely friendly interest, that a lot of other people probably have the same idea.

And that when they start buying in droves—as they do every year about the ides of March—even Buick's big factory has trouble keeping up with them.

Of course, we're doing all we can to be ready for everyone.

But you can get only so many cars in a warehouse.

And a full warehouse can empty awfully fast.

And what with everybody wanting Buicks this season, we can't say how long we can promise the delivery we can give now.

So why not play the early bird this year? Why not get the jump on your neighbor and be driving your Buick while he's still talking about getting his?

You've nothing to lose, a lot of fun to gain—and you'll find the address of your Buick dealer in the phone book.

The "Benefit Shop" Has Been Big Aid To Newton Hospital

"The Benefit Shop" at 795 Washington st., Newtonville, has for nearly 14 years been of great assistance to the Newton Hospital. It is an activity of the Newton Hospital Aid Association and was started in April, 1926, in conjunction with the campaign to raise funds for the building of the new hospital. During the following few years the Hospital Aid Association raised $25,000 for the hospital, and the Benefit Shop was an important factor. The Association and the Benefit Shop have continued their work through the years, and the shop has been the means of raising thousands of dollars, which have been given to the Newton Hospital for the purchasing of equipment, furnishings and supplies. The Association also contributed $6000 toward the building of the nurses home at the hospital.

In the various villages of Newton, and in Wellesley, about 120 women work for the Benefit Shop as unpaid volunteers. One day each month workers from each serve at the shop which is open on Mondays from 2 to 4:30 p. m.; and on Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Donations for the shop are sought from residents of the Newtons and Wellesley. Articles desired include men's suits, boys' and girls' clothes and shoes, books, bedding, bicycles, bureaus, bric-a-brac, old gold and silver. Once a week a truck calls for donations which are delivered direct to the shop, and persons wishing to donate may telephone West Newton 1774-J. All donations are a direct aid to the Newton Hospital. In addition to selling excellent clothing to people at very low prices, and in selling other articles at low prices to persons who may desire them, the Benefit Shop has also aided in finding work for unemployed.

The motto of the Benefit Shop is—"Hoarding Hurts." So if residents of Newton have clothing or other articles which they do not need, they can assist the Newton Hospital by donating such articles to the Benefit Shop.

One of the most important features of Scouting is the Camping Program. There are 25 cabins at Nobscot and between 3500 and 4000 boy nights are spent there each year, with the proper supervision.

The Cubs meet three weeks out of each month at the homes of various members of the Pack, thereby being brought very close to parents of the boys.

Scouting is a neighborhood activity and every Troop is sponsored by a Troop Committee which is responsible for that Troop, the Executive assisting whenever he can.

NEWTON QUINTET WINS TWO TO CLINCH TITLE

Coach Wilson's Five Still Undefeated In Eleven Basketball Games

Defeating Arlington High last Friday afternoon at the Newton High gym the local basketball team clinched the 1940 Suburban League championship with a 38 to 30 victory. On Tuesday Coach Beverly Wilson's squad journeyed to Waltham to return victorious by the narrow margin of 21 to 20 to retain its undefeated slate of the waning season. But two more games remain on the local schedule with the final league game at Brookline next Tuesday afternoon and a return non-league engagement with Medford next week Friday at Newton, ringing down the curtain on the season unless Newton is invited to participate in the annual M. I. T. Scholastic tourney. In previous years Newton has not been invited to play in this event and the policy of the school has been not to sanction but it is considered likely that should Newton remain undefeated it will have earned an invitation and the approval of the school authorities as well.

In turning back Arlington to clinch the league title the Newton team was forced to come from behind. At half time Arlington was leading 21 to 12 but the final two periods told the story when Newton played its best basketball of the year to outscore the visitors 26 to 9 and build up its 38 to 30 final total.

Olivigni started Newton off in the third period with a beautiful set shot from almost centre-court. Flagg followed with a one-hand toss while Colletti sidestepped two Arlington guards neatly in a solo dribble down the left side of the court to cage another two-pointer. In short order Newton caught up with the invaders and finally edged out front. In the final quarter a continuance of a forceful attack built up the Newton winning margin.

Captain Johnny Flagg led the team scoring with 14 points followed with seven by Olivigni and five each by Colletti and Paul Holmes. As usual Newton scored heavily from the free-throw line on fouls, caging eight against two for the visitors.

At Waltham on Tuesday afternoon the 21 to 20 victory for Newton was the second one-point win over the Watch City outfit this season as the fans who witnessed the night game at Newton three weeks ago well remember. At that time Newton scored a hectic last-minute 29 to 28 win. It was Newton's ninth consecutive league victory and its fourth by a one-point margin. Waltham concentrated on an effort to stop Johnny Flagg, Newton captain and high scorer and was successful with Bill Manning, Watch City pivot, holding the Newton star to a solitary free toss on his only try from the foul line. But while Waltham was checking Flagg his teammate, Fran Olivigni got loose for a ten-point build-up made up of four floor goals and two free tosses in two attempts. At half time Newton led 10 to 4 and at the end of the third quarter 15 to 10. In the final canto Waltham got going to outscore Newton 10 to 6 and come within an ace of turning the trick of defeating the orange and black. Once again superiority from the foul line was responsible for a Newton victory as Coach Wilson's lads caged 7 out of 12 attempts while Waltham could not sink one of eight tries.

The final period was as hectic as the last few minutes of the game at Newton previously. After Norcross had scored on a neat bit of feinting to place the score at 17-10, Bennett and Johnstone caged long shots and Manning a short toss to bring the count to 17 to 16 with about four minutes to go. Billy Betz, foul-shooting hero of the previous Newton win over Waltham, caged a rebound which was offset by MacDonald's twister. A perfect Newton play put Norcross in perfect position for another basket with Lane retaliating a moment later to bring the score to 21 to 20 with less than a minute remaining. After a missed foul shot Newton froze the ball until the gun barked.

TRACK TEAM SWAMPS BROOKLINE BUT LOSES TO LOWELL RUNNERS

The Newton High track team swamped Brookline High this week at the Wealthy Towners' track to the tune of 62 1/6 to 14 5/6 in the final scheduled dual meet of the season for the orange and black. Last Friday night Coach Enochs' crew journeyed to Lowell where they were vanquished on the boards for the first time in four years. The score was Lowell 45, Newton 32.

At Brookline little competition was offered as Newton won all eight first places and the relay race. Newton swept the dash event with Mahoney, Boegner, and Hurley finishing in that order. In the shot put was another near sweep with Brookline getting but half a point when Spector tied Jerry Hickey of the orange and black for third place with Boyer winning with a heave of 42 ft. 7 in. and Walker of Newton second.

The 600 and 1000-yard runs were near sweeps for Coach Enochs' lads with Hall and Ross finishing, one, two ahead of Feingold of Brookline in the six hundred and Benson and Klein of Newton beating Davis of Brookline in the longer event.

In the hurdles Alpert won over Shanahan of Brookline with Welch of Newton third. Elliot Mover won the high jump at 5 ft. 7 in: with Bob Edison tying Carreiro of Brookline to divide second and third place points.

Cotton won the 300 for Newton over Finerty of Brookline with a three-way tie for the third place point between Gil Dobie and Donn Ashley of Newton and Fogarty of Brookline. The event was run in heats against time.

Bill Alpert was the only double event winner, his leap of 9 ft. 8½ in. in the standing broad jump adding to his hurdle victory. Spector and Merrick, both of Brookline, placed second and third.

The defeat at Lowell was not altogether unexpected as the up-States have one of the best teams in school-boy circles this season. Sweeps in the dash and 300-yard run gave Lowell 18 valuable points. First and third went to Lowell in the hurdles with Alpert of Newton taking second. After Lowell's sweep in the dash Bob Ross and Fred Hall put Newton back in the running with first and second in the 600. Edison won the high jump for five more Newton points to which Thomas added another with third place. Alpert, with a first-place leap of 10 ft. 1½ in. was the only Newton point-winner in the broad jump. Jerry Hickey and Walker took second and third in the shot-put as the meet drew to a close with only the 1000 and the relay to be run. The score stood Lowell 37, Newton 26 making it necessary for Newton to capture first and second in the 1000 and the relay as well to be returned the victors.

The 1000 was a thrilling race with Paul Van Wart and Ed Benson alternating in the lead while boxing Dubinski of Lowell. Finally the Lowell runner saw his chance, jumped the Newton pair and went on to win with Toohey coming up fast to take second and Van Wort easing into third place while hopes of Newton victory went glimmering.

Newton, with Dobie, Ashley, Thompson and Ross, captured the relay.

Water Department Profit $53,000

During the year 1939 the Newton Water Department made a profit of $53,000. In 1938 the department had a surplus of $29,000. The department at the end of 1939 had a surplus of $81,882. The water rates in Newton were increased about a dozen years ago and a considerable surplus has resulted nearly every year. This increase was made when a program of larger water mains and other large expenses had been planned. It has been suggested several times that the rates be reduced, instead of a large yearly profit being made and diverted to pay other city expenses.

At the end of 1939 a total of $82,860 had been turned back to the City Treasury from other departments, making the total surplus $281,215. Appropriations of $107,000 for city expenses, made after the 1939 budget had been passed, reduced this surplus to about $174,000. Budget appropriations for 1939 totalled $5,277,000; appropriations after the budget $107,000. Deducting the amounts turned back to the city treasury, the cost of running the city in 1939 was about $5,300,000.

Waban Man Has Narrow Escape

Arthur E. Tappan, 30, of 39 Byfield rd., Waban, had a narrow escape from drowning on Tuesday afternoon when an airplane he was piloting ran into a storm off Scituate and was forced down by ice gathering on its wings. He and his passenger, William Andrews of Revere, managed to force open the door of the plane and swam about 100 yards to shore near Hatherly Beach, where they were assisted by Coast Guardsmen and taken to Cohasset Hospital. Tappan, employed by the American Airlines as a pilot, is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army air service reserve corps and Andrews is a private. Weather conditions causing a cancellation of the flight of the Boston to New York plane on which Tappan was to have served as co-pilot, he took up an army plane for a flight to Hyannis and return.

HOCKEY SIX BLANKS RINDGE AT GARDEN

Orange and Black 2-0 Win Keeps Newton Close to Melrose

Returning to the ice surface at the Boston Garden last Saturday following three consecutive weeks at the Arena, the Newton high hockey team avenged the 2-2 tie game with Rindge of two weeks previous by blanking the Cambridge Engineers, 2 to 0, in a hectic struggle. Co-captains Bunny Dugan and Walt Hurley were the two Newton lads who scored while the spectacular defense play of Tony Hines and Joe Beatty helped Goalie Ed Bender to his third whitewash of the waning season.

Newton forced the issue in the first period but the Rindge defense turned aside every assault by Hurley, Dugan and Fessenden. Rindge had but one real opportunity which Bender took care of neatly.

Twice in the second period the Newton first-string line got inside the Rindge defense only to be stopped by Metivier at the goal. Late in the pediod Dugan picked up a rebound, passed to Hurley and the latter found the strings in 11.12.

Starting the last period, Rindge missed a great opportunity to tie the count when Bender was pulled out of position as Rindge split the Newton defense. The open net was missed, however, and Newton still led. A short while later Rindge started up the ice on another assault but Dugan broke up the play neatly and passed across to Hurley. The latter faked a shot, drew Metivier out, and then laid a perfect pass on Dugan's stick. Metivier had no chance to save as Dugan slapped the puck home. It was the first goal of the season scored against the Rindge "freshman" line, which in the next two or three seasons is expected to restore the Cambridge team to the hockey throne.

Tomorrow will find the G. B. I. games back at the Arena due to the Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival at the Garden. Newton is meeting Belmont while the pace-setting Melrose sextet tackles Arlington. Melrose kept its one-point margin over Newton by turning back Cambridge Latin last Saturday when the latter outfit was considerably weakened by the loss of several regulars. Arlington tackles the Ell Ponders tomorrow and by evening Newton may find itself at the top of the standing.

BOY SCOUT WEEK ★ FEBRUARY 8-14

Congratulations

TO 35,000 BAY STATE LADS WHO HAVE LEARNED THE LESSON OF THRIFT

A SCOUT IS THRIFTY. He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay, but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.
— The Ninth Law of Scouting

Teach a youngster to be thrifty and you teach him the secret of independence. In every one of the 192 Mutual Savings Banks in Massachusetts, Boy Scouts are faithfully carrying forward a program of regular saving. The Boy Scout movement is to be congratulated on its magnificent service in character building. In this, the Thirtieth Anniversary Week of the founding of Scouting, we salute this splendid body of our future citizens!

TUNE IN Every Thursday Night at 7:30 to WBZ-WBZA for "Massachusetts on the March," now on the air for the second season.

Women's Club Activities

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Intriguing Program For Mid-Winter State Meeting

Clubwomen will be intrigued by the presentation of Representative H. Jerry Voorhis, member of the Dies Committee, who will discuss the "Defense of Freedom" at the Mid-Winter Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Club on Wednesday, February 14th, at the Hotel Bradford, Boston.

To the morning session, which begins at 10 o'clock, it is expected that Governor Leverett Saltonstall will bring a message from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the State Federation, will welcome the delegates and members of the Conference. Following the Song and the Salute to the Flag, the Reverend George H. Reed, Minister of the Winchester Unitarian Church, will deliver the Invocation.

Mrs. George E. Taber, chairman of Credentials and Registration, will give a report. Minutes of the Autumn Meeting will be read.

"Issues Facing the Present Congress" will be explained by Mr. Ernest K. Lindley, Washington Correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, another address that will intrigue clubwomen's interest to attend.

The president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar, will give the closing address of the morning session, a triumphant climax of events, for it is notable to have the president of the United States Women's Club honor a local meeting.

In the afternoon, Maurice J. Tobin, Mayor of Boston, will bring a message.

"America's Stake in the Far East" will be presented by Edna Lee Booker, well-known author. Representative Voorhis will then present his subject "Defense of Freedom."

Executive Board

At the January Executive Board meeting of the Newton Federation held in the Newtonville Branch Library the president, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, called attention to the following events and requests which had come to her.

Announcement was made of the Lenten Course on History and Appreciation of Music offered by the All Newton Music School.

Calls have been received by Mrs. Hay from the Red Cross and Welfare Department of Newton, for knitters, sewers, and a cutter. Presidents of clubs are asked to appeal to their members for help in this work.

The Federation voted to sponsor a Sale for the Blind again this year, in May, in cooperation with the churches in Newton.

Miss Nelson, of the District Nursing Association, thanked the Federation for the cod-liver oil given to the Well Baby Conference. She outlined the Health Education and nursing service given by the Association and said she would be very glad to speak before any of the clubs.

Mention was made by Mrs. Hay of the "How Safe is Your Home" pamphlets delivered to the homes through the courtesy of four milk dealers. Everyone is asked to read these papers carefully and to make necessary changes in the home for safer living conditions.

Once again attention was called to solicitors and Clubwomen are urged to be sure and call the Newton Chamber of Commerce if in doubt of their genuineness.

Entertaining Charity Bridge

At the January meeting of the Newtonville Junior Woman's Club, after twenty-five tables of bridge had played for several hours, and refreshments were served, Miss Fredece Littlefield, president of the Newtonville Junior Woman's Club, announced from the stage in the Newtonville Woman's Club House that the raffle would now be held for the two prizes for which chances had been sold during the previous week by members of the Newtonville Junior Woman's Club, and the proceeds of which will be given to charity. The tickets were stirred in a basket by Miss Dorothy Burns and Miss Phyllis Stafford, and the Club advisers, Mrs. John Tolman and Mrs. Thomas Walters drew the winners, who were Mrs. J. J. Hines, of Newtonville, who won a $10.00 gift bond; and Dr. Sabino, of Newtonville, who won a radio. Prizes were given also at each table to the holder of the highest score.

Gay, or Mrs. Robert Rockwell will be glad to make reservations for tables or single tickets. The charge of 50 cents includes luncheon, bridge in the afternoon, and a prize for each table. The Party is open to the public, and as the Homecraft Shop is very near the Huntington Avenue Station, transportation to and from Boston will not be a problem.

The committee has planned to contribute the profit from the Party to the Curtain Fund, and it is hoped to have a large attendance.

Delightful Display of Antiques and Arts

The highlights of the All-Day Conference on Arts and Antiques, for which the Newtonville Woman's Club, especially the Art and Antiques groups, were hostess on Wednesday, January 31st, to over 350 members of clubs in the Twelfth District of the State Federation, were the notable exhibits of water-colors, pottery, copper and brass, weaving, and other handicraft made by members of the different clubs, and there were fascinating exhibits of old lace, old glass, china, and Bennington Ware, and even of lovely old furniture which had been restored, and there was an "Old Supper table" set in old china and glass. The collection of beautiful exhibits held the intense and admiring attention of all beholders.

The parcel comprises a single residence of eleven rooms and bath situated on a lot of land containing 12,000 square feet, more or less. Webster court is a unique development of early Newton Centre activity, this being one of three houses situated on a private way. Because of its older construction, the assessment placed on the property by the City of Newton is $4500. Use Crude Means To Obtain Jack

Raymond Basanta, 20, of Norwalk, Connecticut, and Douglas Feichlin, 18, of Manhasset, New York, Holy Cross College students, were fined $25 each in the Newton court on Monday by Judge Mayberry for maliciously destroying property. Patrolmen Smith and Keating arrested the youths about 1 a. m. Sunday at Thompsonville after police headquarters had been notified by Antonio Signore of 364 Boylston st. (the Worcester pike) that the pair had broken a pane of glass at his filling station, 360 Boylston st., entered the place and taken a large jack to change a flat tire on their automobile. The two patrolmen when they arrived at the scene found the two youths surrounded by indignant members of the Signore family. Before breaking into Signore's station, the two unconventional youths had busted a plate-glass window at the Amoco filling station at 387 Boylston st. in an unsuccessful effort to enter that place. Inspector King told the court that the defendants did not intend to steal anything, and had made restitution for the damage to the window and door.

Wear Summer Garb In Nash in Winter Trip To Detroit

Clifton Stevens, manager of the Newton Corner Nash Company, recently made a trip from Newton to Detroit in a 1940 Nash sedan, accompanied by Mr. Cummings of Medford. During the trip, despite the frigid weather prevailing, both were attired in summer clothes. They left Newton on January 27 and crossing the Berkshires the temperature outside the car was 5 below zero. In Upper New York State the weather was around zero and a raging blizzard that had already stalled many automobiles proved the power of the Nash as it plowed along roads heavily covered with snow. Along the route constant snow was falling, there were deep drifts, and the thermometer outside never was over 10 above zero. The inside thermometer showed it to be well above 70; even going up to 84 in the "summer comfort" Nash.

After bucking severe conditions the entire way, Mr. Stevens reached Detroit on January 30, and with the thermometer registering just zero, he and his companion stepped out of the Nash wearing linen trousers, and minus coats or hats, just as they had ridden from Newton in the air-conditioned Nash.

They departed from Detroit on Monday morning, February 5, driving again into a raging blizzard, and completed the 1500 mile journey to Newton shortly after midnight on Wednesday morning. No hotels had to be looked up, no overnight expense incurred; Mr. Stevens and Mr. Cummings took turns driving, and sleeping in the cosy comfort of the convertible bed in the car. Arctic blizzards, mountain-top gales and zero cold meant no discomforts while travelling day and night in the "up-to-the-minute Nash."

Youth Injured When Car Hits Pole

A telephone pole opposite 249 Dudley rd., Newton Centre, was knocked down on Sunday night by an automobile, the owner or driver of which is not known to Newton police. About 10 o'clock Mrs. Horatio Rogers of that address telephoned to police headquarters that the pole was knocked down and wires dangling. Serg. Sheridan with Patrolmen Brayton and Murphy went to the scene and found that the pole had been broken off near the base. Dr. Horatio Rogers told the police that about an hour previous two young men had called at his home and one asked permission to use the telephone. The other had a head injury and was treated by Dr. Rogers, who advised him to go to a hospital. They were supposed to have been the occupant of the car that hit the pole. The crash was not heard in the Rogers home, where a house-party was being held.

Youth Who Broke Into Fifteen Newton Homes Is Arrested At Natick

Rang Bells at Darkened Homes; Then Broke Windows

The arrest of Howard Kilmer, 21, of 8 Pitts st., Natick, by Serg. Roberts of the Natick police, cleared up about 30 burglaries in that town, Newton, Wellesley, Dover and Watertown. Kilmer had no previous record but Sergeant Roberts had him under suspicion for sometime and arrested him on Monday. After questioning Kilmer admitted the numerous burglaries and told of a pawnbroker in Boston who had been a fence in receiving the stolen articles, and who had paid Kilmer but a small fraction of their value. Boston police are looking for this pawnbroker. Kilmer admitted having stolen jewelry, watches and other articles, but denied taking silverware which was stolen from several of the houses broken into. He was married last August.

Kilmer was arraigned in the Natick court on Tuesday and held for the Grand Jury in $2500 bail. The method used by Kilmer to gain admittance to houses was—to approach a house in which no light showed after 7 o'clock evenings, and ring the front door bell. If anyone responded, Kilmer posed as a salesman of greeting cards. If there was no response to his ring, Kilmer would go to the side or rear of the house, shove a sharp pointed, heavy nail through the glass of a window near the window-catch, push back the catch and enter the residence. In some instances he broke the glass in the door.

The loot allegedly taken by Kilmer is valued at a couple of thousand dollars, or more. Some of it has been recovered. He is charged with having burglarized the following Newton residences—William B. Richardson, 41 Widemere rd., Auburndale; Archie Kaplan, 132 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill; Samuel Bass, 666 Beacon st., Newton Center; Alfred Rogers, 10 Monadnock rd., Chestnut Hill; Rev. Joseph Evans, 111 Hobart rd., Newton Centre; Charles Rittenhouse, 707 Commonwealth ave., Newton Center; Fred Sawyer, 37 Fairfax st., West Newton; Hugh Cahill, 15 Bonmar circle, West Newton; James Messenger, 115 Aspen ave., Auburndale; Francis Juggins, 1820 Washington st., Auburndale; Henry Hansen, 5 Cheswick rd., Auburndale; Marie Knowles, 6 Oldham rd., West Newton; Emanuel Stamatello, 14 Hope st., Auburndale; Elizabeth Mallee, 496 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre; Timothy Murphy, 30 Vineyard rd., Newton Centre. The Mallee and Murphy homes were broken into twice by Kilmer. According to his story, he burglarized the Murphy home the second time to get some golf clubs for his fence, who was going on a vacation. Kilmer started breaking into Newton homes about Thanksgiving and his last burglary in this city was committed on February 9.

Dean Landis Talks At Last Meeting Of Forum Sunday

Subject Is "Bureaucracy and Freedom of Enterprise"

Dean James McCauley Landis, of the Harvard Law School, is the final speaker for the Newton Community Forum on February 18th, at 3:30 p. m., in the High School Auditorium, and he has chosen as his topic, "Bureaucracy and the Freedom of Enterprise."

Mr. Landis was formerly Federal Trade Commissioner and Securities Exchange Commissioner, recently presiding Special Justice at the trial of Longshoreman Harry Bridges San Francisco. He is a liberal and fearless jurist, expounding the relation between government and business.

Many of our citizens have demanded that government get out of business, and this has been the embattled anti-New Dealers' topic for the past eight years. No one has answered the questions, "Can it be done?" or, "Should it be done?" Mr. Landis and many others have asked the question, "Has not the government been in business since the Interstate Commerce Commission opened shop, or since tariffs were set up by our Colonial forefathers?"

Dean James McCauley Landis was born in Tokyo, graduated from Princeton and Harvard, was law clerk in the office of the late great Louis Brandeis, and is co-author with Felix Frankfurter of, "The Business of the Supreme Court." Newtonians who know of his appearance before the Newton Community Forum have advised Dean Landis that they want no academic treatment of this vital question, and it is a known fact that this will be the most spirited interchange of questions and answers between audience and speaker in the entire group of Forum Meetings.

A new Steering Committee for the season 1940-41 has been elected, and it is their intent to build the program for the 1940-41 season to choose the most outstanding speakers available.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Red Cross Hastens Quota of Garments For Finland

The Red Cross headquarters of the Newton Chapter at Newtonville is a busy place these days, in service of war-torn Europe. Materials are being given out to Newton women who are eager to spend their spare moments in making warm clothing, which is so direly needed by homeless refugees, families of the soldiers, and by the soldiers themselves.

Since Jan. 2nd, when the Newton Chapter sent their quota to the American Red Cross headquarters to be shipped to Poland, they have been asked not only to duplicate but to increase this quota for distressed Finland, to at least 200 sweaters, as well as the number of shawls—which take the place of the former mufflers—caps, and mittens. Groups throughout the city are now knitting and sewing; dresses are already cut out and ready to be put together; so that the quota may be sent the last of this month. The Production chairman, Mrs. Carl H. Hanson, telephone Newton North 6759, is being assisted Tuesday mornings at the Newtonville Woman's Club House, in making women's and children's dresses, by Mrs. Norman Southworth, Mrs. Joseph C. McCarron, Mrs. Thomas T. Brooks, Mrs. Arthur L. LeBaron, Mrs. Charlotte Stiles, Mrs. Oliver Wyman, and Mrs. George W. Wilson.

Yarn for the knitting, directions, and needles, if necessary, are furnished by the Chapter, and may be obtained at 12 Austin st., Newtonville. As the Newton Chapter has to furnish all materials and supplies, the expense is, naturally, very large, so that donations of bolts, or even of dress lengths, of goods, would be greatly appreciated. The Chapter used in November more than is usually spent in a year's production, due to the conditions in Europe.

Directions for the knitting should be obtained from the chairman of this committee, Mrs. David B. Galloway, telephone West Newton 3691, so that there may not be the tragic discovery, too late, that the sweater sleeve is too long or too short, or that some other sad mistake has occurred.

Meeting of Lower Falls Imp. Assoc.

A meeting under the auspices of the Lower Mills Improvement Association was held on Monday night at the Hamilton School. Mayor Goddard spoke on the relationship of an improvement association to city administration. He said that leaders of improvement associations should become acquainted with the needs of the city, and not demand improvements for their own sections which will not benefit the city as a whole. He expressed the hope that there will be a reduction in the tax rate this year both because of reductions in city expenses and in State expenses.

Winslow Cobb, Jr. told the gathering that he had conferred with Metropolitan District officials relative to changes at the Riverside golf course so that the nuisance of golf balls being knocked onto yards adjoining the course will be eliminated. John McGlennon reported that the Lower Falls Boys' Club has been organized and the use of the Hamilton School obtained for two evenings each week.

Nonantum A. A. to Honor Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs

He Has Been Sponsor of Association Many Years

The Annual Banquet of the Nonantum Association this year will take the form of a testimonial to Ex-Mayor Childs, upon his retirement from public office. Final plans have been completed, and the event will be held on the evening of Washington's Birthday, February 22, 1940, at the N. A. A. Clubhouse on Dalby st.

Lawrence Thomas, general chairman of entertainment committee, has already received a number of early reservations. Assisting Mr. Thomas with reservations are Joseph Masse, Edward Fahey, George Longbottom, Clarence Dangelo, Michael De Ross, and Nichilos Pecorari.

Mr. Childs is Honorary President of the N. A. A. and for well over 30 years has taken an active part in club affairs among the members.

The Committee is fortunate in having as toastmaster, Joseph Champagne, a Newton merchant, who had for many years been associated with well known theatrical circuits traveling the eastern and southern parts of the country.

Invited guests will include Governor Leverett Saltonstall, Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Rev. John A. Sheridan, of Our Lady's Church, Rev. Joseph E. Robinson of St. John the Evangelist Church and Rev. Martin E. Gaslin of the North Congregational Church.

Dancing will follow the banquet with music by a well known orchestra. Tickets are on sale at the clubhouse and may be obtained any evening from the committee.

At the recent Club election, officers elected for the year 1940 were: Frank Lovely, president; Lawrence Thomas, vice-president; Thomas Waters, recording secretary; Joseph Masse, financial secretary; Gilbert Jasset, treasurer; and Edward Fahey, sergeant-at-arms.

President Frank Lovely appointed the following committee chairmen, Alec Chasson, house committee; John Lemon, membership committee; Thomas Waters, athletic committee; and Lawrence Thomas, entertainment committee.

Two Appointed To Police Dept.

George W. O'Neil of Watertown st., West Newton and Stephen Madden of Washburn ave., Auburndale, were appointed regular patrolmen on the Newton police force on Monday night by Chief Hughes. They were the two top men in ranking on the reserve list.

Refuse to Pay Bill For Killing Bugs

Another episode in the sordid responsibility of the City of Newton for the despoliation of the home of Patrick McKenna at Farwell st., Newtonville has occurred in the refusal of the city to pay a bill of $112 presented by the Paramount Laboratories for fumigating the house two years ago to exterminate cockroaches which invaded the house from the adjoining North st. dump. After a vain and long fight against the swarms of cockroaches, the McKenna family had to abandon their home. The insecticide company drove the vermin out of the house, and the McKennas returned. But other hordes of cockroaches came from the dump and the family had to move out of their home a second time. The Paramount Laboratories had been engaged by the Newton Street Department to exterminate the vermin in the house, but the City Comptroller ruled that inasmuch as the work was done on private property, he could not "O. K." the bill.

Street Department Is Making Every Effort To Clear Streets of Snow

MAYOR'S STATEMENT ON SNOW REMOVAL

The following statement was made by Mayor Goddard on Thursday relative to the clearing of snow from streets and sidewalks:

"Everyone is, of course, aware that this has been one of the worst snowstorms in several years. All of the employees of the Street Department who started work on Wednesday morning worked through Wednesday night, and continued to work on Thursday. This amounted to 36 consecutive hours. Streets which were plowed Wednesday night were again filled with snow Thursday morning. I want to assure the citizens of Newton that the work of clearing the streets and sidewalks will progress as rapidly as possible."

(Signed)
PAUL M. GODDARD,
Mayor.

Appeal to Citizens To Shovel Snow Off Sidewalks

Aldermen Removed Compulsion, Now Plead for Co-operation

The unusual amount of snow which fell during the blizzard of Wednesday night makes this an opportune time for the publication of an appeal contained in a circular which the Newton Board of Aldermen ordered printed and distributed a couple of months ago. At the meeting of the Aldermen on November 27, Alderman Hutchinson offered a motion, which was unanimously passed by the Board, instructing the City Clerk to have this circular printed and distributed. A large number of the circulars were printed and sent to civic organizations, clubs and fraternal societies for distribution. The circular called attention to a former city ordinance which required the removal of snow from sidewalks by abutters in particular parts of the city. The circular contains this explanation—"Removal was required only from certain types of sidewalks in specified parts of the city. No particular plan was followed, with the result that the provisions were inadequate, discriminating, unenforceable, and in a few instances unreasonably burdensome. A special committee of the Board of Aldermen was appointed to bring in recommendations on the subject, and after careful study of our own situation and examination of the experiences and methods of other suburban communities, the present ordinance was recommended and passed.

300 Extra Men and Many Trucks Have Been Hired

The blizzard of Wednesday caused the Newton Street Department to be faced with the biggest task it has had since the hurricane, and the largest amount of snow to be cleared from highways in several winters. The 300 employees of the Street Department who started to work Wednesday morning were kept at work all Wednesday night, and until midnight Thursday, 36 consecutive hours. In addition 300 extra men were put to work Thursday morning and kept at work until midnight Thursday. They will also work today and tomorrow.

The 32 trucks and 2 bulldoggers owned by the city started plowing at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, supplemented by a large number of hired trucks. The swirling blizzard piled high drifts and made the work of plowing extremely difficult. Soon after a truck would have a street plowed, the wind would fill it again with snow. Many of the trucks became stalled, and crews of hand shovellers had to be used in freeing the trucks and in shovelling away drifts on many streets, which even the large trucks could not buck through.

The Street Department was greatly handicapped in plowing the streets Wednesday night and Thursday because of hundreds of automobiles stalled or parked on the highways. The Street Department is now handicapped in clearing the snow from business sections in the city because of scores of automobiles which are parked in these areas. Street Commissioner Haughey requests all residents of Newton to refrain from parking their cars in business sections the next few days, except when absolutely necessary, and to also refrain from parking their cars on streets in the residential districts until the streets will have been all plowed. Thursday night 98% of the streets in the city had either been plowed or broken into by plows, so that at least one lane was available for automobile traffic. Commissioner Haughey says that by tonight all streets in the city will be passable for automobiles. He stated that by Thursday night 75% of the sidewalks in the city had been traversed by sidewalk plows, although

Scatter Nails In Parking Space

Some miscreant for some reason best known to himself, scattered a large number of nails on the parking space on Washington st., near Thornton st., Newton, on Tuesday. The nails were discovered by an employee of the Newton Buick Company, and Richard Dwyer, president of the company, notified police headquarters. Employees of the Street Department were sent to the area to sweep up the nails.

DID YOU FEEL LIKE COMPLAINING?

When conditions such as those of Wednesday night and Thursday morning arise it is an easy matter to criticize those whose task it is to prevent or minimize the resulting inconvenience. We were among those who were out in the storm; whose automobile suffered dented fenders. We were among those who were unable to reach our garage because the streets near our home were not plowed. We were among those who had difficulty in getting our car started yesterday morning. Furthermore, we were among those who were compelled to get to Boston on Thursday and the only way we could do it was to drive. We have never experienced such conditions.

During the severest part of the storm early Wednesday evening we realized the futility that the street department faced in trying to keep ahead of the wind-swept blizzard. The storm was of such intensity it was impossible. In places where we knew the way had been broken less than an hour before we could find no trace of a car having been that way. On Washington and Walnut streets before nine o'clock the plows had begun to cope with the elements. By midnight other main streets had been broken through despite the menace and handicap of stalled cars. On Thursday morning, once we got started, we had little difficulty in Newton. But outside of Newton! Words hardly suffice for our experience. Already we are looking forward to the day when we can relate to our grandchildren the thrill of driving an automobile on the sidewalk in front of Commonwealth Avenue apartments, the only place to get through. In some places the ground and street were swept bare, yet less than a hundred feet beyond was drifted snow which was passable only after constant bucking and stalling. If Newton persons feel like complaining over the inconvenience they experienced in Newton, they should have accompained us if they really wanted to see something.

THE CAMPAIGN IS ON

This week Robert T. Bushnell announced his candidacy for the office of Attorney General of Massachusetts. In so doing the state political campaign has begun, although much has been going on behind the scenes for several months. The office which Mr. Bushnell seeks is one of the so-called "big six" of state-wide importance—meaning that voters in every precinct of the Commonwealth will ballot for these offices. Mr. Bushnell made an outstanding record as District Attorney of Middlesex County, both as a prosecutor and as an administrator. His record speaks for itself. Undoubtedly there will be other able candidates for the Republican nomination as Attorney General, but certainly there will be no other more able or better qualified candidate available. One of the interesting possibilities that may occur in connection with the campaign for Attorney General is the quite likely possibility that the Democratic nominee may be none other than Edward O. Proctor, present first assistant to Attorney General Paul A. Dever. With the latter the probable Democratic nominee for Governor the field is open. Both Mr. Proctor and Mr. Bushnell are Newton residents which would provide much local, as well as party interest, in the outcome of a campaign between the two.

ROTARY ANNIVERSARY

The week of February 18th to 24th has been designated by Rotary International as Rotary Observance Week, to be celebrated by practically all of the five thousand Rotary Clubs in sixty-five countries. Rotary, founded by Paul H. Harris in Chicago in 1905, is regarded as the forerunner of the service club movement in the United States. In the observance of its thirty-fifth anniversary numerous activities have been arranged.

In times such as these every effort made toward uniting in thoughts of good-will, co-operative understanding, and tolerance has distinct value to civilization. Contrary to the conception of various persons Rotary is not a "luncheon club where groups gather for fellowship and community singing" but is from every viewpoint a Service Club where the opportunity for community service, vocational service and international service is ever present. No movement could be otherwise when its principles have been accepted by men of almost every nationality and almost every political and religious belief—not because they are the principles upon which Rotary is founded—but because they are the principles upon which civilization must depend.

THIRTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

Although not usually considered as one of the largest of Newton's several financial organizations the Auburndale Co-operative Bank is regarded as one of our finest. This strictly local institution is rounding out thirty years of progressive service to the public. Its growth has been steady and sound. Hundreds of shareholders through the years have become home owners. In these days of insecurity we hear much pertaining to the desirability of security for the future. The Auburndale Co-operative Bank is one organization which can take a just pride in the efforts made through the years toward this end.

College News

By GEORGE W. HUTCHINGS, N.H.S. '39

May we once again put College News on the menu to be considered for your future reading diet. Boys and girls in nearly every American college are heading into second semesters fortified either by good first term grades or else by the usual sundry resolutions for improvement. Athletic togs and text books are being hauled out of hibernation while campus organizations such as publications, dramatic and honorary societies renew their activities. All in all, this is the logical time for lackadaisical students to launch new beginnings which they hope will result in ultimate success.

Regret at the failure of a Newton girl to be chosen Carnival Queen over 1199 other ski-togged beauties at the Annual Dartmouth Winter Carnival was offset by the glorious news received from Bates College tucked away in Lewiston, Maine. Yes, you all know by now that Carolyn Hayden of West Newton was crowned Queen of the Bates College Winter Carnival which lasted from February 8 to 11. Carolyn is a senior at Bates and has rated previous mention in this column on several occasions. The reason for her success is really quite simple. It is summed up in the formula: beauty plus intelligence plus versatility equals popularity. The Bates College Outing Club, the second oldest and largest college outing club in New England, sponsored the Carnival and the dance given in honor of the Queen. Any person disputing her selection is heartily advised to look on page ten of last week's GRAPHIC, cut out the lovely picture of Carolyn featured there, and paste it in his scrapbook.

Deviation from the commonplace puts Bates right back in the limelight. Recently a Leap year edition of the "Student," Bates College weekly, appeared on the campus as the women of this coeducational college reversed the usual procedure and took over what many had long believed to be "a man's job." "In the process (quoting the Bates publicity director) the girls learned new meanings for make-up and dating." The same Carolyn Hayden served as editor-in-chief during the innovation. Many wonder what effect the sidelining of the males will have on the college. We hope it is not serious.

The awarding of a copy of "The Flowering of New England" to Newton High School by M. I. T. certainly reflects the enviable standards set by local graduates in the colleges of the country. Emery St. George, a freshman at Tech, deserves some sort of bouquet for making the highest rating in English in the first year class. In case you hadn't heard, this accomplishment resulted in the presentation of the book to be placed in the school library. While passing out plaudits one should be very certain not to overlook the high school English Department headed by Mr. Samuel Thurber. Time and again alumni go out of their way to praise the English teachers who together make up one of the finest departments in the state—if not the country.

The class of 1938 graduated Phil Chesarone of 915 Chestnut st., Waban, and looked to see him at Northeastern University the following fall. Instead he crossed up all prognosticators and went to Wilbraham Academy where he was proficient in football, basketball, and track. At present he is enrolled as a freshman at Vermont University. Phil is majoring in Civil Engineering with an eye to construction work. This so-called "book larnin'" combined with that obtained from working for his father, a local contractor, ought to qualify Ches for any job which he undertakes. Built on the lines of his illustrious cousin, Ernie Savignano, Brown sophomore, Phil gets his greatest pleasure from football. The frosh at U. V. M. honored him with the captaincy of their team, a sign which bodes one to keep close tabs on this Wabanite in future years.

More carnival news to keep the stay-at-homes informed: Several local boys were active in the committee work related to the 18th annual winter carnival held at Tilton Junior College last week-end. Vernon Mattson of 26 Phillips Lane, Newtonville, was a member of the ever important publicity committee, while Francis Buswell Jr., of 321 Kenrick st., Newton, helped plan out the athletic program. On the carnival committee which did such a splendid job was William Miller of 152 Fuller st., West Newton, a senior at Tilton School.

Jane Hill, who resides at 16 Madison ave., Newtonville, had an important part in the Cushing Academy carnival play. She was Mrs. Seaver in the play entitled "Once There Was a Princess." She has been connected with various student activities at Cushing, and is a member of one of the Literary Societies. Besides gaining the Honor Roll and Office List, she has also shown an aptitude for dramatics.

The play was one of several attractions contributing to the 19th annual Winter Carnival. Hockey and basketball games, ski contests, a Tea Dance and a Carnival Ball made up the remainder of the lively program. A Carnival Queen was ultimately chosen from among the Cushing girls at the ball.

Several Newton girls were honored with bids to New Hampton School's 14th annual Winter Carnival held two weeks back. Portia Jackson, Hannah Tardivel, Glenna Eldridge, Ethel Schall, and Cynthia Carlisle took part in the gala festivities prevailing at the New Hampshire preparatory school. Guest of honor at the Carnival Dance was Mrs. Lewis O. Barrows wife of the governor of Maine, whose son, Wallace, is a member of the sophomore class.

We hope that the prep school chatter has not overbalanced the college news too much, but these winter carnivals do insist on being held at this time. Next week we promise sidelights on Newtonites at Virginia and Bates. See you then.

President Jack Janse presided at the regular meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club held Tuesday noon at the Charles River Country Club.

A new group of Girl Scouts which has just been formed in the Oakhill section of Newton were guests of the club members. At the end of their program, President Jack Janse, assisted by Robert Wilcox, presented each girl with an American flag. Mrs. Earl Davis is the leader of this group.

Wilfred Chagnon, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee announced that all arrangements were complete for the special meeting of the club next week. This will be an evening meeting at 6:30 at the Charles River Country Club. Members, their friends and their wives will attend. W. U. Fogwill, one of the honorary members of the club, will act as auctioneer.

Mr. Clarence Hutchings, a member of the Entertainment Committee, introduced Mr. George N. Danforth as the speaker of the day. Mr. Danforth, who lives in Waban, is a merchandising consultant and he gave a most interesting talk, with exhibits, on the subject "Sales Appeals That Sell More."

William Duffy was inducted into the club as a new member by Doc. Morley and Percy Trundle.

At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday evening the report of the Water Board was received. The troubles with the foundation of the engine at the pumping station have finally ceased. The only trouble with the water the past year was a bad taste and smell noticed at intervals in the Spring and probably caused by algae. It disappeared after a thorough cleaning of the water basin, and the engineer is now perfecting a floating screen which will facilitate the removal of the algae.

The annual meeting of Eliot Church will be held next Thursday at which there will be an innovation in the way of a rollcall.

Agreeable to the wishes of Congressman Candler, a Republican caucus to nominate a Newtonville postmaster under the Australian ballot system was held in a vacant store at Leavitt's Block on Tuesday. The caucus call was issued by the Newtonville Republican ward committee and only those who voted the Republican ticket at the last national election were allowed to vote. The caucus is the outcome of a very interesting controversy between three candidates—John A. Turner, the present incumbent, a Democrat; Charles A. Burgess and E. S. Colton, Republicans. The results of the caucus gave Mr. Turner 172 votes, Mr. Colton 43, and Mr. Burgess 25. Mr. Turner's many Republican friends believe he should be retained in office as he has made an excellent postmaster.

The Common Council passed an order on Monday night appropriating $25 to pay the Nonantum Worsted Company to blow its steam whistle for "no school" signals for 6 months as an experiment. The need of such signals in that section was dwelt upon at some length.

It is curious to see what ideas people have. In the Common Council on Monday night for instance, some of the members argued that to omit ringing the bells for a half hour at morning, noon and evening on Washington's Birthday would show a lack of patriotism and have a bad influence on the rising generation. This is on the theory that the man who makes the most noise is the biggest patriot. It is strange how these old customs linger in some places. The general ringing of bells was not a bad custom when the town was thinly settled and the loud notes came softened by a mile or more of distance. But, with hundreds of families living in the immediate vicinity of the bells, the custom has been given up in many places except on the Fourth of July; the one day that is dedicated to noise of every kind. Some people think that in order to be patriotic we must deafen others proclaiming it, for fear they will not give us all the credit we think we deserve.

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragraphs

We had an exceptionally open winter in most of New England until Wednesday afternoon. But, from the middle of Wednesday afternoon until the early hours of Thursday morning a rip-roaring blizzard brought more than sufficient snow to make up for the scarcity of the white flakes during December and January. Drivers of automobiles, who did not have enough common sense to keep their cars off the highways on Wednesday night, in thousands of cases got stalled on the roads and caused added obstacles to the plowing of streets during Wednesday night and Thursday. Suburbanites who had purchased tickets to see Sonja Henie, or for theatrical entertainments in Boston, in many instances didn't see the fair Sonja or the other performances they started to witness. Some Newtonites took the 6:53 train for Boston, got stalled near Huntington ave., reached the South Station about midnight, boarded another train for Newton, and reached home at 7:30 Thursday morning. They got thrills, but not from watching Sonja.

It was one of the most severe blizzards and heaviest snowfalls we have had for many years, and again proved that modern transportation in the form of automobiles and airplanes can't be operated when real winter conditions prevail. The Newton Street Department could not cope with the rapidly drifting snow. Many streets were not plowed Thursday morning, thus preventing automobile owners who dug out their driveways from being able to use their cars. There were few indications of any attempts having been made to plow sidewalks on Thursday morning. On most of the sidewalks the horses would have had to use snowshoes. The sidewalks were impassable, and as we go to print on Friday, a large percentage of them still are.

This brings us to a subject which we have been waiting to refer to since Nov. 27, 1939. On that night the Newton Board of Aldermen passed a motion regarding the removal of snow from sidewalks. This motion and the reason for its introduction is printed in this issue of the GRAPHIC under the head—"Appeal to Citizens to Shovel Snow Off Sidewalks." We have held this item since last November waiting for a real snowstorm to occur.

The motion referred to was presented by ex-Alderman Hutchinson, and thereby hangs a tale. Three years before a special committee, of which Mr. Hutchinson was chairman, and which had been appointed to study the problem of snow removal from sidewalks in Newton, solved (according to the committee's view) this problem by recommending the abolition of the 60-year-old ordinance which had compelled abuttors to improved sidewalks in the Newtons to clear them of snow within 24 hours following a snowstorm. As explained in the article in this week's GRAPHIC, the committee contended that the old ordinance was "discriminating, unenforceable, and in a few instances unreasonably burdensome."

The writer, a few times since the committee recommended, and the 1937 Board of Aldermen voted—to abolish the old ordinance, criticized this action. We admit that the old ordinance was discriminatory and in a few instances burdensome. We contended that it was not unenforceable because we remember that in the years when the majority of Newton residents used shank's mare instead of automobiles, the old ordinance was enforced, and it would have been enforced in recent years had our influential citizens been using the sidewalks. We believe that our criticisms prompted Mr. Hutchinson before he terminated his long and valuable service as a member of the Board of Aldermen to attempt to influence Newton residents to do voluntarily what they were supposed to do involuntarily before his committee recommended the abolition of the old ordinance. Since the blizzard we have observed that many Newton householders have cleared some of the snow from their sidewalks, thus showing consideration for their neighbors. We have also observed how many more have made no effort to have snow removed from their sidewalks abutting their properties. And they will not, either after this storm or any future storm. And pedestrians can continue to jeopardize their safety by being forced to walk on highways, facing automobiles which are apt to skid.

We received complaints yesterday from persons residing on streets which had not been plowed, and where the sidewalks had not been plowed. One woman, a life-long resident of Newton, and who has taken a prominent part in civic affairs in this city in the past, was marooned in her home on a street where neither the roadway nor sidewalk had been plowed. She was unable to reach the railroad station to go to her office in Boston. She commented that while she realized that the storm had been quite severe, she remembered other equally severe storms in past years, but either the street or the sidewalk had been made passable on the morning following such storms. She contended that the plowing of the streets should have been started earlier Wednesday evening; even late in the afternoon of that day when it was quite evident that a serious blizzard was underway. She said that many residents of Newton who were unable to go to business or work lost more than the addition to the tax rate which the hiring of extra trucks would have cost, had they been put to work early in the evening, instead of late Wednesday night.

We remember the "horse and buggy days" blizzards just as severe as that of Wednesday night, and when just as much snow fell. There was no clearing snow off the streets in those days. But, in the wee morning hours, many horse-drawn plows would be clearing the snow from the sidewalks. And when the snow was drifted there would be two horses hauling a sidewalk plow with a man guiding the lead horse when necessary. The Street Department then owned plenty of horses and had plenty of employees who knew how to drive them. It can't be expected that men who have had little or no experience driving horses can be very efficient when temporarily assigned as drivers of the horses which are loaned by contractors to the Street Department for their board during the winter months. Nor can these horses be expected to pull plows over sidewalks as well as horses trained in this work.

Feed the birds.

As we stated in a preceding paragraph the city did not clear snow off the streets in the "horse and buggy days," folks wanted the snow to remain on the highways as long as possible in the pre-automobile era. It was some task to get the sleighs and pungs down from lofts or out of sheds, so once they were substituted for the carriages and wagons, their owners did not desire to shift right back again. Older residents of the Newtons remember S. F. Cate's big boat-sleigh which was used for sleighing parties, and the big pungs rented by George Bush and other livery stable owners, and the expressmen. They remember the beautifully designed sleighs owned by wealthy Newton residents, the spirited horses which drew them, the liveried coachmen and footmen, the musical jingle of the bells on the harness of horses or the shafts of the sleighs, the parades and races on the "mile-ground" and the road near the Watertown arsenal. There was no complaining in those winters about the snow not being plowed off the highways, and no huge expense on taxpayers for such work. Automobiles have been of wonderful assistance to the U. S. A. in providing more and better transportation, both for business and pleasure, but the motor vehicles can't be operated when much snow covers the streets, and those who depend on automobiles must reconcile themselves to the fact that they can't expect to use their cars 12 hours after a blizzard, or even 24 hours.

At last the ski enthusiasts have enough snow for this sport without being compelled to travel 150 or more miles to Northern New England.

Many persons are predicting that when this big fall of snow melts, and the moisture oozes from the deeply frosted ground, we shall have a repetition of the March, 1936 floods. We hope not, but if we do, we can place the blame to a large extent on those whose quibbling delayed the start on the work of creating the several flood-control reservoirs in Vermont and New Hampshire.

Most automobile owners either displayed sufficient common-sense on their own initiative, or followed the advice given by State and local police on Wednesday evening, and kept their cars in their garages. Many, however, took their cars out onto the highways that night and got stalled, either some distance from home, or on the streets where they reside. Other autoists, seemingly possessing little reason, tried to buck the drifts on Thursday morning, managed to get cars out of driveways, and then became stalled on a street near their homes. Such non-cooperative individuals prevented the Street Department from plowing streets, jeopardized the safety of their neighborhood by preventing access for the fire department, and also have stopped other car owners in the neighborhood from getting their automobiles to or from main streets. The majority of folks show some consideration for their fellows, but it has taken the automobile age to reveal how many "I Love Me" selfish critters there are.

It is fortunate that no serious fires occurred in this city during or since the blizzard. The fire apparatus could not have reached many streets.

Boston newspapers on Tuesday contained an account of a bitter altercation at the Hotel Statler on Monday night between Thomas W. White, secretary to Senator Lodge and Daniel J. Lynch, secretary to Governor Saltonstall. The wrangle occurred following that annual Republican love feast, the dinner of the Middlesex Club, and the alleged "casus belli," according to one Boston newspaper was—Mr. White's accusation that Mr. Lynch hadn't played cricket in the controversy over the dog-racing tracks. As a result of the publicity which followed the "tete-a-tete" between the secretaries, Governor Saltonstall stated that if the Massachusetts Racing Commission assigned the dog-racing dates to the horse racing magnates, the Eastern Racing Association at Suffolk Downs, he would expect the members

HOCKEY SIX GRABS LEAD—MELROSE SLIPS

Newton Tops Belmont 7-2 While Arlington Shuts Out Melrose

Newton High leaped into first place in the Greater Boston Hockey league last Saturday beating Belmont High 7 to 2 while the pace-setting Melrose sextet was turned back by a battling Arlington team under a 4 to 0 coat of whitewash. Thus Newton now enjoys a point advantage over the Ell Ponders with but tomorrow's contests to go. Coach Johnson's lads take on the next to last place Cambridge Latin outfit and should come through. A tie with the Cantabs and a Melrose victory would result in a deadlock for first place.

The Newton-Belmont setto at the Arena was the finale of the day's games and Newton was almost hot enough to melt the ice. Co-captain Bunny Dugan dented the strings in less than half a minute of playing time and about five minutes later Newton was two up when Fessenden slipped one by on an assist from Joe Beatty.

In the early minutes of the second period Fessenden and Hurley teamed up for Newton's third tally and with Newton carrying the play to Belmont goalie Ed. Bender was left unprotected. Belmont seized its opportunity and Guthrie and Daley teamed up to jump Newton and skate in on Bender with Guthrie turning the trick.

Dugan immediately retaliated with a solo dash, ten seconds later, for another counter for the orange and black. Belmont fought back and about five minutes later the red light flashed again, behind Bender, as Talbot scored on an assist by Murphy.

Play went into the final period which was featured by two goals by Bud Hurley on Fessenden assists and a Dugan tally on which Hurley was credited with an assist.

In the individual scoring race between the Newton co-captains Hurley and Dugan the former took the lead with a total of 12 goals and 10 assists for 22 points against 15 goals and 6 assists for a total of 21 points for Dugan. Phil Fessenden, the third member of Newton's first line is also among the leading scorers being in sixth place with an 8-5-13 rating.

NEWTON TRACK STARS BATTLE AT ANDOVER

Alpert Wins Eastern Seaboard Hurdles—Ross And Hall Place

Newton's chances of retaining its Andover Interscholastic track crown tomorrow in the annual schoolboy affair at the prep school cage were dimmed somewhat this week when it was learned that Bill Alpert, Eastern Seaboard hurdle champion, suffered a slightly sprained ankle in bumping against the mats at the end of his winning effort last Saturday. The injury will not prevent the Newton star from competing in the broad jump but will probably keep him out of the hurdle race.

Thus Newton's chances again come back to the efforts of Capt. Fred Hall, Bob Ross in the 600 and Paul Van Wort in the 1000 yard run together with a possible better than average effort by the relay team.

In the Eastern Seaboard meet last week the three Newton lads invited to participate in the special events all figured in the scoring. In addition to Alpert's victory in the hurdles, Bob Ross took a second and Fred Halla third in the 600.

The Newton one-lap relay team of Mahoney, Turner, Murphy and Savignano were beaten by the fast Brockton quartet that went on to place in the finals. The two-lap team of Hurley, Dobie, Thompson and Cotton won its heat over Brockton and LaSalle but in the finals wasn't fast enough to cope with the Mechanics Arts High team, the fastest among the schoolboys this season.

Pig On The Loose At West Newton

Memories of days when Newton was largely a rural community came back last Saturday afternoon when the neighborhood near Cherry and Derby sts., West Newton, was afforded entertainment and excitement by the pursuit of a pig which had got loose. Residents of the vicinity, assisted by Patrolmen Riley and Dungan, finally cornered the pig and it was taken for a ride in a wheelbarrow back to its pen on the premises of its owner, James Bland, at 208 Cherry st.

NEWTON FIVE STRIKES SNAG IN BROOKLINE

Undefeated String Broken as Wealthy Towners Win 26-19

In its last Suburban League game of the season the Newton High School basketball team struck a snag in its path to an undefeated season on Tuesday when Brookline High held off the orange and black five at Brookline to win 36 to 19. The defeat interrupted an unbroken stretch of eleven straight for Coach Bev Wilson's aggregation which included nine straight league contests.

Bill Kaplan and Eddie Meehan sparked the Wealthy Towners to victory with the Brookline team taking a 5 to 4 advantage at the end of the first period, increasing it to 12-8 at half time and to a 20-12 margin at the end of the third session. In the fourth period Newton could only reduce the margin by a solitary point.

Kaplan of Brookline was high scorer with 9 points while Captain Flagg of Newton led the locals with 6 digits which was equalled by both Meehan and Kelly of Brookline.

Next Tuesday will close Newton's regular season when Medford comes to Newton in a return non-league game. With the season fast drawing to a close Newton still has hopes of being invited to participate in the annual M. I. T. scholastic tourney along with such other leading teams in the state as Taunton High, Cathedral High and Somerville.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association was held Tuesday morning in the reception room of the new Nurses' Home on the Hospital grounds.

Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, president of the Association, presided, and appointed Mrs. Walter McGill to act as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Theron Walker.

Mrs. Hutchinson explained that a drive for new members would be held during the month of March and hoped each would feel the responsibility for securing them. She also asked for suggestions for the usual activity which the Association holds each year for a money raising scheme, and said that the suggestions which were offered would be passed on to a committee which she would appoint later.

Mrs. Francis Williams, manager of the Benefit Shop, reported for that activity, and said that frequently furniture is donated which could bring better prices could it be repaired, and with the aid of a few more tools this could be done. The present need is for an axe for cutting wood for the fires, a saw and other tools necessary for repairs.

Among the recent calls at the Shop were those for high chairs, strollers portieres and new books. Newton residents may aid materially by donating any of the above articles as well as the always needed clothing for all ages and sex.

The first vice-president of the Association, Mrs. Charles Floyd, has been in charge of securing new furnishings for the quarters of the Internes at the Hospital, and from the grateful letter received from them, the lamps, easy chairs, and other furnishings, it was evident her work had been thorough.

Mrs. Edwin Pride and Mrs. Roy Merchant were hostesses for the Morning coffee which was served at the close of the meeting.

Rotary Club

The regular meeting was held on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club with President "Bud" Needy presiding and the singing led by Karl Switzer with Louis Haffermehl at the piano.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the presentation by Harry Hansen of many "useful" presents to Secretary Herb McGill whose birthday falls on February 12th.

Irving Atwood, in charge of the program for February, introduced the speaker, Mr. Robert Hogsett, casualty manager of the Travelers Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., who spoke on the subject, "The Automobile Insurance Situation in Massachusetts." He stated that agitation for Compulsory Insurance started in 1925-26 with the result that the State adopted it in 1927. He said that all automobile statistics are sent to the Board monthly and that by March each year they are able to determine according to number of accidents what the rate will be.

He stated that contrary to what many believe that there are far more accidents when the streets are dry, on account of speeding, than when they are icy, due perhaps to more care being taken by drivers and less cars being on the road when it is icy.

He stressed the fact that there are more strict laws governing steam boilers over 15 years old, also acids, chemicals and gases than there are on automobiles and he felt very strongly that something should be done to stop the speeder and the reckless driver.

Troop Eleven

Troop 11 has finished plans for the Court of Honor to be held at 8:45, February 16, in the gymnasium of Bigelow Junior High School. Anyone that is interested in scouting or have friends in this organization is cordially invited to attend.

T., and the assistant scoutmaster, Mr. George Motton to the patrol den for an inspection.

Scout week opened with a sermon by the Rev. Eusden of Eliot Congregational Church on Sunday. He told of Lincoln, and the boys of America today.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R.

The Annual Meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, was held on Wednesday, Feb. 14, 1940, at the home of the Regent, Mrs. Albert B. Hinkle, Jr., 26 Dexter rd., Newtonville, at 10:30 a. m. After the salute to the flag, a short business meeting was held, beginning with the roll call of the members. The records of the previous meeting were read and approved and several letters were read also. Then the annual reports of the various officers were read and approved. The election of the officers for 1940-41 then took place and the following ballots were unanimously elected: Regent, Mrs. Raymond S. Fosgate; Vice Regent, Mrs. Arthur C. Johnson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. James A. Curtin; Assisting Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Morrow; Treasurer, Miss A. Gertrude Ensign; Historian, Mrs. John G. Godding; Auditor, Mrs. Frances Murdock; Councilors for 2 years: Mrs. Everett F. Hinckley and Mrs. Franklin E. Smith.

Mrs. Hinkle, the retiring regent, gave the gavel to Mrs. Fosgate with a few words of congratulations, after the tellers announced the result of the balloting. Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, on behalf of the members of the Chapter presented Mrs. Hinkle with the insignia of the society as a token of appreciation for the time and the many services she had given to the Chapter. Luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed after the luncheon. A food sale was held and then bridge was played for the rest of the afternoon.

of the Racing Commission to turn in their resignations. It becomes more and more apparent that this Commonwealth should outlaw dog-race gambling, within its confines. This racket has brought enormous profits to a few, and is now bringing headaches to some of them.

Because of inadequate parking areas in business districts of most cities, the practice of defining parking places by means of painted lines has long been resorted to. By parking their automobiles within such lines, drivers give opportunities for the parking of more cars. The great majority of autoists are decent and considerate enough to park their cars in conformity with the painted space lines. A certain small majority of drivers evidence their meanness and lack of consideration by ignoring the parking lines. They will either occupy parts of two spaces, park their cars diagonally where they are supposed to drive in straight, or park straight where they are supposed to park diagonally, thus preventing others from finding spaces in which to park their cars. If this city can do so legally, the Board of Aldermen should adopt an ordinance making it an offence to disregard defined parking spaces. (P. S. At present the lines are not discernible.) Other abuses of parking that police have to deal with are—violation of the city ordinances forbidding parking within 5 feet of a driveway, parking on crosswalks or in bus stops, double parking on streets, and parking within 25 feet of street corners. The last two types of parking violations have caused many accidents. Newton police have summoned some automobile drivers into court in the past for parking so as to create traffic hazards. They should summon more.

Clarence G. Peck, who died on Feb. 11, was for 60 years an honorable citizen of Newton. As sexton of Eliot Congregational Church for 45 years, he became favorably known to many hundreds of Newton residents.

Last month Secretary of State Hull said—that he knew of no instance in which any American citizen travelling on a American ship had been inconvenienced as a result of the European war, and that the fears which some Americans felt about travelling to South America and the West Indies are without grounds. Also last month President Roosevelt urged citizens of the U. S. A. to travel this year to our fellow republics in the West Indies, Central and South America. The President, himself, is about to take a trip to the Caribbean. The Grace Line offers 12-day cruises to Curacao, La Guaira and Caracas in Venezuela. It also offers 38-day cruises to Peru and Chile, visiting Ecuador, Panama, Colombia and Havana en-route. The ships of the Grace Line and their service are the ultimate in luxurious comfort.

The tens of thousands who have visited Bermuda and other thousands who want to visit this delightful, nearby island, can do so safely and economically by using the S. S. President Roosevelt of the United States Lines which leaves New York every Saturday and returns from Bermuda every Tuesday. The round trip is only $70. Those who desire to remain at Bermuda can obtain hotel accommodations at $8 per day, including meals, or accommodations in excellent pensions for $5 per day. Social life in Bermuda proceeds as in former years, and thousands of Americans are travelling to that idyllic island this winter.

The Newton Steamship Agency, 11 Centre ave., Newton (phone Newton North 4501) will make reservations for you on the Grace Line or the President Roosevelt of the United States Line, or on any of the cruises to the West Indies of South America.

'Library' of Songbirds Cheers Many Invalids

In Kalamazoo, Mich., a cripple, J. E. Reed, spends much of his time spreading cheer by lending songbirds to invalids and shut-ins.

In the neatly whitewashed basement of his home, he has what he calls his Bird Library. There he has more than 100 birds, all merrily singing, ready to go out with their messages of cheer to any invalid or shut-in who requests them. All Reed requires is a postcard from the patient, with a statement from the physician attesting to the worthiness of the request.

"This is necessary as a health precaution," says Reed, "and then, too, it prevents people trying to get a free bird by taking advantage of me.

"It all started after I had spent four years on a davenport, after injuries from a fall which included a broken leg. I got so tired of listening to the radio that I decided I simply had to have something else to do. So I sent downtown for a pair of canaries. They cheered me up so much that I began to think there must be others who could be made happy by song birds.

"That was three years ago. Now I have 100 birds, and I don't know how many I have loaned.

"You can't imagine what cheer these birds bring to shut-ins until you see it."

Reed told of the blind woman whose face took on a brightness with the coming of the bird, and of the bed-ridden child who sulked and fretted all day long until the bird came to cheer her.

"Now she hates to see the night come and is awake with the first chirp of the bird in the morning," he says.

He takes the bird to the patient and with it the cage and feed, and tells the borrower how to care for the bird.

"It costs me a little and it's sometimes hard work, but the singing of the birds, and the thought of the happiness they bring to suffering and unhappy people more than compensates me," Reed says.

Termites Cause Damage Estimated at 40 Million

Dr. Thomas E. Snyder of New Orleans, a government entomologist, says that termites annually damage woodwork in homes in this country to an extent of $40,000,000.

To combat termite ravages, Dr. Snyder suggested insulation to remove woodwork from contact with soil, chemical insulation by soil-poisoning and injection of poison into masonry with drills. He added that these methods prevent free transit of the pest between timber construction and the earth, to which it must return periodically for moisture.

Dr. Snyder said that woodwork in contact with soil gives an easy access to termites. He added that where stone foundations or other obstacles interposed, the insect either builds an "adobe-like tube to the wood or penetrates through cracks in the motor."

Grandfather Mountain

Grandfather mountain, in North Carolina, was discovered by a French botanist, Andrew Michaux, who in 1794 scaled the peak and recorded this: "Climbed to the summit of the highest mountain of all North America, and with my companion and guide, sang the Marseillaise hymn, and cried: 'Long live America and the French Republic! Long Live Liberty!' " The Frenchman's exuberance was unwarranted, but the mountain, which is 5,964 feet high, probably was the highest mountain in America at one time. Geologists say it is one of the oldest mountains in the world, possibly more than 140,000,000 years old. It was created by a westward crumbling of the earth's surface. Subsequent erosion wore down the surrounding territory, leaving the igneous rock of Grandfather high above the valleys.

Culinary Tradition

European culinary tradition has many provincial strongholds in New Brunswick, where the descendants of Scotch, English, Irish and French settlers have preserved their menus and recipes in the face of Twentieth century standardization. Visitors find French cooking especially well adapted to the orchard and dairy products of farms north of the Maine border and the fish and seafood along the coast. This simple New Brunswick hospitality is best expressed in cod cutlets au fromage, ragout of halibut and lobster, rich pea soup and wild strawberry omelet. It is fare well suited to a summer sports program that includes fresh-water and deep-sea fishing, swimming and boating.

Chinchilla Feeding Habits

Chinchillas do practically all their eating early in the evening and during the night. In captivity, therefore, they are usually fed once daily, late in the afternoon. Fresh water should be available to them at all times. Their ordinary food consists mainly of vegetable matter. They are fond of rolled oats, rolled wheat, dried bread, whole corn and wheat-germ meal. They will thrive on these grain foods if an abundance of green food also is given, such as alfalfa hay, lettuce and lawn clippings.

Ask Citizens To Remove Snow

"The ordinance requires removal by abutters from all types of sidewalks in all business districts. In other districts, removal is left to the action of the abutters in supplementing the plowing service voluntarily undertaken by the city.

"Over the past five years the city has appropriated annually for snow removal from streets and sidewalks an average of $92,943. Under normal conditions this is adequate to take care of the situations on the highways and on the sidewalks in districts where the removal of snow by citizens is not required, but it requires reasonable cooperation from citizens. It is expected that future city governments will continue this program and possibly extend it as conditions require, but any marked increase in this service to our citizens would require heavy expenditures for equipment, maintenance and operation, tending to increase taxes.

"The new ordinance is believed to be more reasonable and less discriminatory. With cooperation on the part of property owners and lessees, particularly as regards supplementary shovelling and scraping of sidewalks which are used by the general public, and with public opinion aroused in its behalf, it should adequately provide for the safety and comfort of all. In communicating with you on this subject it is our purpose to ask your assistance in obtaining this cooperation and in arousing this public opinion. We are particularly desirous of this because otherwise the city government would be obliged to extend the provisions of the present ordinance, substantially increasing the burden on property owners and occupants and inevitably causing certain hardships.

"Will you, in whatever way you can, do your utmost to make the new ordinance a success and insofar as you think it wise take steps to press the matter in those instances which, through oversight, may not be contributing to the welfare of the community. Additional copies of this statement and ordinance are available for general use and distribution by the press and all community organizations, such as men's and women's clubs, improvement associations, service clubs, church groups, and the like.

"Most of our citizens may be expected to do their part without any reminder. Let us do what can be done to persuade the others to cooperate, so that the success of the new ordinance may be assured."

—Clearing Streets

the high drifts made it impossible to effectively plow many of the sidewalks. The Street Department has been boarding 60 horses during the winter for the sole purpose of using them to haul sidewalks plows after a snowstorm. He commends the Telephone Company for its excellent co-operation in handling the large number of calls sent to the Street Department.

Wednesday night Chief Randlett of the Fire Department obtained several horses from the Street Department and sent some to Engine 3 at Newton Centre, and others to Engine 2 at West Newton, where pungs had been loaded with fire-hose and ladders. Chief Randlett cautions Newton residents to use extra care as it is still extremely difficult for fire apparatus to travel on many streets in the city.

Annual Meeting Of Hospital Trustees

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Hospital Miss Bertha W. Allen, Administrator of the hospital reported that during 1939 5963 patients were admitted to hospital beds, occupying these beds 66,722 days, an increase of 409 patients and 4050 days over the previous year. In the X-Ray department 5736 patients were treated, nearly 3000 patients submitted to surgical operations, 724 babies were born at the hospital, including 9 sets of twins, and a total of 62,956 laboratory tests were made. In the out patient department 5561 patients were given treatments and instruction, and the visits of such patients totalled 18,713.

Miss Allen stated that the activities of the hospital and all its departments are grouped around one big objective, —that of providing adequate, skilful and sympathetic care for all patients who enter the hospital. She expressed appreciation to the communities of Newton and Wellesley for their generous contributions which made it possible for the hospital to carry on its work during the busiest year since its organization. She reported that the Nurses Home, which was dedicated in March of last year has already favorably influenced the number of applicants applying to the school, and it is attracting applicants of higher qualities.

The annual dinner of the Board of Trustees held in the hospital dining room, was attended by 114 including the medical staff and members of the School of Nursing committee as guests. President Richardson of the Trustees presented a beautiful silver bowl to Dr. Henry F. Keever in honor of his 29 years of service on the staff of the hospital. Dr. Keever has been appointed a member of the Board of Trustees and a consultant to the medical staff.

Robert A. Whidden, chairman of the executive committee, spoke briefly on the activities of the hospital during the past year. During his term of office Whidden appointed various members of the executive committee as advisers to each department in the hospital. Co-operating with the hospital personnel they have made studies of the various departments and have given guidance in solving problems. A committee on Public Relations was appointed to familiarize the public with the aims and activities of the hospital, and it is making every effort to ascertain the wishes of citizens of Newton and Wellesley in regard to hospital care. Various members of the budget committee of the Newton Community Chest, the largest source of annual income, have acted as liaison officers with the various agencies so supported. Clarence G. McDavitt has kept in touch with the hospital. Early last spring the executive committee of the hospital invited him to sit in at its monthly meetings in order that he might learn its problems at first hand, and that they might have the benefit of his good advice.

The Hospital Aid Association has continued its excellent work. Among its gifts were a new Bovie Surgical Unit, $250 to cover the fee for the accreditation of the School of Nursing, and four clocks for the nurses' home. The guest speaker, Rev. Samuel M. Lindsay gave an inspiring address stressing the value of imagination in furthering worthwhile humanitarian projects. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, treasurer of the hospital reported the following additions to endowment funds during 1939—Unrestricted: estate of Dr. Fred M. Lowe, $5000; estate of Olive M. Wallace, $453; estate of Hiram Alden, $150; estate of Isabel Young, $3000; estate of Emma Newhall, $500. Restricted: estate of C. P. Darling, $47,709; estate of F. L. Potter, $1114; gift from alumnae, $500.

The following officers were elected and committees chosen—Board of Trustees appointed:

Marshall B. Dalton, 65 Sylvan ave., West Newton; Joseph F. Wogan, 394 Kenrick st., Newton; Maynard Hutchinson, 15 Temple st., West Newton; Dr. Henry F. Keever, 69 Maple st., Auburndale; Benjamin W. Guernsey, 9 Upland rd., Wellesley.

Officers: Frank L. Richardson, president; William F. Chase, vice-president; Herbert M. Cole, vice-president; Wickliffe J. Spaulding, treasurer; William H. Rice, clerk.

Executive Committee: Dr. Frank R. Clark, Charles M. Cutler, Maynard Hutchinson, Dr. Edward D. Leonard, John A. Paine, W. Elliott Pratt, Jr., Frank L. Richardson, Wickliffe J. Spaulding, Frank H. Stuart, Robert L. Studley, Clifford H. Walker, Henry A. Wentworth.

Finance Committee: C. Raymond Cabot, Rupert C. Thompson, Henry T. Dunker, Louis Harvey, Sewall H. Fessenden, Jr., William E. Jones, Donald D. McKay, John J. Robinson, William H. Hill, Frank L. Richardson, Wickliffe J. Spaulding, William E. Stanwood.

Investment Committee: Edward J. Frost; Chester C. Spring, L. Sumner Pruyne, Frank L. Richardson, Wickliffe J. Spaulding.

Auditing Committee: Paul T. Babson, C. Adrian Sawyer, Jr., Frank L. Richardson.

The report of the medical staff mentioned the innovation of a resident physician at the hospital. Dr. Benjamin DeF. Lambert filled this position during the first year of its existence and Dr. Stanley Yudicky has been appointed for the coming year. The resident has co-ordinated the work of the internes and has directed the emergency service in the hospital and has made it possible for the hospital to enter into a plan with the Newton and Wellesley Police Departments giving service at the site of an accident if needed.

Fined $50 For Drunken Driving

William B. Leatherbee, 36, of 47 Glen rd., Weston, was fined $50 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Saturday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He appealed. Patrolmen Smith and Turner testified that they arrested Leatherbee on the night of January 16 after the car he was driving had hit a car driven by Mary Robertson of Commonwealth ave., Brighton. The collision occurred on the turnpike near Thompsonville. Patrolman Smith testified that Leatherbee stated on the night of the arrest that he had taken four or five drinks of rum. Mrs. Robertson testified that Leatherbee turned off the lights on his car after the collision, but she pursued him and overtook him at Langley rd. and Jackson st., Newton Center.

The model illustrated is the BUICK SPECIAL model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.*

AUTOMOBILE engineers talk a lot about car weight — and with good reason.

They know that riding qualities begin with enough road weight to hold you steady on your course—they know that weight is often another measure of size—above all, they know that weight means substance, strength, durability.

So it's interesting to note that this trim Buick SPECIAL gives you more weight per dollar than almost any other car you can buy.

With all its husky straight-eight power—power that's like velvet because engines are balanced after assembly — with all its room, and style, and comfort — this Buick still has one of the lowest costs-per-pound of any car on the market.

And nowhere else will you find valve-in-head power, all-coil springing, torque-tube steadiness and Buick's plussage in accessories at the figures that apply to the SPECIAL.

So if a little extra money is keeping you out of a Buick, take another look at those dollars.

They buy more car to begin with. More size and more substance.

They buy some six dozen new 1940 features, including many an "extra."

And you'll get most of them back in longer life and higher trade-in value —not to mention your fun and solid satisfaction!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich.*

*Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

The Open Door to the Infinite

by

WILLIAM DUNCAN KILPATRICK
of Toledo, Ohio

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

On Monday evening, February 12th, a lecture on Christian Science was given in the Church edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Newton.

Mr. Paul R. Carmack, First Reader, introduced the lecturer, and spoke as follows:

Friends:

On behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, I extend to you all a most cordial welcome.

In Revelation we read: "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him and he with me."

The lecture this evening will tell us something about this door, and the feast that awaits all who hear the knock of the Christ, Truth, and open the door.

More than twenty-five years ago I was led to open this door. As a result of taking even a small measure of the healing Christ into my mental home I have received endless blessings, which have been manifested in better health, a happier life, and in a normal and satisfying employment.

The lecturer is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The subject of his lecture is, "Christian Science: The Open Door to the Infinite."

It is my pleasure to introduce to you Mr. William Duncan Kilpatrick of Detroit, Michigan.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

The Spiritual Nature of God and Man

In its solution of the problem of existence, Christian Science, the discovery of Mary Baker Eddy, gives the fundamentals upon which to build, in its correct and final explanation of God and man. Most people today, if they are inclined to give thought to the subject at all, agree that a correct concept of God and of man cannot be gained through the medium of the five physical senses. God, as is generally admitted, cannot be comprehended nor approached through the processes by which or through which we apprehend and judge the physical universe including physical man. In other words, God, obviously, cannot be seen or known materially, for does not St. John tell us that "no man hath seen God at any time"? which, being the case, naturally enforces the logical conclusion that man in the image and likeness of God cannot be cognized through the medium of the physical senses.

The revelations of Holy Writ impel the conviction that the man of God's creating is an exact and changeless reflection or expression of God. In fact, the Scriptures state in plain terms that man is created in the image and likeness of God, and it must be obvious to all that an image or a likeness cannot possibly be unlike the original. So, if God is not cognizable through the medium of the physical senses, the conclusion that man in the image and likeness of God could not be cognizable through the senses of seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing cannot logically be gainsaid or denied.

Some may be willing to admit the spiritual and incorporeal nature of God, but spiritual vision has not yet furnished them with the concept of man in God's image and likeness as purely spiritual and without physical and material accompaniments. And while some may have glimpsed somewhat the spiritual nature of the creator, yet there are many who cling to the material, localized, outlined, and circumscribed sense of Him, which would naturally demand a material being or personality as His image and likeness.

In its full, concise, logical, Scriptural, and inescapable explanation of both God and man, Christian Science is setting free the imprisoned and embodied thought of mortals and is opening wide the portals of a new vision of God and man, which in time will not only revolutionize, vitalize, and save humanity from its own erroneous postulates, but which also will save the Christian religion from that discouraging future with which it was faced prior to the advent of Christian Science. Through this spiritualized vision of the true God, His Christ, and man in His image and likeness there is revealed the vista of a conscious present, clothed in the rainbow hues of purity, holiness, and spirituality, wherein may be found no hate, no lust, no sin, no poverty, no sickness, and no death; where harmony alone reigns, and strife, malice, and hypocrisy are unknown; where the brotherhood of man is enthroned as a natural and necessary expression of divine rule and authority; where there is but one Mind, one Principle, one God; where thought is in rapport with the holy purpose, and where boundaries, limits, and circumferences disappear in the glories of infinity.

The Poverty of Human Living

Of man in the image and likeness of God, of the Christ, exemplified in the life and works of Jesus, the writer of the book of Hebrews says, "Thou madest him a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet;" which, of course, endows man with about all the power and authority one could conceive of as belonging to or emanating from a divine omnipotent Godhead. "Thou madest him a little lower than the angels." Who, forsooth, has found it possible to materially visualize a human being as "little lower than the angels"? Is it conceivable that an identity which might come within the scope of angelic investiture could become cognizable through the senses of seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing? "Thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet." Does a weak, sick, sinning, poverty-stricken human being exemplify such all-embracing authority and dominion? Can it be said of mortal man that he has put "all things in subjection under his feet"? In fact, even with the remarkable advancement in the realm of material science, are not matter and material methods of healing still inefficient? Until the coming to the world of Christian Science with its spiritual message of healing and salvation, man had little hope for relief from the decrees of incurability and fatalism, imposed by a culture devoid of the healing Christ in its ministrations to the sick and needy. Obviously, God did not create man to become the object of a materially chaotic universe, where one part of His creation becomes the helpless victim of others of His creatures: where the child of God supinely succumbs to the ravages of a mindless disease germ claiming divine authority to kill; where one of His children wants, while another basks in the lap of luxury; where vice and crime abound, at the expense of the pure and innocent; where hate seems often the master of love; where purity and honesty are tempted of evil, and where man is a helpless, rudderless, and aimless creature, separate and apart from God's care, guidance, and directing.

God

And here is where Christian Science steps into the breach, and through its Christianly scientific explanation of God and man gives mortals the true concept of themselves in God's image and likeness, and the true vision of God as omnipotent and ever-present good, freeing men from the bondage of those influences which have ever beset the path of mankind, and offering a full salvation from sin, sickness, poverty, and inharmony.

In the quest for surcease from those ills and conditions which are constantly at war with human happiness and peace, nothing is more potent and productive of good than the clear concept of God which Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has given to the world in her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the textbook which all Christian Scientists use in connection with their daily study of the Bible. Through its study the Bible has become a new book to every Christian Scientist, and a wealth of incomparable treasure has been revealed, to enrich and spiritualize existence to the point where today much of the freedom and happiness promised therein is being realized by men, here and now, in their daily lives.

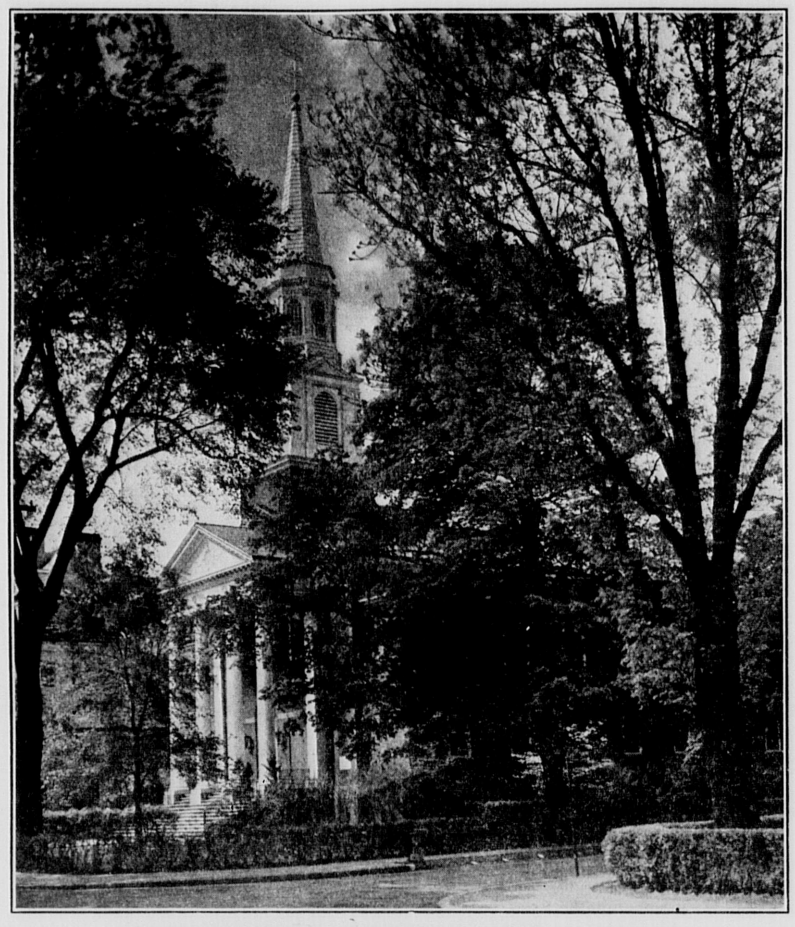

To divest God of human vestures and material accompaniments, and to proclaim Him as universal, "incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love" (Science and Health, p. 465) was not the outcome of human reason. It was the natural and necessary result of Mrs. Eddy's close and constant communion with God. Such communion is possible to us here in the exact degree that we dematerialize our concept of God and understand Him as "incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love."

In the destruction of the inharmonies — the poverty, the sickness, the strife, and the unhappiness of human living—nothing can equal the individual's mental conviction of the infinitude of God. The clear, individual concept of God as infinite effects the elimination of all the inharmony of material existence. God in His true spiritual and infinite significance is the diametrical opposite of that which claims to exist as the persecutor of mankind; and the unadulterated understanding of the infinitude of God will, of itself, prove a law of annihilation to all those conditions which render material existence uncertain, speculative, tragic, and hopeless.

The understanding of God as infinite—that is, as filling all space—logically impels the conviction of the absolute nothingness of that which claims to be opposed to God. Remember always that in Christian Science a mere belief in its teachings or a technical and meticulous repetition of its letter will not scale the heights of spiritual understanding. To affirm the infinitude of God is one thing; to understand it is another. To understand scientifically the infinite nature of God, or Spirit, is to comprehend to the point of positive demonstration the actual nonexistence of matter with its accompanying ills and limitations.

Infinitude of God Expressed Through Man

In the understanding of God as infinite, and man as the expression of that infinitude, lies the foundation of one's success in scientifically demonstrating the teachings of Christian Science. On the basis that man, as the Bible assures us, is the exact image and likeness of his creator, we are bound to the unavoidable conclusion that if God is infinite and man is God's expression, man— that is, all men—must, of necessity, express that infinitude. Mrs. Eddy, in Science and Health (p. 336), writing of immortal man, refers to him as the "infinite expression" of God, or Mind. To comprehend the full significance of the meaning of the word "infinite" we must realize and appreciate its complete opposition to and denial of that which is indicated in the term "finite." Everything included in an understanding of the term "infinite" denies the existence and reality of the finite. In a comprehension of the finite we find matter, places, things, localities, time, distances, measurements, limits, and all that has to do with things mundane. In the comprehension of the term "infinite" as applied to God, Spirit, all of these expressions of the finite are annihilated. They become impossible, unreal, and extinct.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, IN NEWTON

These material objects, or expressions of limitation, exist now in our consciousness as illusion, but through the individual inspiration and application of divine metaphysics they will disappear, even as illusion. The present individual conviction of the nothingness of all of these objects of limitation—that is, the present individual conviction of the actual nonexistence of that which we see, feel, taste, smell, and hear materially—will heal any form of sickness or inharmony with which one might be confronted. Sickness, poverty, inharmony, dishonesty, sin, and the like, have to be localized to find expression. The errors of human existence lie in the argument that there are persons, places, things, localities, limits, and so on, through which or on which their manifestation is made possible. To take away from sickness and sin and poverty a place in which to operate, or an agency through which to act, namely, localization, would deprive these forms of error of the only avenues through which they find expression. And that is what Christian Science does. It makes plain to us that these material agencies, or objects of limitation through which sickness and sin and poverty operate, exist only in the mental realm of illusion, and that as one's consciousness becomes impregnated with the true sense of the infinity of Spirit and Spirit's creation the very foundation of error is removed, and man is found free, and unbound by the illusions of materiality, localization, or limits.

If God is infinite—that is, fills all space — nothing opposed to God exists, as far as God is concerned. If God is infinite, He cannot be localized or comprehended through the senses of limitation. If God were localized, or confined to space or limits, He would then be cognizable through the five physical senses. If God is not cognizable through the five physical senses, then man is not cognizable through these senses. Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health (p. 258), "We know no more of man as the true divine image and likeness, than we know of God." And it might be conversely stated that what we know of God we know of man. If God is not localized, then man cannot be localized, and if man is not localized, he ceases to become a resting place or lodging place for these forms and conditions of material existence which require localization and objectification for expression, such as sin, sickness, sorrow, poverty, material birth, and death.

God as Mind

St. Paul has indicated to us that God is Mind, and Mrs. Eddy has included this term, in her definition of God, as one of the synonyms of Deity. If God is Mind, as St. Paul says, then man as the image and likeness of God must be mental. If God is infinite, then that Mind which is God is infinite, and there can exist but one Mind, as far as God is concerned. That Mind which is God must be pure, free from any consciousness of matter, limitation, or any opposed consciousness. That Mind must include all divine qualities — such as gentleness, kindness, and so forth — which fill all space, to the complete exclusion of everything else. Man, as the image and likeness of that Mind which is God, must be the expression of all the qualities characterizing that Mind. Such expression would be gradually accomplished through consciousness or the process of thought. Man, as Mrs. Eddy states in Science and Health (p. 475), "is the compound idea of God, including all right ideas." One could not conceive of a Mind without ideas to express itself, and in Christian Science we learn that the real man, God's man, is constituted of the consciousness of those ideas which express God. Man is actually the infinite idea of God, which includes all ideas. I have found that often there arises a sense of confusion in the mind of an investigator as to what Christian Science teaches as to God as Mind, and also as to what it teaches as to the supposititious opposite of that Mind, that which St. Paul has characterized as the "carnal mind." Christian Science makes distinction between the two—the divine Mind and the carnal mind—and the question is often presented as to where these two minds exist; how one can be distinguished from the other, and so on.

By way of explanation, let us take the two terms "love" and "hate." In one place in the Bible the rhetorical question is asked in this connection, "Can a fountain send forth both sweet water and bitter?" In other words, can love and hate come from the same source? Can they have a common creator? The answer is obvious. Love and hate could not come from the same source. Love—that is, that love which is divine—must have its origin in God, the infinite Mind, because love is universal. Anyone may express love. It belongs exclusively to no one, and therefore has its origin in infinity. You and I and everyone else may express just as much love as we wish. It is therefore not localized, or confined, or incidental to a brain or a skull. It comes from an infinite source, which, in Mrs. Eddy's definition of God, is termed the divine Mind.

Now, on the other hand, where does hate originate? It must find its inception in something quite opposed to the divine. St. Paul has characterized this opposite source as the carnal mind. Just as love is infinite and comes from one infinite source outside human consciousness, so hate, arrogantly taking to itself the same prerogatives, claims to come from one infinite source outside human consciousness. None of us has a corner on hate any more than he has on love. Everyone may express hate if he wishes to, and this fact argues for the oneness of the carnal mind and its claim to infinity, as a counterfeit of the divine. Just as God, or divine Mind, is one, outside human consciousness, so the carnal mind claims existence as one mind, outside human consciousness. Neither hate nor love has anything to do with brain. Both come from without a man, and are expressed through mankind only with the permission of the individual. Love comes from that infinitude of intelligence outside the human consciousness which we call divine Mind, or God. Hate comes from a supposititious opposite of the divine Mind which we call the carnal mind, or evil, devil. Both love and hate become active in individual human consciousness only with the permission of the individual. Just as the divine Mind is expressed through divine ideas, as, for example, love, so the carnal mind finds expression in carnal thoughts, such as hate.

In the realm of the real there is but one Love, for instance, and that Love is reflected by man in conscious thought. In the realm of the so-called carnal, or unreal, there is but one hate and that hate is expressed by man in conscious thought. In like manner there is but one fear, and that fear has first to be admitted to consciousness from without before it may find expression in individual thought or action. Fear belongs to no man. It seems to become a part of man through its acceptance into consciousness at the volition of the individual. The same may be said of dishonesty, worry, anxiety, jealousy, anger, inferiority, poverty, incompetency, etc. Each of these qualities exists as one, in a supposititious carnal mind outside human consciousness, and all become a part of mankind's experience only to the extent that individuals admit them into consciousness.

Copies of the Christian Science Lecture in this issue may be obtained at the Newton Graphic Office, 11 Centre Ave., Newton, Mass. Tel. New. No. 4354.

Man Is God-Governed

Now, God, or divine Mind, is infinite, and man is God's exact image. Therefore man, as the expression or idea of God, must be conscious of nothing but the infinite. Man's true being is his consciousness of the divine, hence man's consciousness rests only in the infinite. Therefore, man cannot be conscious of a localized or flesh-embound existence. He is conscious only of the Mind of which he is the expression, and is therefore dependent upon no mind of his own apart from God, but manifests the intelligence, wisdom, and harmony of an all-seeing, all-knowing, omnipotent divinity. Man as the conscious expression of this one Mind is not subject to the belief of minds many, wills many, or purposes many, and is therefore never confronted with the problem of confusion, misdirection, misunderstanding, indecision, mistakes, aggressive mental suggestion, or mental malpractice. God, of whom man is an idea, governs man with unerring intelligence, wisdom, and accuracy. As all the ideas of Mind are co-ordinated and harmonized under one infinite and divine intelligence, man can never be subject to any sense of inharmony, friction, irritation, competition, or interference. The ideas of divine Mind, individualized in consciousness, constitute the real embodiment or body of man, and since those ideas express the infinitude of the Mind from which they come, man's real identity exists in and consists of his consciousness of infinite being, and is not localized or circumscribed. Therefore man's real body, an incorporeal spiritual idea, cannot become the agency through which sickness, poverty, sin, and the like find manifestation, because these conditions require a material body, a place, or a thing through which to make themselves manifest. The unfoldment and application of these spiritual truths of existence in your individual consciousness constitute the Saviour, or the Christ, of which Jesus spake when he said, "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world"—even to that time when spiritual ideas shall have so filled individual consciousness that the material will have completely disappeared in individual experience.

The Chimerical Nature of Matter

Jesus explained that God is Spirit, and Spirit is one of the synonyms used by Mrs. Eddy in defining God. God is infinite, fills all space; hence, as far as God, Spirit, is concerned, there can be no opposite. God's consciousness of His own infinite spiritual Being does not permit the existence of anything opposite to Spirit. Matter, to human consciousness only, is the opposite of Spirit. Therefore, as far as God is concerned, there is no matter. But to you and me there seems to be matter. Where does this matter come from, and how are we conscious of it? It comes from that one carnal mind which claims an existence opposed to Spirit, and to the extent that you and I admit into consciousness thoughts which claim to come from this carnal mind, to that extent do we live in matter, as a material body and a material universe.

Many of us here can well remember the great cry of protest that was sent up in the land when Mrs. Eddy first declared that "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter" (Science and Health, p. 468). Not only was she persecuted by pulpit and press for this revolutionary utterance, but physical science, through its representatives, declared her a cheat and impostor because she dared to defy the findings of that august profession. What a change has been wrought in the world's opinion through the discovery of this meek, modest, New England gentlewoman, especially in the ranks of the physical scientists! Today one can hardly pick up a newspaper without finding some statement from physical scientists which confirms definitely and conclusively that which Mrs. Eddy gave to the world nearly three quarters of a century ago.

One prominent physical scientist of Cambridge University in England, for example, states: "Of the intrinsic nature of matter, science knows nothing and never can know anything. Of what matter is science tells us nothing." And this same gentleman, commenting on nature and its laws, states: "The 'iron laws' of nature . . . acquire an entirely new status as the result of recent scientific work. It can be shown that these laws are the results of the mind's own action. . The laws of nature are not something imposed on an independently existing universe from without. Indeed, not only the laws of nature, but space and time and the material universe itself, are constructions of the human mind. . . . To an altogether unsuspected extent the universe we live in is the creation of our own minds." This is but one of the many similar declarations from the ranks of physicists with which we are repeatedly confronted.

So, your and my concept of matter and material existence lies only in our own consciousness, and this consciousness originates in a mind which is unknown to God, and which therefore in no way conflicts or interferes with the infinitude of Spirit, or God. Right where this carnal mind which you and I hold in our individual consciousness tells us there is a material universe, material man and things, there exists in all its entirety, infinity, and purity, the spiritual creation of God's making, untouched by and utterly unconscious of the supposititious existence of any other creation. Matter exists only as an illusion in your and my consciousness. Change consciousness and the illusion changes. Spiritualize consciousness and matter disappears.

The Collective and Individual Nature of the Universe

As matter is a concept of the carnal mind held in the individual human consciousness, the experience of putting "off the old man with his deeds," and putting "on the new man," in accordance with St. Paul's advice, is a mental operation, and is not achieved through death. St. Paul clearly admonishes us that the putting "off the old man," that is, the material man, and the putting "on the new man," that is, the man of God's creating, or spiritual man, is to be accomplished through the renewing of the mind, and not by dying. Jesus said, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away," by which he means that our material concepts of existence must be replaced in consciousness by the spiritual truths which he came to establish, and thereby are we to be translated from the material to the spiritual, rather than by death. Also St. John tells us that in that ideal and spiritual state of existence, to which we must all sooner or later achieve, "the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof." On page 209 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes: "The compounded minerals or aggregated substances composing the earth, the relations which constituent masses hold to each other, the magnitudes, distances, and revolutions of the celestial bodies, are of no real importance. when we remember that they all must give place to the spiritual fact by the translation of man and the universe back into Spirit. In proportion as this is done, man and the universe will be found harmonious and eternal."

In making this mental transposition of existence from the material to the spiritual we must watch lest we fall into the error of mentally uniting matter, or the unreal, with the spiritual, or real: in other words, spiritualizing matter. To become clear in this we must hold to the primary fact that there is nothing in God's universe but the spiritual. There is no matter. Matter exists only as a fiction of the carnal mind, claiming to operate both collectively and individually. and manifesting itself through human consciousness to the extent that individual consciousness accepts this fiction as real. Matter does not exist as a phenomenon of the carnal, or mortal mind, independent of the human consciousness.

On page 67 of "Retrospection and Introspection," in an article entitled "The Human Concept," Mrs. Eddy writes, "Sin existed as a false claim before the human concept of sin was formed: hence one's concept of error is not the whole of error." The carnal mind thus operating through the human consciousness creates its own material world.

Mental Translation

The material has no connection with the spiritual at any point, and in making the mental translation of the material into the spiritual we cannot unite the two. The translation of the material into the spiritual is an individual mental operation. It consists in replacing in individual consciousness material misconceptions with spiritual facts or ideas, and those material misconceptions which we replace with spiritual ideas or facts have no connection with and are not dependent upon the spiritual at any point, and do not exist because of the spiritual. In other words, in place of material things there are divine ideas, which exist independently of and separate from the material, and which have no connection whatever with the material, not even in name or in nature. While the material is a counterfeit of the spiritual, it is a counterfeit in the sense that the material is unreal. The divine knows nothing of the carnal and the carnal knows nothing of the divine, and therefore the carnal counterfeit is not formed with the divine as a pattern. The carnal is not a counterfeit made with the divine as a pattern, because both the divine and the carnal are unconscious of the existence of the other. The carnal, or material, is a counterfeit of the divine, in that it is unreal and untrue.

In Science and Health (p. 513) Mrs. Eddy makes this very pertinent observation in this connection: "God creates all forms of reality. His thoughts are spiritual realities. So-called mortal mind—being non-existent and consequently not within the range of immortal existence—could not by simulating deific power invert the divine creation, and afterwards recreate persons or things upon its own plane, since nothing exists beyond the range of all-inclusive infinity, in which and of which God is the sole creator." Then on page 269 of Science and Health she simplifies the question in the statement, "Metaphysics resolves things into thoughts, and exchanges the objects of sense for the ideas of Soul." In other words, metaphysics recognizes that material things are simply material thoughts and that back of a material object, or matter, there is nothing but material or carnal thought and that the process of translating material things into the spiritual consists in exchanging in individual consciousness carnal thoughts for divine ideas. The divine ideas which we put in place of carnal thoughts have no connection with or relation to the carnal thoughts which we thus eliminate. We do not change carnal thoughts or carnal things. We eliminate them, and in place thereof we find divine ideas, with which the material has no connection or relationship. And in this we avoid confusion by watching lest we localize the spiritual by the use of material terminology or verbiage. Mrs. Eddy has given us some clear examples of the translation of the material into the spiritual where, for instance, in Science and Health (p. 515) she symbolizes "the tireless worm, creeping over lofty summits, persevering in its intent" to patience; where she says that "the serpent of God's creating is neither subtle nor poisonous, but is a wise idea, charming in its adroitness;" where she says (pp. 511, 512), "Spiritually interpreted, rocks and mountains stand for solid and grand ideas," and where she says that "the fowls, which fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven, correspond to aspirations soaring beyond and above corporeality to the understanding of the incorporeal and divine Principle, Love."

Thus in consciously translating the material into the spiritual we must watch lest we mentally and erroneously conceive matter and its manifestations to be material counterparts instead of mental counterfeits of creation. In place of matter, not back of it, is Spirit. The point is, that a material thing or object is not postulated on a specific spiritual idea of that thing. Spiritual ideas are not forerunners of matter, but through reversal and translation Spirit becomes the ultimate of matter.

Heredity

Under the explanation that God is infinite Spirit, and that man is God's image and likeness, man must be recognized as wholly spiritual, expressing the infinitude of Spirit, which admits no boundaries or limits. Thus, in our concept of man as God's child are we able, in consciousness, to deprive him of those elements of materiality, limitation, and personality which render mortal man the object of all the ills to which flesh is heir. In Christian Science, we always hold to the conviction that man's true being lies in his consciousness of spiritual ideas, and that matter exists only as a mental illusion, and not as a material entity. Man's understanding and reflection of God constitute man's true being.

There is nothing relative in Christian Science when considered as the true or real Science of being. Everything having to do with real being exists in the absolute. There is no process, as that term is materially comprehended, in God's kingdom, as all creation is complete in the divine consciousness. There is no development, as that term is materially understood, in truth, as man has no beginning and no end. While man, as a spiritual idea, is "forever developing, . . . broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis" (Science and Health, p. 258), yet there is no progress, as this term is ordinarily understood, from a state of imperfection in the realm of the real; for man is eternal in his complete and full expression of the infinite nature of the Almighty. In the realm of matter. existence expresses a constant flux or change—conception, development. birth, growth, maturity, decline, and death. In Spirit, and in the realm of the spiritual, nothing changes. All is eternal. In the realm of the real, man was never thrust out of Spirit and born into matter. He never passed through any state or stage of foetal existence. He never passed through any period of experience of material conception, germina-

"My Daddy will take care of us"

"I GUESS I have the best father in the whole world. . . . The other day when we were having supper, I heard him tell mummy he went to the savings bank and got another thousand dollars of insurance.

"Afterwards — I asked mummy what insurance is . . . and she said it was to take care of us in case something happened. I said my daddy will always take care of us and mummy said that was just it, insurance was one way he was making sure that he could."

At 10:30, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, chairman of the day, will read from Werner's "Barnum, Showman," a paper which was not given earlier in the year owing to the death of the one to whom it had been assigned, Mrs. Mervyn Bailey.

Mrs. Otis Cary will follow with a review of Anna Howard Shaw's book, "The Story of a Pioneer," and the final paper will be read by Mrs. William P. DeWitt, whose biographer will be Dimmet, and the book to be reviewed will be "Charlotte Bronte and Her Sisters."

Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, of Wolcott st., was hostess for the meeting of the Review Club on Tuesday morning, February 6th, when the program of "Biographies" took a musical trend, and the lives of two composers and musicians were reviewed.

Mrs. Nelson Freeman, an Honorary member of the Club, and the former organist of a Brighton church for many years, was able to be present, to the great pleasure of the Club. She opened the morning with Paderewski's Minuet, and as each paper was read, played other compositions illustrative of the reviews. During the business meeting, the president, Mrs. Eugene Ufford, announced that the program voted at the midwinter business meeting a week previous would be "Our Southern Neighbors," and that the chairman of the Program committee for the coming year would be Mrs. Charles Valentine, assisted by Mrs. Edward Kelly and Miss Elizabeth Eaton. This program will be prepared during the next two months and presented to the Club at the Annual Meeting in April.

Social Science Club Guest Meeting

"Lyric Poetry" will be the subject of a talk by Mr. Lloyd Haberly to be given at the Guest Meeting of the Social Science Club to be held at 10 a. m., Wednesday, February 21, at Channing Church. The hostesses will be Mrs. Frederick S. Bacon and Mrs. Arnold C. Barker.

West Newton Community Service Club

For a few moments on Club Day, the Community Service Club of West Newton will pause to rededicate itself to its original idea of world-wide service. It was during the World War that public-spirited women of West Newton formed a Red Cross group which functioned actively all through that period in every phase of relief work. In 1920 this same group became the Community Service Club of West Newton and based its program on "Service." It seems especially fitting, then, that at this particular time, the Club should turn again to its original humanitarian purpose, and begin to celebrate its twentieth birthday year by giving the members an opportunity to make an offering to the Finnish Relief Fund. During the meeting on Wednesday afternoon, February 21st, at 2 o'clock, in the Second Church Parish House, a little time will be taken to pay tribute to the heroic stand of the Finnish people, and a collection will be taken which will be sent immediately to that suffering nation.

The program of the afternoon will be Alice Mansur in a Recital which will be an interpretation of "Great Poetry," demonstrating its meaning and music in a delightful and interesting manner. She will be presented by Mrs. Hortense Creede Railsback, Program chairman. Mrs. A. Dudley Bach will have charge of the social hour and Tea following the program.

Morning Musicales

Mrs. Edson B. Smith, 31 Larch rd., will open her home Friday, February 23, at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Smith, as Music chairman of the Waban Woman's Club, has arranged again this year a series of three lectures by Professor Edward Barry Greene, of Wellesley College. All these Musicales will be held in private homes, and a morning coffee will follow the lecture. Mrs. Smith will be assisted by members of her committee, Mrs. Edwin Howard Baker, Mrs. Harry W. Bacon, Mrs. Lyman P. Gutterson, Mrs. Mark R. Lucas, and Mrs. N. Parker Swift.

Professor Greene is assistant director of Music at Wellesley College and directs the Choral Club. His lectures drew a large audience of music lovers last year, and announcement of this series met with enthusiastic response this year. Professor Greene will talk on "Mozart and Schumann, Classic and Romantic Music" on February 23rd.

The second Musicale will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph J. Heard, 86 Upland rd., on March 8th. The discussion will be on "The Opera."

Mrs. William Coburn, 9 Old Orchard rd., Chestnut Hill, will open her home on March 22nd for the third Musicale, when Professor Greene will talk on "Brahms and the Symphony." These lectures are all beautifully illustrated with music. The series has been entirely subscribed for, but tickets for the last lecture may be obtained.

Tickets Available for Flower Show

Members of the Newton Garden Club and their friends will welcome the announcement that under the auspices of the Club they will have opportunity to secure tickets in advance for the Spring Flower Show in Boston scheduled to be held from March 11th to March 16th, at a reduced rate until March 2nd. Tickets at 75 cents may be obtained from Mrs. Louis M. Spear, 277 Park st., and from Mrs. Arthur C. Johnson, Mrs. Edwin B. Smith, Miss Elizabeth Fuller, Mrs. Everett E. Kent, Mrs. Elliott B. Church, Mrs. Thomas Fox, and Mrs. B. G. Secord.

Newton Community Club

Miss Marian Hertha Clarke treated the members of the Newton Community Club to a most stimulating afternoon last Thursday, February 8, with her "Radio-Off the Record" lecture. She talked on all phases of radio, including advertising, programs, propaganda, and government control, pointing out that it is either a case of listening to advertising talks on the programs or else allowing the government to control programs, in which case, as she humorously said, the government would hardly pay several thousand dollars to put Kate Smith on the air when they could get Ickes for nothing. Also this would mean a tax for everyone owning a radio, this country being the last one to have free radio, she declared.

Miss Clarke also urged that one "listen with mind instead of emotions"; and "challenge every statement until it is proven," especially as it regards the war situation, intimating that network news commentators give the fairest news.

"Box tops" are what are keeping a great many programs on the air, according to Miss Clarke, and she said that the public is too prone to criticize, but is negligent in writing about some particularly pleasing program, which, after all, is the only way sponsors and stations can know that a program is "going across."

Miss Clarke's "off the record" discussion on politics during the Tea, when she was completely surrounded by women hurling questions at her, was most interesting.

Mrs. William Burnett and her committee served tea, those assisting her at the table being Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland, Mrs. Samuel A. Nash, and Miss Alice F. Emery.

The Charm of Old Charleston

The delightful story and pictures of beautiful "Charleston, South Carolina" will be the program on Friday, February 23rd, for the West Newton Women's Educational Club, at 2 o'clock, in the Second Church. Dorothy Emmons, a local artist of note, will give this lecture, illustrated with colored slides. In keeping with the spirit of this portrayal of the old South, with its beautiful colonial homes and gardens, Dorothy Richardson will sing "Spirituals".

An honored guest of the afternoon will be Mrs. Ralph G. Swain, Conservation and Gardens chairman of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Maxwell P. Gaddis will be in charge of the Food Sale of home-cooked food.

Garden Club

The Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet for a luncheon and program at the home of Mrs. John Bianchi, 56 Warren st., Newton Centre, on Monday, February 19th. Mrs. Louis B. Martin will assist. The subject will be "Photography for Gardens".

Club Celebrates Sixtieth Anniversary

The Sixtieth Anniversary of the founding of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was celebrated on Friday, February 9th, together with Church. Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan, president, opened the regular business meeting at 2 o'clock. She was presented with a beautiful bouquet of spring flowers from the West Newton Community Service Club. Representatives from about thirty clubs of the Twelfth District attended. Each club president and officer had been presented upon arrival with red carnations. Every member of the Club was given a pink carnation. Corsage bouquets of yellow marguerites and bachelor buttons, tied with gold ribbon, which had been made by members of the Garden Club, Mrs. Raymond C. Littlefield, leader, were presented to the Club hostesses, who were the past presidents and members of the executive board, and other Club members. To past presidents of the Club white carnations had been given.

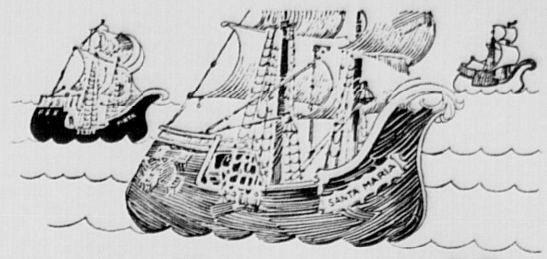

The honored guests, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation; Mrs. William F. Leach, Twelfth District director; and Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the State Federation, expressed their pleasure in being invited to attend this Anniversary meeting, and congratulated the Club upon its birthday. Mrs. Leach, in her address, also spoke upon the early magazines, and the problems of that day.

The meeting was then placed under the direction of the Program chairman, Mrs. Gordon Heath. Mrs. Seabury Short sang Negro Folk Songs and Spirituals, including "Can't You Live Humble?" "The Gospel Train", and "Short'nin' Bread", and "Careless Love".

Mrs. William Keefe, Club historian, read a brief resume of the Club History, and after her reading, Mrs. Hildreth, the State president, presented to Miss Lucy Ellis Allen, a Pioneer Pin, in memory of her mother. The Pioneer Pin is being given during this Golden Jubilee year of the General Federation to a Pioneer Clubwoman in the various clubs or to her descendant. The Educational Club was founded in the home of Miss Allen. Following this appealing ceremony, Mrs. Heath introduced His Honor, the Mayor of Newton, Mr. Paul Goddard. He extended greetings for the City of Newton, and also presented the Lieutenant Governor, Hon. Horace T. Cahill, who told about a few of the orators in his family, not forgetting to mention his aunt, Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan, as the Educational Club orator. His subject was "Good Citizenship". He pointed out what George Washington and Abraham Lincoln meant to their country. He stated that while all must be mindful of the difference in men, all must be concerned with the duties of citizenship more than ever before. Duties as voters and as an Educational Club should concern this Club's members, he declared, 365 days a year, to keep the people, the institutions of government, and the very government free, and to retain the privilege of liberty.

Mrs. Short ended the program with a group of A. A. Milne's songs, written for his son, Christopher Robin, "Lines and Squares", "The Beetle", and "Wheezles and Sneezles."

Pictures of the Birthday Cake and of the honored guests were taken. The cake was cut by the president, and then Mrs. Francis E. Nowers and Mrs. Alvah L. Jordan, Honorary members, continued the cutting. Refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee, Mrs. E. M. Martines, chairman. Past presidents, Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald, Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard, and Mrs. Joseph A. Otis were the pourers.

Charge Bus Driver With Speeding

Melvin McLeod of 3 Lexington st., Waltham, a bus driver for the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday charged with speeding and failing to stop when signalled to do so by a policeman. The complainants were Patrolmen Cunningham and Leehan. They testified that the bus had passed the police car they were in on Crafts st. at a speed of 40 miles an hour, that Leehan blew his police whistle, but the bus did not stop, and they pursued it for some distance before catching it. McLeod testified that he did not hear the policeman's whistle, and he said that a governor on the bus limited its speed to 35 miles an hour. Judge Mayberry placed the charges against McLeod on file.

He took the registration numbers of the car, and from these Inspectors Burke and Hammell traced its ownership to Roberts, and obtained a complaint against him.

tion, generation, development, or birth. He does not exist as a servant, a child, a slave, or a condition of matter, and therefore is not subject to any laws of matter, such as laws of heredity, prenatal mesmerism, and the like, whereby he becomes subject to family, racial, or national traits, characteristics, tendencies, instincts, inclinations, or resemblances. There is no subconscious mind through which error can operate prior to birth, thereby fastening on man physical or mental idiosyncrasies, or inclinations influenced or formulated by family, ancestral, or parental history.

I do not know of anything that holds human beings to a more hopeless captivity than the so-called laws of heredity, and until mortal existence is perceived in its true light, and the material hoax of heredity is exposed, there will be little prospect of relief for men from a fate decreed by the whims, the activities, and the exploits of the family black sheep, generations gone. We are prone to prate of our material heritage, of the glories of an illustrious ancestry, of the achievements and accomplishments in affairs of state and on the field of battle of our forebears; and we fain would bask in the sunshine of a personally appropriated unearned glamour, forgetting the while that in arrogating to ourselves the credit for the achievements of an illustrious and long-gone ancestry we, at the same time, bind about us those fetters of materiality with which our forebears found themselves incumbered. Thus we become the victims of the sin, the disease, and rascality which the glories of the past have obscured and hidden from a proud and innocent progeny. We cannot claim the good things winningly offered us through the avenues of a material inheritance without accepting at the same time those evils which come through the same channel. All good is universal and belongs to no man. All good is infinite and comes from God and from no other source, and to claim and recognize good as belonging to an individual and not to God, to matter and not to Spirit, is to lay the foundation upon which the laws of heredity and kindred errors of mortal existence find root.

Human Nature

Human nature is an innocent-sounding expression, but underneath it lie shackles of limitation, poverty, and the like, which only a knowledge of the true man in God's image and likeness can sunder. There is no more subtle channel for individual inharmony and distress than the argument of "human nature." Human nature is that which blinds men to their own inadequacy, their own incompetency, their own shortcomings—to those very traits of thought and character which render man subject to all the attacks of the common enemy. Through the subtle influences of human nature we willingly accept as real, natural, and necessary those things, which, in the light of spiritual understanding, become gross, unreal, and harmful to man. It is human nature which blinds us to our own egotism. Egotism is an outcome of human nature which is rarely discernible to the victim. I have witnessed more human wreckage piled high on the rocks of egotism than from any other cause. An egotist never knows he is an egotist, and not knowing that he is an egotist he can never become a willing servant of that Mind which is God. He can never understand that Mind. He can never comprehend or conceive it. He is a firm believer in his own importance and his own ability, based upon a mind which he thinks belongs to him and of which he is the sole possessor, and which is superior to and distinct from any other mind possessed by a mortal. The hardest man to reach and regenerate through Christian Science is the egotist, a product of the belief in human nature—a nature proscribed and regimented by the belief in an existence apart from God. All permanent healing in Christian Science comes through the regeneration of the human consciousness, and where human consciousness is so instilled with the ego that it is impenetrable by Truth, there is not much hope of present spiritual achievement.

Mary Baker Eddy

So do you not see how the discovery of Mary Baker Eddy is uncovering to humanity not only the cause of its bondage to sin, sickness, poverty, appetites, inharmony, and lust, but also how her discovery is pointing the remedy for each individual fault and wrong concept which constitutes the foundation for all of our ills? And what shall we say of one who, as no other since the time of Jesus of Nazareth, has flung wide the gates of paradise to a suffering world, that all mankind may enter and find surcease from its sorrow, its cares, and its woes? Could a revelation such as that of Mrs. Eddy come from aught but a purity and a deep devotion imbued by the spirit of the Christ? Is there gratitude enough in our human natures to permit a just and full recognition and acknowledgment of that which she has brought to each one of us individually? The world at large may not yet recognize the greatness of this humble New England gentlewoman; but we, as Christian Scientists, will never achieve those heights of spiritual attainment which she, with bleeding footsteps, has scaled for us until we fully and unreservedly acknowledge her as the Discoverer and Founder of the greatest revelation the world has experienced since the coming of Jesus the Christ.

What glorious possibilities has she opened before us! To what sublime heights has she led us! Comparable to St. John's vision in the Apocalypse is the glimpse of the spiritual, the real, and eternal which she has revealed to us in the depth of that which she has given to the world and left for the guidance and salvation of posterity.

Understanding that material existence is but the subjective state of our own wrong thinking, and that the translation of man and the universe back into the spiritual is an individual mental process, we are enabled here and now to join positive and successful issue with all the injustice and afflictions of mortal, material illusion. Through the application in thought of the facts of Spirit we may so order our daily living and experience that the pattern which was shown us in the mount will become our present guide and mentor. The truth about the man of God's creating is the truth about you, despite the bewildering blandishments of material misconceptions; and the clear, constant, and positive declaration of one's own perfection as a child of God will gradually and certainly dispel the illusions of mortal existence, and plant our feet firmly on the rock of spiritual conviction, whereby we become masters of the material, rather than slaves thereto.

To realize positively and with clear spiritual perception that, regardless of the evidence of matter and the material senses, you exist, here and now, as a perfect spiritual child of God, untouched and untarnished by the specious pretenses of a material creation, will establish the mental foundation upon which may be builded that superstructure of spirituality and scientific argument by which all the besetting ills of human living may be banished from experience.

To realize that you have never been thrust out of Spirit or born into matter; that you have never passed through any state or stage of foetal existence, material conception, germination, generation, development, or birth, will establish the consciousness of your true spiritual sonship as a child of God, and will accomplish your freedom from the blighting influences of a material inheritance, whereby the bonds of prenatal mesmerism are forged, and one becomes the innocent and helpless victim of the sins and errors of his long-forgotten forebears.

To realize with the clear conviction of spiritual perception that you have never been in any place or position in which God has not put you; that you have never passed through any experience or condition that God did not create, will neutralize the baneful influences of a historical past with all of its suggestion of exposure, contagion, infection, accidents, habits, influences, customs, and the passage of time, and will entrench you in the consciousness of a spiritual present, in which the harmful influences of a material existence have no past, no present, and no future, no origin, no law of origin, no law of perpetuity, periodicity, or continuity.

To realize that God is the only Mind or intelligence; that that Mind is infinite, ever present, and eternal, and that that Mind is your Mind and the only mind you have, will order your goings and your comings in the light and beneficence of the divine will, and will free you from the confusing and disturbing influences of minds many or an intelligence separate from God. The realization that man is the conscious expression of an intelligence which is never lost, which never lapses, and which governs with unerring wisdom, preception, and accuracy, will implant in you the sure conviction of a God-governed and a God-directed existence wherein there is no confusion, misunderstanding, indecision, mistakes, or misdirection, and where one may rest in the calm assurance of a divinely ordered business, household, and life.

To realize that the only true substance is Spirit, that Spirit is infinite, and that matter exists only as a false concept or object of the carnal mind held in individual consciousness, reveals the utter unreality of the only medium through which sin, sickness, poverty, and all the inharmonies of mortal existence find expression, and ushers one into the glorious verities of true spirituality, wherein is found eternal harmony and peace, and all fear and grave forebodings are lost in the consciousness of infinite good.

To hold to the clear conviction that God is infinite Life, in which there is no death or death process; that man, as a child of God, is the expression of that one Life; that man has no life of his own that may be lost, impaired, or destroyed, and that, therefore, man is as deathless as his eternal Father, God, implants in one that saving realization that "the grave is not [the] goal," and that the eternality of man is as fixed and certain in divine Science as the eternality of God.

To realize that God is infinite Love, that man is the full and true expression of that Love, and to emulate and actively express in human consciousness that Love which is God, banishes from mortal experience all strife and discord, all bitterness and hate, all fear and malice, all fault-finding and criticism, all discouragement and selfishness, and establishes one in the full realization of the brotherhood of man here on earth, and opens wide the corridors of eternity, wherein, as Mrs. Eddy has expressed it in Science and Health (p. 69), there is "no parting, no pain," and man is found "deathless and perfect and eternal."

How impressively St. John, the divine, has pictured it where he says: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure."

John R. Prescott Memorial Fund

A fund to be known as the John R. Prescott Memorial Fund for the Newtonville Library, has been started, to carry out the wishes of the late John R. Prescott of Newtonville, who was for long a public spirited citizen of Newton and a generous giver to the new Newtonville Branch Library.

The fund will be used, it is hoped during the present year, for the purchase of books for the Newtonville Library, each of which will bear Mr. Prescott's name as donor. The money will be raised through the sale of two thousand copies of Mr. Prescott's book, "The Story of Newton," which are all that remain for sale of the second edition of five thousand copies. The first edition of ten thousand was quickly sold, and no further printing is contemplated.

This second edition contains 80 pages, 12 more than the first edition, 58 illustrations and a double-page up-to-date map of Newton. The cost is only twenty-five cents a copy, plus 3c for mailing single copies. Many banks, schools, business houses and individuals subscribed for from fifty to several hundred copies of this book.

Requests for copies should be addressed to F. C. Alexander, treasurer, 87 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, Mass.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held on Thursday evening, Feb. 8th, at the home of Mrs. C. R. Cabot.

The meeting was well attended, and many activities of the association during the past few weeks were brought up for discussion. Among these were the help given to the formation of a separate organization among the merchants of Newtonville to care for certain civic problems. It was decided also to issue soon another bulletin to members of the association.

Report was made by the secretary on the progress made by the Branch Library at the new site, both in circulation of books and in the use of the new Lecture Hall. Several collections have been exhibited, and two exhibitions of paintings have been held.

The proposed change in the Zoning Law relative to the size of building lots in the city was discussed, and a committee appointed on this matter. Mention was also made of the fact that Cabot Park is not being made use of as much as is possible and desirable; and a committee was asked to report on this matter at the next meeting.

Auburndale Co-Operative Bank Observes 30th Year

February, long noted as the birth-month of men famous for character and integrity is also the anniversary-month of Auburndale's thriving Co-operative Bank, a strictly local institution.

Founded in 1910, it rounds out thirty years of service to Auburndale residents with six of its original incorporators still on the board. They are Wickcliffe J. Spaulding, vice-president; Charles E. Valentine, treasurer; Willis F. Hadlock, Jesse A. Leonard, Dr. C. P. Hutchinson and Wilmar H. Nash.

Its growth has been steady and interesting to observe. Hundreds of shareholders have become home-owners since that first loan of $1600, made 30 years ago to help a young family build its first home.

Assets have grown from $994.00 at the end of the first month's business to $2,222,000. Loans made during the 30-year period have amounted to nearly eight million dollars.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Hon. Raymond H. Cowing, of Westfield, spoke before a large audience, members of Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. gathered in the Chapter House in Newton Lower Falls on Monday, Feb. 12.

Mrs. George F. Howland, the Regent, presided at the business meeting, after which Mrs. Ernest F. Dow, Chairman of Press Relations Committee welcomed the guests which included Mrs. Lester S. Daniels, State Chairman of Press Relations, and State Recording Secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Hayward, Regent of Boston Tea Party Chapter, D. A. R. and introduced the speaker.

By special request, Mr. Cowing gave a brief history of Western Massachusetts, and Westfield in particular, of which he was Mayor for 8 years. He said it was fitting that this meeting was held on Lincoln's birthday, since the people of today were the same as in Lincoln's time, although we had passed from the "horse and buggy days" to the "jitterbug age." In speaking of "Isms," he said, "Americanism is behavior in harmony with American ideals."

After the meeting, Mr. Cowing was shown through the Chapter House, which was formerly the rectory of St. Mary's Church, and was built in 1750. He congratulated the Chairman of the House Committee and the Housekeeper upon the excellent condition and arrangement of the articles in the Museum.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. William E. Flagg, assisted by Mrs. Edward B. Parker, Miss Emily F. Jordan, Mrs. Harry H. Brown, Mrs. George L. Davis, Mrs. George R. McEldowny, Mrs. Frank M. Sherman and Mrs. William L. Vosburgh. Mrs. John W. Byers and Mrs. Frederick S. Blodgett presided at the tea table.

District Nursing Asso

The annual meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association was held on February 12, 1940, at the Headquarters, 297 Walnut st., Newtonville.

Mrs. Louis W. Arnold, president, presided and there was a large attendance of board members and guests.

Annual reports of Standing Committees showed an amazing progress in the scope of the work accomplished during the past year.

In her report Miss Nelson showed progress in the local work of the association as well as in the general public health field.

A clever skit was given showing 2 visits from a district nurse to a mother of a little baby—one illustrated the wrong method and the other gave the right approach.

The following officers and directors were elected for the year 1940—Mrs. John F. Brown, president; Mrs. Philip Warren, first vice-president; Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, second vice-president; Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Stephen Bishop, assistant treasurer; Miss Marion H. Dorr, secretary and Mrs. John T. Croghan, assistant secretary.

Mrs. Arnold, the retiring president, gave a speech of welcome to the new president.

Coffee was served after the business meeting adjourned and a social hour followed.

Recent Weddings

CRAFTS—WINGARD

The marriage of Miss Mary Margaret Wingard, daughter of Mrs. H. Bowman Wingard, and Ronald Dexter Crafts, formerly of Newtonville, took place in Savannah, Ga. on February 5th at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church with Dr. H. J. Black officiating, assisted by the Rev. Muller R. Wingard, uncle of the bride.

Palms were banked in the church and vases of white chrysanthemums, ferns and candelabra were used at the altar.

Mrs. Carl Flathmann, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her gown was pink taffeta featuring a long fitted bodice and very full skirt and she carried a large bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Wilbur Smith, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Frank Balmer, a cousin of the bride. They wore sky blue taffeta dresses with fitted bodices and flared skirts, and carried bouquets of Sweetheart roses.

William Crutchfield of Buffalo, N. Y., was the best man, and the ushers were Carl Flathman, Frank Balmer, Frederick F. Cole and Howard Wheeler of Massachusetts.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Wilbur Smith, wore a gown of white satin and Belgian lace, the blouse made with an old-fashioned bustle, and the train was built into the skirt. Her veil of illusion tulle fell from a cap of seed pearls and she carried a service book covered with a corsage of white roses and lilies of the valley.

After a reception following the ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt Mr. and Mrs. Crafts left for a trip in the south. On their return they will make their home at 78 Parker rd., Wellesley.

Among the out-of-town guests was Mrs. George H. Folger of Newton Centre, mother of Mrs. Kenneth P. Crafts of Newton Centre. Mr. Kenneth Crafts is the brother of the groom.

Mr. Ronald Crafts is a son of the late William Bowen Crafts, former resident of Newton Highlands. He graduated from Harvard College in 1915, is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and traces his ancestry back to Frederick Schiller, the German Poet.

BROOKS—COBB

Miss Barbara Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow S. Cobb, Sr., of Needham, was married to Raymond Farnell Brooks son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis F. Mongeon of 111 Cedar st., Newton Centre on Saturday evening, February 10 at eight o'clock in the Wellesley Hills Unitarian Church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and a veil of tulle caught to a crown of orange blossoms and pearls. Her bouquet was of gardenias, lilies of the valley and orchids. She was attended by Miss Barbara Lincoln of Cohasset as maid of honor, who wore a gown of aqua net and carried an old fashioned bouquet. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Paul of Germantown, Pa., Miss Betty Griffin of Needham, Miss Jane Barringer of New Jersey, niece of the bride, and Miss Muriel Hunter of Ridgewood, New Jersey. They wore gowns of dusty pink net.

Philip L. Brooks, brother of the groom, was the best man. The ushers were Woodworth Carpenter of Woonsocket, R. I., Winslow S. Cobb, Jr., Galen Bloom and William Sanderson, all of Newton.

A reception was held at the Wellesley Country Club.

Bushnell To Run For Atty. General

Robert T. Bushnell of 193 Fuller st., West Newton, former District Attorney of Middlesex County, and a former president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Attorney General. He is 43 years of age, a graduate of Phillips Andover, Harvard and Harvard Law School. During the World War he enlisted as a private and was later commissioned in the infantry. He is married and the father of two children.

In announcing his candidacy Mr. Bushnell said: My candidacy is based on the pledge that—"if I am elected, the chief law office of the State will be capably and honestly administered, solely in the public interest."

Backed by a state-wide group of Republican leaders, who feel that the Bushnell abilities, which gave Middlesex County an outstanding administration, are needed in the Attorney-General's office, Mr. Bushnell enters the field in what appears to date to be the only contest on the Republican primary ballot.

Carrying 51 of the 54 cities and towns of Middlesex by the largest plurality ever accorded any candidate for any office in that district up to that time, Mr. Bushnell was elected district attorney in 1926. He had previously served for four years as assistant district attorney.

During his eight years of service, Mr. Bushnell gained wide recognition for his capabilities as an administrator, law officer and trial lawyer. He personally tried many of the state's most important cases, initiated many legal reforms to expedite the administration of the law, and cut down the cost of administration.

Youth Who Looted 15 Newton Homes In Newton Court

Pawnbroker Who Bought Loot From Natick Youth Arrested

Howard Kilmer, 22-year-old Natick resident, who was arrested recently by police of that town and confessed to having committed 29 burglaries the past several months in that town, Newton, Wellesley, Watertown and Dover, was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and ordered held for the Grand Jury by Judge Mayberry in $2500 bail. Newton police obtained a writ of habeus corpus and brought Kilmer from the East Cambridge jail where he had been held since he was arraigned in the Natick court in default of $2500 bail set by that court. Kilmer was specifically charged with having burglarized the home of Francis Juggins, 1820 Washington st., Auburndale, on the evening of Feb. 9. He pleaded "not guilty," remarking that he took some of the stuff reported stolen from the Juggins residence, but that he did not take it all. He admitted, according to Lieut. Crowley of the Newton police, having stolen three rings and three watches from the Juggins house, but asserted that he did not steal silverware, also reported stolen from the house. Kilmer also denies having stolen silverware from other homes he admits having broken into.

Kilmer, accompanied by Lieut. Crowley, Sergeant Bannon and Inspector Lyons of the Newton police, made a tour of the city to point out the 15 residences he had broken into. He burglarized two of the houses twice, allegedly going to one home the second time to obtain some golf clubs for the "fence" in Boston to whom he was selling most of his loot. The alleged "fence," Charles Shoostine, 47, of Caldwell ave., Brighton, was arrested Saturday by Boston police upon his return from Vermont. Shoostine, who conducted a pawnshop at 794 Washington st., Boston, was arraigned in the central municipal court at Boston on charges of receiving stolen property, and conducting a second-hand business after his license to do so had been suspended. Shoostine's case was continued to March 18 and he was released in $2000 bail.

Fined $25 For Reckless Driving

Alonzo Wilhelmi, 21, of Calumet st., Roxbury, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On February 10 a car driven by Wilhelmi collided at Chestnut and Woodward sts., Waban, with a car driven by Dorothy Ohlsen of Waban. Inspector Hammell of the Traffic Bureau told the judge that the defendant had admitted that he did not see a "Stop" sign on Woodward st. before entering Chestnut st.

Heavy Snow Breaks Edison Co. Wires

Monday night the weight of the heavy snow which was falling caused continual trouble all night long to Edison and telephone wires in the Newtons. Many wires of the Edison company broke under the strain, and many limbs of trees also broke, causing wires to fall. The result was —that a large percentage of houses in the city were without electric current from periods varying to a few minutes to an hour or more, and crews of Edison employees were kept working under full pressure to repair broken wires. Over 300 wires fell in various parts of the city, and many circuits were put out of commission until repairs could be made. Most of the circuits affected were those serving residence sections, but one serving a business district at Newtonville was out between 7 and 7:30 Monday night. The broken wires caused damage to a number of trees by burning them.

The telephone service was less seriously affected than was the electric service. At the peak of the storm 189 stations were out of order because of broken wires. Thirty telephone repair men worked in the Newtons throughout Monday night and Tuesday and the most of the trouble was cleaned up within 24 hours. The operators on afternoon shifts in the three Newton exchanges willingly remained at their posts through Monday night to help on the big increase in calls. These were mostly of the same nature as those received on the night of the blizzard of Feb. 14 and were sent largely by persons who could not reach home, whose automobiles were stalled, and cancelling social appointments. Nantucket was the only place which could not be reached by telephone from Newton on Monday night.

Organizing Men's Club At Newton

In spite of the bad storm, approximately fifty men of the Eliot Church met in the church parlors last Monday evening and voted unanimously to form a Men's Club. Mr. Thomas Cleveland presided at the meeting. Ted Leonard was elected secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Cleveland was appointed chairman of an organization committee to draw up a set of by-laws. It is expected that another meeting will be held within a month, at which these by-laws will be adopted and officers elected. The club membership will be open to all men of Newton.

Dogs Suffer; Had Bad Companion

Two Newton Centre dogs are in durance vile for several days because they were unfortunate enough to be in the company of a bad companion. Mrs. Albert K. Lyman of 20 Morton st., Newton Centre was walking in that section on Tuesday afternoon when she was bitten by one of a group of three dogs and she could not tell which of the three bit her. So the police ordered all three restrained. The dogs are owned by Richard McKay, 50 Victoria circle; Julius Rosenwald, 4 Hamlin rd.; Samuel Berger, 21 Hamlin rd.

Newton Archers Annual Meeting

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Newton Archers will be held on Saturday evening, Feb. 24th, at eight o'clock in the parlors of the Newton Centre Methodist Church. A social hour will follow the reports and election of officers. Reginald C. Garner, president, will conduct the meeting to which all interested in archery are invited.

Makes 9th Try To Get Gasoline Station Permit

The prize for persistency, or stubbornness in attempts to obtain a permit to establish a gasoline station in this city would easily be won by Frank Vincenzo of Adams st., Newton. Some years ago Vincenzo purchased the property at 1105 Washington st., West Newton, at the corner of Cross st., and soon after petitioned for a permit to establish a gasoline station there. Although the locus is in a business zone, the neighborhood was all residences, and practically all or nearby property owners objected. Because of the residential character of the neighborhood, the numerous objections, the fact that Cross st. is very narrow, and that there are a number of gasoline stations nearby, Boards of Aldermen have consistently turned down Vincenzo's petitions. Several years ago Vincenzo started to repeat petitioning so rapidly that the then Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance limiting petitions for gasoline stations and other permits which require aldermanic approval to once each year. Also, several years ago, Vincenzo erected a small, unsightly structure at the rear of his property on Cross st. Built of cement blocks, it was never completed. This act on his part has not aided his cause in the quest of the gasoline station.

Monday night at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen the ninth public hearing on a petition of Vincenzo for the gasoline station permit was held. Several property owners of Cross and Washington sts. appeared to protest and their arguments were the same as in previous years. They contended that the location is very dangerous, especially because of the narrowness of Cross st., that the gasoline station would be a menace to the many children of the neighborhood; that there is a plenitude of gasoline stations between Newtonville and West Newton, and numerous accidents have already occurred on Washington st. in that vicinity. Among those who protested were Marion Marsh, J. C. Moynihan, Joseph Davis, T. F. McCarthy, Arthur Rogers, and Mrs. Hazel Prescott.

Vincenzo, in appealing for the granting of the permit, called attention to the fact that within the past year an outdoor fruit and vegetable market has been established on Washington st., even more in the midst of residences than is his property; that in conjunction with this market the business is conducted in the yard and many boxes are piled there, but the neighbors have not protested against this.

Youth Tries To Rob Woman

A youth about 16 years old, wearing a red zipper jacket, tried to snatch a handbag from Mrs. Charles McConnell of 69 Walker st., Newtonville, on Tuesday night about 8:30 as she was walking on Austin st. near Lowell ave. As the youth tried to grab the bag, Mrs. McConnell gave him a push and in the struggle fell onto an adjoining snowbank. The young thug fled and Mrs. McConnell reported the attempted robbery at the gasoline station at Washington st. and Lowell ave. Police cars hastened to the scene, but did not find the robber.

Found Guilty of Reckless Driving

Arthur Roberts of 284 Webster st., Needham, was found guilty of driving so as to endanger the safety of the public by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Tuesday and fined $25. The fine was suspended. Roberts admitted that on the afternoon of February 11 while driving a car on Centre st. near Homer st., he took his eyes off the road for a moment to speak to a companion. As he did, his car crashed into the rear of a car driven by George McCluskey of Adams st., Nonantum. Both cars were damaged, and Roberts received cuts on his face. Roberts did not identify himself to McCluskey, but the latter obtained the registration numbers on Roberts' car and the case was investigated by Inspectors Burke and Hammell of the traffic bureau.

Snow Removal Cost Will Total $50,000

The blizzard of Feb. 14 and the following snowstorm on Feb. 19 brought the largest amount of snow in the past 5 years and cost the city around $50,000. In addition to its regular employees, numbering about 300, the Street Department had as many as 600 additional men engaged in clearing snow from the streets. On the morning following the blizzard 50 extra men were put on, and by the next day 600 were at work. They worked Friday, Saturday and Sunday following the blizzard, and a small number of them were kept at work last Monday.

Following the second storm last Monday night, 200 extra men were put to work on Tuesday and 600 on Wednesday. These were laid off on Wednesday evening. The men first hired were those obtaining relief from the city, or WPA recipients obtaining supplementary relief from the city. In addition to 32 city-owned trucks with plows, and 11 city-owned trucks without plows, 40 privately owned trucks were hired to assist in snow removal. Half of these were large trucks, and half small. The small trucks were found better in handling hand-shovelled snow. Two bulldozers owned by the city were used in pushing drifts and opening streets to admit trucks pushing plows, and two other bulldozers were hired. In addition to the snow-loader owned by the city, one was hired for a couple of days from the Boston Elevated. This was succeeded by a power-shovel owned by a Somerville contractor. The two city-owned power-shovels were not used because they have been on sewer excavation jobs and their buckets were reversed. Sixty-one horse-drawn plows were used in plowing sidewalks.

Mather Class Forum On Health

The regular weekly forum of the Mather Class was held Sunday morning in the Newton Centre Baptist Church. Dr. Mather's subject was, "Progress Toward a Healthy Nation," in the series, "Science and Society." In his talk, Dr. Mather told of the remarkable progress in the health of the white people of the United States during the last thirty years, despite the World War, a severe influenza epidemic and an economic depression. Though we have made great progress, the United States is not the healthiest nation but is led by Australia, New Zealand, the Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands.

Tho two important reasons for health advancement are, the success of the medical profession with new methods of diagnosis and treatment, with attention focussed on true causes not symptoms, and preventive medicine. "Many new treatments," said Dr. Mather, "are expensive, making the problem not one of production but one of distribution. Science has provided ways and means of new apparatus and new technics for curing but consumption is at fault. Large sections of the United States are inadequately provided with hospitals and centres of treatment making an overwhelming need for better distribution. There is a thick stratum of the population not benefited by the prevalent system of high fees for the rich and charity for the poor. The National Health Bill is intended to meet the needs of this middle group."

There are two ways open and along one or the other we are sure to advance. First is to depend entirely upon the government, and second is to depend upon the insurance principle, to share the cost and distribute care in accordance with need. Dr. Mather said that the latter has been successful in so far as it has been tried but recommended widening the field for this demonstration of a democratic principle.

Cottage Owned By Newton Man Burns

A cottage on Sea ave., Hough's Neck, owned by Patrick Duncan of Adena ave., West Newton, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night. Quincy firemen were delayed in reaching the place because of the deep snow. Deputy Chief O'Neal of the Quincy fire department said he would ask the State Fire Marshal's office to investigate the fire.

Fire Prevention Lecture Given by Safety Council

The Committee on Fire Prevention of the Newton Safety Council presents a most interesting, instructive, and illustrated talk on how fires start and the prevention of fires in the home and industry, by Theodore W. Gunn, Chief Engineer of the New Hampshire Board of Fire Underwriters, Concord, New Hampshire.

Mr. Gunn is one of the leading authorities on this subject and also tells what to do should a fire occur. He will prove to you that over 80 per cent of all fires are due to the great American crime of carelessness.

Fires appear to be only of general interest to the occasional person, the average man or woman has little knowledge of fire and fire causes. This is a natural condition because many people never have had an actual fire experience. You may question then, why should the public be interested in fires and fire prevention.

Do you recall the accounts of the last few weeks in the daily newspapers of the loss of life; the burning of dwellings; families driven out into the cold; people burned to death in bed; children unable to escape; and the hundreds of people rendered homeless with all their worldly possessions destroyed; and the destruction of untold thousands of dollars of industrial property?

To prevent fires, there must be knowledge of what causes fire—its prevention and extinguishment. Do you know that the principal cause of fire today is careless smoking? Do you realize the large number of fires that are caused by electricity due to poor wiring, improper care and use of electrical apparatus, overloading of circuits and use of defective extension cords, much of this work being done by some member of the family without any electrical knowledge?

These and many other subjects will be discussed by Mr. Gunn, who will also demonstrate how fires occur from these causes. His talk is most interesting, and instructive, and the visual demonstration will hold your attention.

Mr. Gunn will speak at a meeting to be held in the Newton High School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, February 27, 1940, at 8:00 P. M. The High School Auditorium is located on Walnut st., between Washington st. and Commonwealth ave. in Newtonville.

The meeting is under the supervision of the Fire Prevention Committee, Alfred N. Miner, Vice President, Chairman.

Doctors Honor Retiring Colleague

At a dinner on Tuesday evening at the Brae Burn club, members of the medical staff of the Newton Hospital honored their colleague, Dr. Henry F. Keever, who is retiring from the staff. Dr. Keever is the senior member of the thirty medical men, 28 of whom were in attendance. During the evening Dr. Keever was presented with a silver bowl by Dr. Howard Moore in behalf of the hospital trustees. Dr. Moore is the next oldest member of the staff in length of service. The bowl was to have been presented last month at the annual trustees' meeting but Dr. Keever was out of town. The retiring member was also presented with a traveling case, the gift of his colleagues, by Dr. Frank Clark of Newtonville.

Dr. Denton C. Nutter of Newton Centre entertained the gathering with a half hour of legerdemain. The committee in charge of the dinner included Drs. Henry W. Godfrey, chairman, Frank Clark, Edward Leonard, and Denton C. Nutter, who served as master of ceremonies.

ELIOT CHURCH CONCERT

A most pleasing musical program was given on last Friday evening at the Eliot Church, Newton, by the members of the church quartet and Mr. Earl R. Weidner, organist and accompanist. The members of the quartet are Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, soprano; Miss Thelma Jo Fisher, contralto; George H. Wheeler, tenor and Walter H. Kidder, bass. Mr. William Haddon was the assisting artist.

Mayor Goddard Submits Budget of $5,233,565 For City Expenses

Landis Favors New Deal Policies at Forum Meeting

Dean James M. Landis of Harvard Law School defended the action of steel workers in engaging in so-called "sit-down strikes" when he addressed the last meeting of this season's Community Forum at Newton High School last Sunday afternoon. Admitting that sit-down strikes are hard to defend, he asserted that many large corporations had displayed a pronounced enmity toward unions and had defied the National Labor Relations Board. They started to eject their employees who had gone on strike and then the sit-down strikes with the accompanying violence commenced. He said that although a majority of the Supreme Court ruled against the strikers, he agreed with the three members of the court who dissented. He said Congress should correct this condition.

Dean Landis asserted that because of changed economic and social conditions government regulation of industry is necessary and so are government bureaus. Otherwise the "Bill of Rights" is outdated. He argued that judges of our courts, because of their limited knowledge of changes in economics and industry cannot render decisions as fairly as administrative bodies which are more in touch with conditions. Dean Landis evidenced a favorable attitude toward the New Deal policies, and said he would have been happier had we been compelled to work out the failures of the NRA instead of this New Deal activity having been declared illegal by the Supreme Court.

Lenten Play At Newton Centre

On Tuesday evening, February 27, at 8:15 p. m., in the Sacred Heart School Hall, the Guild of St. Francis, of Newton Centre, will sponsor the biblical prize play "Barter," written by Rev. Urban Nagle, O.P., and staged by the New England Branch of the nationally known Black Friars.

The production will be under the patronage of the Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, and will be the first Passion Play ever given in Newton.

A large committee headed by Mrs. John Gahan, president, and Mrs. Eugene Lynch, chairman, are working towards the success of the play. Members of the committee include Mesdames Fred Quigley, Arthur McCarthy, Frank Taft, George Shannon, James Sherry, Maurice Reidy, Sylvester Barrett, William Lyons, Frank McLane, Henry Lane, William Moran, Lionel Cohen, Anthony Capriccio, and the Misses Lillian Cotter, Leona Sheehan, Teresa Breslin and Mary Ryan.

Costs About $140,000 From Recommendations Made by Dept. Heads

Mayor Paul M. Goddard submitted his budget recommendations for 1940 to the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. They total $5,233,565.19, or about 200,000 less than was expended for city expenses in 1939. Recommendations of department heads in their budgets totalled $5,423,454.18. So far this year $82,864.44 had been appropriated by the Board of Aldermen for city expenses. The Mayor cut over $60,000 from the budget recommendations submitted by Chief Randlett of the Fire Department by refusing to approve of two-platoons for the firemen, which would cost $42,621 this year if established, and $16,200 for new apparatus. He refused to approve a salary increase from $4100 to $4,500 asked for the librarian of the Newton Free Library, the only increase asked for a department head. He also turned down an increase of $500 asked for the Deputy Collector, and increases asked for clerks in various departments at City Hall. The Mayor stated that he will take further action on these increases after he studies the recommendations made by a committee of Aldermen on the matter of a more equitable and fairer method of increasing the salaries of clerks at City Hall.

In the Soldiers' Relief Department the Mayor refused to recommend an increase of $125 in the salary of a recently appointed investigator. In the Engineering Department he disapproved salary increases for two assistants. In the Police Department budget he turned down a recommendation for four additional patrolmen, a salary increase of $160 for the radio technician and salary increases for three clerks. In the Health Department budget the Mayor disapproved of salary increases for two inspectors, clerks and the dental hygienist. In the Public Welfare Department he refused to approve salary increases for investigators and clerks, and cut $20,000 from the $145,000 asked for old age assistance, $5000 from the $305,000 asked for poor outside the city infirmary, and $8000 from the $93,000 for dependent children. These estimates, however, are always tentative, and are added to if necessary.

In the Recreation Department budget the Mayor lopped $2000 from $32,000 asked for directors' salaries, and $1500 from $37,233 asked for maintenance of playgrounds. In the Street Department he cut $1000 from the item asking $8800 for salaries of highway foremen, refused several salary increases for clerks, and cut $5000 from the $30,000 asked for the care of trees. In the Water Department budget the Mayor cut $1000 from the $24,900 asked for maintenance of mains and hydrants, and refused increases in clerical salaries.

WHAT PRICE MORE SERVICE?

"Each year health education becomes a more important phase of the modern public health program and the load of work in this field becomes heavier." The quotation comes from the annual report of Dr. Harold D. Chope, Newton Health Officer, to the Board of Health, with reference to his recommendation that funds be found to provide for a competent health educator to direct and co-ordinate this phase of the work in Newton. The recommendation, although not the salient one of the report, is one of several of great importance to the citizens of Newton. Dr. Chope urges an increase of four in the staff of the Health Department, the promotion of low-cost housing, and urges continued thought upon the possible construction of a community health center to house the health department and associated voluntary agencies, among other matters, in the report.

We do not quarrel with Dr. Chope's recommendations. As the Health Officer of the city, trained, experienced, and constantly attentive to valuable and progressive steps in the promotion of better health conditions in the city these are the things which are expected of him. They are part of the results which he is expected to achieve. However, before any of these recommendations are either put into effect or rejected we must give a great deal of consideration as to the effect they may have upon the conduct of our municipal government.

We must not forget that some of the funds which Newton has enjoyed in recent years in the development of a Health Program have been furnished by Harvard University and the Rockefeller Foundation. These funds are, or soon will be, no longer available. We must not forget that during the past twenty years the cost of government has increased by leaps and bounds. This increase, to a great extent, is due to the constant centralized attention of persons in authority in their particular field, resulting in the creation of public opinion toward the desirability of additional services. Mayor Goddard repeatedly, since taking office, has emphasized the impossibility of reducing governmental expenditures so long as the public is demanding that government provide increased service. If the taxpayer is to be given relief from the staggering burden which he now carries we must weigh carefully the effect of enlargement of any existing service whether it is in the field of health, public works, education, or some other of the almost innumerable channels through which the taxpayer's money is spent. Let us not forget that our state and municipal governments alone now cost us more than a million dollars each and every day of the year.

SPRING IS COMING

With Mother Nature having brought twenty inches of snow to provide us with a real taste of winter one can hardly expect to have the ideal transportation conditions, that have existed for so many weeks, restored overnight. Newton, like many communities, had hardly dug itself out of last week's blizzard and fourteen inches of snow when another six-inch blanket, heavier and wetter than the first arrived to make it necessary to do the work all over again. Last week we had a little something to say regarding persons who complained over the inconvenience resulting from last week's storm and how little many of these persons knew of conditions elsewhere. We desire to go emphatically on record in congratulating the Newton street department on the speedy and efficient manner in which more normal conditions were restored after the blizzard. The severity of the storm made it impossible to provide ideal conditions everywhere before Monday's storm arrived with its wet snow and slush, and it will be some time yet before we can get around in full comfort. But everyone will feel a lot better if the inconveniences are accepted cheerfully. Old Sol will lend a hand and we will have water instead of snow. Then Mademoiselle Spring will come around the corner and the past will soon be forgotten.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

Again Newton has lost an outstanding citizen in the sudden passing of Horace W. Orr. Well known as a benefactor of numerous community activities Mr. Orr was most highly regarded by a host of friends and acquaintances. It was our privilege to know Mr. Orr for some years. His genial personality was an outstanding characteristic, along with his friendly interest in the problems which others faced. Although many of the activities in which he lent a helping hand were of public interest there have been numerous other occasions when he has enabled some young person to obtain an education which he otherwise might have gone without. Together with his generosity he possessed a sound judgment which uncovered the sterling characteristics of those whom he assisted. And after all the measure of a man is not the good that he does but the good that lives on after him. Viewed in this perspective his influence will long be felt in the Newton Boy Scouts, the Central Congregational Church and by numerous individuals in whom he took an interest.

A WORTHY PROJECT

In connection with the observance of the 35th anniversary of the founding of Rotary International the report of the Boy's Work Committee of the Newton Rotary Club is of much interest. Today, youth needs more than ever before a wise and understanding companionship and the tolerant and sympathetic counsel of the most successful adults and social-minded leaders. In 1924 the Newton Rotary Club established a loan fund to assist Newton boys in good standing in their junior and senior years in college and others who are in need of assistance to aid them toward greater and better opportunities. Through the years nearly sixty such loans have been made, totalling nearly ten thousand dollars. In recent years loans have been made on an insurance basis, enabling the youth or his parents to make periodic payments toward liquidation. It is interesting to note that boys have been assisted at twelve New England colleges, toward various occupational interests, such as teaching, chemistry, engineering, banking, business and medicine. And one of the outstanding and valuable points connected with these loans is that each youth is sponsored by a member of the Newton Rotary Club and that member maintains a real interest in his progress through the years. The continuance and extension of this work is a most worthy project, for there can be no better investment for the future than in the youth of today.

Kiwanis Club

In spite of the bad weather, over fifty members and their wives gathered at the Charles River Country Club last Monday night for dinner. After dinner, an excellent floor show was enjoyed, with many prizes being auctioned off by Auctioneer W. U. Fogwill, one of the honorary members of the club. Included among the guests at the head table were International Trustee and Mrs. James P. Gallagher. John A. Janse, President of the club, presided during the evening. Musical numbers were in charge of Clarence J. Hutchings.

Next Tuesday noon the Newton Club will meet at the Touraine Hotel as guests of the Boston Club.

SMITH—VAUGHAN

Miss Elinor Hudson Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Vaughan of West Newton, became the bride of Mr. Clendenning Smith, Jr., son of Mrs. Clendenning Smith of West Newton on Monday evening, February 19th, in the Second Church in West Newton. The ceremony was solemnized at eight o'clock with Dr. Boynton Merrill as the officiating clergyman, assisted by the Rev. Frank H. Grebe, assistant minister of the Second Church. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her gown was of blush pink satin with a four yard train, short sleeves, a low square neck, and a small bustle. Her French imported tulle veil of blush pink was fitted to the head by a coronet of orange blossoms, and hung beyond the end of her train and over her face. She carried an arm bouquet of pink Briarcliffe roses, sweet peas and freesia, with shower effect of sweetheart roses, and tied with a pink satin ribbon. Mr. William Lester Bates gave a half hour organ recital preceding the wedding march.

Bowen of Worcester, James M. Benson of Brookline, Richard B. Dort of West Newton, Richard L. Kenney of Auburndale, and Everett Putnam of Acton.

The bride's mother was gowned in flowing black chiffon trimmed with gold, and wore a corsage of roses camellias tied with gold ribbon. The groom's mother wore a gown of orchid chiffon and a corsage of daybreak pink carnations. A reception was held in the Parish House immediately following the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School, and attended Boston University and the New England Conservatory of Music. The groom is a graduate of the Vesper George School of Art, and is organist and director of music at the North Congregational Church in Newton.

After a motor trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends at 26 Sewall st., West Newton, after April 15th.

Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., voted at its last meeting to have a table at the carnival for the benefit of the Soldiers' Home.

The heavy rain of Monday night and Tuesday took away much of the snow, but the cold weather returned so quickly that the sleighing was not much interfered with. The splendid weather which has since prevailed has kept the streets lively with sleighs.

The New England Telephone Company has decided to make no charge after March for connections between the various suburban districts, but will raise their regular rates $4 per year. Charges will still be made for connections with Boston and extra-territorial points.

The next public meeting of the Newton Horticultural Society will be held at Cycle Hall, Newtonville, next Wednesday evening and is one that should attract a large attendance. The subject, "Sewerage and the Final Disposal of Sewage," should interest everyone who looks to the future prosperity of Newton. Dr. Henry Barnes, who will read the paper, is one who has made sewerage a study.

City Engineer Noyes' annual report shows an expenditure for 1884 of $6,750.41 for his department; just 41 cents over the appropriation. From 5 to 12 assistants have been employed.

A correspondent writes to the GRAPHIC—"The odor of cigar or cigarette smoke the last two Sabbaths in the vestibule of Eliot Church reminds us of correspondence in the London Christian World in 1874. Some one had taken Mr. Spurgeon to task for smoking. He replied that 'He smoked for the glory of God.' I think he was mistaken, and that he smoked to gratify an uncleanly and vicious habit. If smoking is to the glory of God, would it not be a good idea for all of us to take cigars to church, and as the minister takes his text, each of us light his cigar and smoke to the glory of God while we listen to the word from the pulpit? I am a strict temperance man, but had I a son, I would rather he drink wine with his meals than use tobacco. A vile detestable worm and man are the only two species that use the weed."

The Auburndale Improvement Society has decided to use the old school for a public hall and reading room.

A thief stole a robe from Dr. O'Donnell's buggy on Centre st. Sunday night. He was seen by Patrolman Emerson who gave chase, but failed to catch the man. After running a short distance the thief dropped the robe, which was returned to its owner.

It is proposed to have cooking lessons given to student nurses at the Newton Hopital. Thus they will have all the advantages offered by any training school.

Officer Quilty shot a dog Sunday night of the nuisance class.

C. C. Bragdon, principal of Lasell Seminary, who never lets a new idea, if it is a good one, pass by without investigation, has become convinced of the necessity of training the physical and nervous system as well as the mental. He has engaged Miss Annie Payson Call to teach at Lasell the new branch known as concentration, which is to result in the prevention of nervous prostration among women, and also to cure cases which already exist. By its use better mental and nervous health will accrue to women of all social degrees, no matter how busy they may be.

Five places at Newton Lower Falls were broken into early this morning; E. E. Moody's dry goods store, Hoyt's grocery, the postoffice, the postoffice store and Gammon's stove store.

Newton Graphic, February 19, 1915

The budget of city expenses for the current year submitted by Mayor Childs on Monday night carries a grand total of $1,653,266 as compared with a budget total last year of $1,588,130, and actual expenses for last year (budget and additions) of $1,728,839. The School Department increase is $17,792, which brings that expensive department nearly to the $400,000 mark, the actual figures being $399,647. The Street Department has the largest increase, $36,420, bringing its total to $314,488. The Charity Department total for the year is $37,850.

A nice game of politics is being played around the proposition to change the method of conducting our city elections. Starting from the fact that the abolition of party enrollment, approved at the last State election, will undoubtedly create more or less confusion in the selection of party candidates for city offices this coming Fall, together with the ambitions of several gentlemen to defeat Mayor Childs for re-election, attempts have been made to obtain legislation to limit the voters to the choice of but two candidates for Mayor, Aldermen, etc., by a knockout primary, and to put such legislation in force without the usual referendum by the people. The editor of the GRAPHIC is emphatically opposed to making any material change in the method of electing our city officials without giving the voters the customary opportunity to determine that question for themselves.

Powers' Paragraphs

Some girl babies who were born on Sept. 21, 1938, the day of the hurricane, were named "Gale" by sentimental parents. We suppose some of the babies born on Feb. 14 or 15 of this year will be named "Blizzard."

Where did Emily Post get the authority to dictate to people what they should (or should not) do, insofar as social conduct is concerned?

Sunday, with most of the streets (at least the principal streets) bare of snow on the travelled parts, we removed the chains from the tires on our car, although a neighbor, who keeps his car in the same garage, told us he was keeping the chains on the tires of his car as more snow was coming. He was correct. More snow did come Monday, and on Tuesday morning with the floor of the garage wet, we had the task of putting a couple of emergency chains on each rear tire, supposing they would enable us to back our car out of the driveway. But, the snow was so soft and sticky, that the chains only churned ruts into the driveway, so after much shovelling and strong language we abandoned the car in the driveway and started to hoof it along the street toward Newton Corner and the GRAPHIC office. The sidewalks were impassable, but walking on the street was not bad, except that one had to watch for approaching automobiles.

Midway on our hike we met a letter-carrier. He is one of the most efficient and conscientious postmen at the Newton postoffice, but he was all riled up when we met him, and he commented that it was terrible trying to walk along the sidewalks and streets, and we ought to have Mayor Childs back in office. We replied that Mayor Childs had signed the order passed by the Board of Aldermen a few years ago which revoked the old ordinance that compelled abuttors to clear their sidewalks of snow. When a blizzard such as that of last Wednesday occurs, and is followed up with another snowfall such as that of Monday night, it is not fair to blame Mayor Goddard, Mayor Childs or any other mayor for bad walking conditions. After an ordinary snowstorm, the streets, sidewalks and crosswalks should be made passable, but folks must expect to put up with adverse driving and walking conditions when we get a storm such as that of last week, and have it followed in a few days with 7 inches more of heavy, wet snow.

It will cost taxpayers of Newton at least $50,000 for the removal of snow since the blizzard of Feb. 14, and will add about 35 cents to the tax rate for this year. Automobiles have revolutionized transportation and made travelling much easier than it was before their advent. They also add considerably to the cost of public expenses by necessitating more and better highways and the clearing of these highways in winter. On the other hand, it can be argued that taxes paid by automobile owners, including gasoline taxes, excise tax, registration tax and other taxes, more than offset the public expenses caused by automotive traffic.

Owners of automobiles would not object to the invention of some device which could be used in conjunction with street plows so that the walls of snow piled up in front of driveways would be levelled when, or immediately after, the plow creates a barrier at the entrance to one's driveway.

Shoveling wet, heavy snow is no job for "white collar" men unaccustomed to hard, manual labor. And those of us who were fatigued and stiffened after a half-hour or hour of shovelling, should realize that the street department employees and the extra men who were put to work shoveling snow, mostly earned whatever they received. It is more than exercise to throw heavy snow 8 feet in the air to clear the high sides of trucks which are loaded.

Refuse Permit for Loud Speaker

A nuisance which has been tolerated in other cities, a loud speaker blaring outside a store to attract customers, will not be permitted in Newton. An application from Leo Mignace for a permit to operate such a nerve wracking noise maker in the doorway of the Perlmutter drygoods store at 339 Watertown st., Nonantum for three weeks, from February 21 to March 15 was turned down by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night after Chairman Fahey of the Licenses Committee had reported that Chief of Police Hughes had stated such a loud speaker would be a traffic hazard. A few years ago the Newton Board of Aldermen voted against permitting the use of "sound trucks" for political purposes in Newton.

College News

By GEORGE W. HUTCHINGS, N.H.S. '39

Life goes on as before in most New England colleges despite the Antarctic conditions and general indoor fatigue. Even the most energetic of varsity letter men have turned lounge lizards, seeking relief from the tedium by bridge playing or "New Yorker" scanning. The only known cure for roommates conversing in single syllable words due to midwinter melancholy is tomato juice and warm weather.

Since we cannot enjoy the sunny Southern skies of old Virginia while mushing through the local elements, our readers will have to picture them as best they can while we unfold news from Charlottesville, home of the University of Virginia. James B. Littlefield of Newton Centre was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the interfraternity council for 1940. A junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Jim has been overly active in campus organizations. Among the groups of which he is a member are Theta Chi social fraternity, "Dagger" society, student senate, and the dean's list for distinguished students. Newton has sent numerous brother tandems to various schools and has reveled in the glory reaped in these new institutions of learning. Here are a few: John M. and Marvin B. Perry Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Perry of Newton; Robert and David Greer Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Greer of Newton; John and Robert Bishop, son of Mrs. F. W. Bishop of Newton Centre; and Norman and Harold Fisher of Waban.

To compare the illustrious Perry boys would be a difficult, if not impossible, task. Both were tops scholastically while at Newton High and thwarted idleness by participation in publications, dramatics, and assorted clubs. Jack is now a third year student in the College of Arts and Sciences and a member of the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. Brother Marv is a senior in the college. They were both among the two hundred and fifty-four students at the University who, by maintaining a scholastic average of at least 87 per cent, were placed on the dean's list of distinguished students for the second term.

The Greers were the second combination to accomplish the above feat. More power to them. Dave is a sophomore, holding the veritable power of life and death over brother Bob, a lowly freshman. The former spent one year in Bowdoin College but transferred to a warmer clime where high ranks are seemingly more forthcoming. Johnny Bishop was also on dean's list, but don't count twin brother Bob out of the running. The look alikes find interfamily competition the best incentive for success.

Twins and more twins! The Fishers, Norm and Hal, have brought back glorious reports of the many beauteous southern belles observed in Virginia. We consider them to be competent judges of pulchritude since they were in a choice position as football cheerleaders two autumns ago to meet the fairest of the fair. As freshmen they are undergoing the usual first year rigors of college, but we have no doubt but what they will pull through to become prominent men on campus.

The Cadets of Norwich University are holding their annual Winter Carnival which commences on the holiday and lasts three days. Feature of this year's carnival is the annual meet of the senior division of the Intercollegiate Ski Union. Listed to compete are the ski teams of Dartmouth, Harvard, Maine, McGill, Middlebury, Montreal, New Hampshire, Norwich, Vermont and Williams.

Three nights of dancing, a Pegasus Players production, and a horse show are other events now going on at the Carnival. Edwin F. Roys of 334 Otis st., West Newton, is one of the freshmen on the committee which planned the horse show.

Walter D. Knight, Jr., of Newton Centre, a junior at Middlebury College, played Sir Marmaduke Pointdexter in a presentation of the "Sorcerer" given last Friday. The Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was one of the highlights of the Middlebury Winter Carnival replacing the original student written musical comedies of the past three years.

Walt, a graduate of the Barnard School for Boys in New York City, has appeared in other dramatic productions at the coeducational college before this: last year he was in "Room Service." He is a member of the talented combined Glee Clubs and at present is a representative to the Student Assembly, newly organized student government body for men.

This winds up another collegiate caucus, but there is more in sight if Maine can get out from under this most recent snow storm.

Guest Night Speaker to Tell of Island of Hainan

Guest Night will be held Thursday evening, February 29, at 8 p. m., in the Channing Church Parlors, by the Newton Community Club. A program of unusual interest is offered for Club members and their guests. Nicol Smith will bring pictures of the ancient and isolated Island of Hainan in the China Sea. This island has recently been captured by the Japanese and is now being fortified as a military and naval base. It is regarded as of great strategic importance, breaking Great Britain's important defense line between Honk Kong and Singapore; and also it is but 750 miles from the Philippines. Mr. Smith is one of the few white men ever to penetrate its interior, and is the only explorer to bring back a photographic record of his adventures among its people. When the harbor of Hoi How was captured in the spring of 1939 Mr. Smith had the only known pictures of Hainan's primitive interior, and he was bombarded by offers for his pictures by newspapers and news syndicates throughout the country. These pictures are beautifully colored, and with Mr. Smith's keen sense of humor and brilliant flow of language, an entertaining and instructive evening is promised.

There will be dancing after the entertainment, with Ken Reeves' Orchestra providing the music. Members of the Newton Community Club and one guest will be admitted on presentation of a membership card. Also members of the Junior Community Club and one guest each will be admitted. Additional tickets may be procured at the door.

Lane, as Mrs. Damrell; and Marion L. Waterman, as Mrs. Hotchkiss.

The coach is Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock. The head ushers are Nancy Sutton and Robert Jones. Tickets for children at 25 cents, and for adults at 35 cents, may be procured from any member of the Dramatic committee.

Club Members In The Roles Drama Day

Tuesday afternoon, February 27, will be Drama Day at the Auburndale Woman's Club.

At 2:30 p. m. there will be a business meeting, with Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, the president, presiding, and at 3 o'clock she will turn the program over to Mrs. Julian E. Jackson, chairman of the Drama committee.

Two plays will be given, the first one, "The Chimney Corner", is a war drama, and is being coached by a member of the committee, Mrs. Earl D. Wood.

"The Purple Door-Knob", a Cape Cod comedy, is the second play, which Mrs. Jackson is coaching. Club members will fill the roles in both plays.

Between the two plays there will be a short intermission.

A "New Members" Tea was held on Friday afternoon, February 16th, in the Lounge of the Auburndale Club, under the auspices of the Membership committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. Roy Miller, chairman.

Mrs. Miller, who was assisted by Mrs. Harry Ballard, Mrs. Norman Steed, and Mrs. William Sullivan, all members of her committee, also had a number of the Executive Board of the Club assist in having the guests enjoy a social afternoon.

Tea was served, and at the table decorated with spring flowers, Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. Marshall Stone, Mrs. Paul Kieser and Mrs. Herman Krueger took turns in pouring.

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Mrs. William F. Leach, and Mrs. Francis Sweeney were the honor guests at the Twelfth District Social Welfare Conference at the Auburndale Woman's Club, Tuesday afternoon, February 13.

Mrs. Austin Fisher, president of the Hostess Club, presented Mrs. Hildreth, who, as president of the State Federation, brought greetings, and spoke very highly of the co-operation which this Club has always maintained toward them. She stated that the Federation's two immediate objectives were for the coming Golden Jubilee, and the establishment of the Bookmobile, the latter a library on wheels which will bring reading facilities to the outlying districts which they do not have at present.

The Club's Community Service chairman, Mrs. Ashley L. Wright, who had planned this Conference, introduced Mrs. Sweeney, who is the chairman of that division in the Federation, and she in turn introduced the speakers.

Mr. A. R. Wellington, who is the New England representative of the National Recreation Association, in discussing "Newton and Recreation," commented on the fact that this city is well equipped with recreational centres for the children, as playgrounds and swimming pools and skating facilities are available, but that the need seemed to be for places where the young adults could meet for suitable recreation.

Mr. John W. Kingman, Dirctor of Boys' Work at Lincoln House and Head Worker at Hale House, therefore well informed on the delinquency problem, especially in the large cities, placed their blame as largely due to the housing of the poorer classes, where not only congestion, but dangerous conditions abound. Jobs for the idle youngsters was the best solution for these problems, he considered.

Dr. Helen McGillicuddy, Director of the Massachusetts Society of Social Hygiene, in discussing "The Boy and Girl Relations," maintained that many of the unfortunate occurrences were due not, primarily, to the young people involved, but to the parents who did not acquaint themselves with the activities of their children sufficiently. Her comment was that the parents themselves were away too often from home.

A youthful trio from the All Newton Music School gave a group of three string selections, and generously offered an encore.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program, the chairman of the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Raymond E. Perkins, being assisted by a large number of her committee.

The Art committee had an Exhibition of Oils in the Lounge, the works of Mr. Joseph Bonnar, a Newton artist.

Opportunity to Support Block Booking Legislation

Massachusetts clubwomen are taking decisive steps to register with the United States Congress their desire for the passage of the Neely Motion Picture Bill, which would abolish the system of Block Booking and blind selling of motion pictures, so giving to motion picture exhibitors the freedom to select entertainment desired by their communities.

Newton clubwomen do not need to have the fallacies of the system of block booking explained to them. They have been hearing about block booking for at least fifteen years. Conscientious Legislative chairmen have discussed it before their meetings in its every phase, and for at least the past two years, equally conscientious Legislative chairmen have explained to them the Neely Bill. Now, however, is their opportunity, perhaps their last one, if they remain indifferent, to deluge their Congressmen at Washington with requests to pass the Neely Bill, which will settle this question.

Exhibitors, as well as citizens, are eager to see the passage of this Block Booking legislation, so that they may have the privilege of choosing their own programs.

It is stated that, alarmed by the passage of the Neely Bill at the last Session by the Senate, the motion picture industry has undertaken a far-flung and astute campaign to undermine public opinion, and is sending well-organized propaganda to make churchgoers, civic clubs, and other organizations change their stand on the bill. Clubwomen, however, are alert to this campaign, and they are urging their organization members to make themselves articulate with their Congressmen before the Bill comes up at this Session of Congress the first of March.

At a Conference upon Motion Pictures and Block Booking, held February 7th at the Twentieth Century Club, Boston, representatives of a score of women's community and civic organizations heard, among other speakers, Mrs. Elliot B. Williams, State Federation chairman of Motion Pictures, state the attitude of this organization upon the question, and ask the support of all clubwomen for the Neely Bill.

Useful Courses Conducted by Local Red Cross

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross announces that there will be a class in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, conducted on twelve Friday mornings, beginning March 1. Lessons will be of 2-hour duration, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. The instructor will be Miss H. Margaret Norcross. The fee, which is only the nominal one of $1, includes the cost of the textbook used in the course. If there are 25 registrations a class will be formed. Further information may be secured by calling the chapter headquarters, at 12 Austin st., Newtonville, Newton North 2717.

The value of this course in giving people information as to how to make sick members of their families more comfortable in times of this need, and how to care for babies is deeply appreciated by the thousands who have benefited by the services of those who have been so wise as to take this training.

Of inestimable value, too, are the classes in First Aid for members of the Volunteer Motor Corps, also sponsored by the Red Cross. Among their worthwhile services are transportation of patients and children to hospitals, clinics, and doctors' offices; transportation of nurses and supplies; rides for convalescents and chronic invalids; all services to those in distress, for which those who receive them are grateful, indeed, as only they realize and can testify. Such a course has just been completed in Newton, and the well earned Red Cross Standard First Aid Certificates have been awarded to the following women who took the course: Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Millard, Mrs. Shirley W. Kenney, Mrs. Elizabeth Littig, Mrs. Gertrude M. Allen, Mrs. Dorothy Boyd, Mrs. Marion B. Dunkle, Mrs. Janet B. Weston, Mrs. Eleanore Tayloe, Mrs. Ruth Gardner Brown, Mrs. Anna Speakman, Mrs. Anna M. Kosters, and Mrs. Gertrude M. Hill.

In regard to The Gray Lady Course which is now being conducted, the fourth in the series of lectures, scheduled for Thursday, the 15th, was postponed on account of the storm to Monday, the 19th, at which time Miss A. May Lentell, assistant director of nursing, at the Newton Hospital, spoke on "Types of Hospitals, and Organization of Hospitals in which Gray Ladies Are to Serve." The fifth in the series, which would logically be on Thursday, the 22nd, has been postponed, on account of the holiday, to Monday, the 26th, at which time Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, director of Social Service at the Newton Hospital, will speak on "Hospital Ethics."

Annual Banquet of Middlesex Court

The annual banquet of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F. will be held at Elks' Hall, Newton, on Tuesday evening, February 27. It will commemorate the 54th anniversary of the founding of the court. Mayor Goddard and High Chief Ranger Ralph Wheeler of the M. C. O. F. will be included in the list of speakers.

Why let MILES stand between Good FRIENDS?

What separates warm friends are not the miles between but the stubbornness of words in a line, line after line — the coldness of words without voice. Close the awkward gap by talking voice to voice, heart to heart. Your friend is as near as your telephone — waiting. Out-of-town calls are very cheap, especially so evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

Just small amounts take you great distances

Other places out of town are just as reasonable to call as these. Ask Long Distance.

It has been known for a couple of months or more that United States mail has been seized from United States ships by British officials, and no action has been taken other than innocuous protests by our Secretary of State. Now, it is revealed that last month British marines at bayonet point forced the commander of the United States flying ship to surrender U. S. mail at Bermuda. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cordell Hull meekly submit to these affronts and indignities to this country. Can you imagine Theodore Roosevelt standing for such treatment from Great Britain or any other nation? And there are persons in this country who want the U. S. A. to ally itself with Britain to protect international rights.

Last week a Newton school teacher addressed a club meeting at Newton Centre. According to newspaper accounts she argued that Newton school teachers were poorly paid in comparison with teachers in seven or eight other cities in the U. S. A. which are comparable with Newton. If the teacher in question was correctly quoted, she did not, in the opinion of many, aid the cause of the school teachers. While it is true that one member of the Board of Aldermen suggested last year that Newton school teachers should take a reduction in salaries, there is little likelihood of any demand for such a reduction unless the financial condition of Newton in the future should change greatly from its present status. There is no need of a controversy over salaries of Newton teachers. Most of them are reasonable and realize that compared with the great majority of people, they have been quite fortunate since adverse economic conditions started over 10 years ago. While most persons have had their incomes reduced greatly and many had their incomes even wiped out, Newton teachers in common with all city employees here had to take only a 7½ per cent cut for a few years, and this was later restored. Most of us would thank God had we fared equally well.

Arrested For Drunken Driving

Mian Gulian of 130 Charles River Parkway, Newton, was arrested about 3 a. m. last Saturday by Patrolmen Greeley and Whelan after the car he was driving had allegedly hit the traffic signal at the intersection of Washington st. and Commonwealth ave., West Newton. He was arraigned in the Newton court later that morning on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and his case continued to February 26.

SPORT NOTES

The 1940 Newton High track team is on the way up to again figure among the contenders for interscholastic honors. At Andover last week Coach Enoch's lads scored 15½ points to finish third, behind Lawrence and Lowell, the former winning by a half point margin with 20½ digits. Newton's points came from second and third in the 600, third in the hurdles, second in the 300, third in the broad jump and fourth in the relay. Bob Ross and Fred Hall finished behind John Turner of Lawrence in the 600 with Billy Alpert taking thirds in both the hurdles and broad jump. Bob Cotton surprised with a second in the 300 while Hurley, Dobie, Thompson and Hall teamed up as the relay quartet.

Newton will need almost every possible break tomorrow at the State meet if it is to retain its championship honors but with the schools divided into two classes in this meet the possibilities are not too remote.

"Bud" Hurley, Newton High co-captain of hockey and one of several of Coach Johnson's championship squad to participate in the All-Star game with Catholic High of Montreal yesterday was the only local player to figure in the scoring in the 4 to 1 victory. Hurley was credited with an assist.

The Howard Johnson five leads the City Basketball League with a record of 11 wins against one loss, a full game ahead of the second-place Italian-American Club, with a 10-2 rating. These two quintets have considerable of a margian over the remainder of the field, the Royals being third with 6 wins and 4 losses. Games next week are on Monday, Silver Lake vs. Johnson, Royals vs. Village; Wed. Village vs. Republicans, I. A. C. C. vs. Boys' Club; Thurs. Republicans vs. Johnson, Gath vs. I. A. C. C.

The Newton Recreation department basketball tournament will start on Thursday, Mar. 7 with all teams participating. Preliminary round games will be played on the 7th and 11th, semi-finals on Mar. 13th and the finals on Mar. 14th.

NEWTON SIX WINS SCHOOL ICE TITLE

Last Saturday Newton High went on to win the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League title as Melrose tied underdog Medford. Paced by Co-Capts. Hurley and Dugan the orange and black took its last game of the 1939-40 campaign by swamping weak but determined Cambridge Latin High 5-1. The Cantabs fought valiantly to aid Melrose in gaining the league title but lacked the all-round class to cope with Coach Evan Johnson's champions. The high-scoring Tom Dugan made two goals to tie with teammate Walter Hurley for individual scoring honors for the season. Hurley ended with 12 goals and 11 assists as Tom closed with 17 goals and 6 assists for 23 points each. Phil Fessenden was behind his linemates with 13 points in 7th place. Joe Beatty, Newton's gift to the penalty box ended the season with 12 minutes credited to him.

In the first period Newton looked a little overconfident but this soon wore off as the Cantabs scored. The Latin team was without Johnny Powers and lacked the punch needed to keep their one point lead. It was the second line that scored for Newton just after the five minute mark passed. Jim Gallagher split the defense and was tripped accidentally. As he fell the puck slid right onto Herbie Muther's stick. A fast shot sent the disc into the twine behind goalie Johnnie Randall. The period was fast and clean. In the closing seconds "Bud" Hurley and Tom Dugan combined with the latter being credited with the goal.

In the second session Newton rested on its one point lead until the 8:50 mark was reached. Then Gordon Goodband soloed down the ice, through the points, in upon Randall and flicked the puck high into the cage. The period was a repetition of the first as far as penalties were concerned. Newton looked like champions as they hemmed Cambridge in at their own goal. The smart goaltending of Randall saved further scoring.

In the third period Newton used its second and third lines more than the first as Coach Johnson wanted to give the spares experience. Tom Dugan showed his skill at bringing the puck down the ice as he scored Newton's fourth goal unassisted. A Latin player received the first penalty and Johnny Murphy received one for tripping. With one second to go, Gordie Goodband rounded out his last season with the orange and black by getting his second goal of the afternoon and his fourth of the campaign.

Newton as they won their first league title in many years had several honors bestowed on them. They were the top scoring team in the league with 45 goals and 29 assists. Their Co-capts. were winners of the individual scoring race and they placed four men on the G. B. I. All-Star squad. Dugan and Hurley on the first line and Paul "Tony" Hines on second defense. Billy Bender was placed on the second team as reserve goal-tender.

SPORT NOTES

Although skiing is comparatively new at the Newton High School the orange and black is forging to the front in this sport as well as in hockey, track and basketball. Duncan Reid, 16-year-old Newton junior, was an outstanding performer last Saturday at the Mt. Hood winter carnival. Reid, in his first competitive attempt at ski-jumping, cleared 70 feet for a new course mark. Norm Williams, another Newton High athlete, placed third.

First in the Hearts of its Countrymen

YOU don't have to look farther than the nearest parking lot to see how the public has taken to this 1940 Buick.

Although it is not the largest seller, polls of public opinion mark it clearly as the car "first in the hearts of its countrymen."

On general appearance, for instance, Buick gets better than a 19% vote as best looking, to 11% for the Number Two car.

Its thrifty Dynaflash power plant, now balanced after assembly, gives it twice as many Best-of-the-Bunch votes as any other, as does its chassis construction.

With soft and easy coil springs all around it's only natural that some two and a half times as many people pick Buick as best for ride. And a two to one vote on room is understandable in view of the SUPER'S close-to-five-feet front seat.

But the really satisfying thing to us is the way people size up Buick's value.

Half again as many people pick Buick as best buy as pick any other. And three out of five who rate Buick No. 1 say it's the value that gives it the edge.

So it's not surprising when polls show more people wanting Buick than want any other car — and when Buick's midwinter sales hit new peaks.

And shouldn't that, in turn, logically suggest: better get yours now — and be sure of having it?
